PLANNED OVERTHROW OF CUBAN GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, March 21.—Unaware that charges against him of fomenting revolution had been withdrawn in Havana on Tuesday, while he was on the high seas, Gen. Carlos Garcia y Velez, Cuban minister to Great Britain, last night asserted 100,000 armed Cubans were ready to overthrow their government if it did not reform.

Gen. Velez, pallid and nervous, debarked last night from the Essequibo from Nassau, Bahamas, where for six months he had evaded police trying to serve Cuban warrants on him. He boarded the Essequibo last Saturday at midnight, disguised with a full beard and wearing tattered clothes. He was clean shaven when he alighted.

The allegations against Gen. Velez and others of the veterans and Patriots' association of revolutionary activity last fall were dismissed in a decree signed by President Zayas and Secretary of Justice Regueiferos.

Sylassey, alleged "diploma mill" graduate, of Woonsocket. Dr. Sylassey was licensed by the state board of health April 9, 1922, when he presented a certificate purporting to have been signed by eight prominent Woonsocket physicians, attesting to the fact that he had been a practicing osteopath in that city since 1911.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS NEAR ACCORD

BALTIMORE, Md., March 21.—Northern West Virginia coal miners and coal operators drew nearer accord, as today's sessions of the joint conference to negotiate a new contract opened.

Only three minor points relative to working conditions remained to be settled and these were given to a sub-committee to be ironed out, at the conclusion of yesterday's meeting. The wage agreement will be taken up, it was said, as soon as the working conditions section of the contract has been completed.

More Collections of $1000 Bills Unearthed in Testimony Before Daugherty Committee Today

WASHINGTON, March 21.—More collections of $1000 bills were unearthed today in testimony before the Daugherty investigating committee.

This time they were for illicit withdrawals of whiskey from federal warehouses.

John Goroni, president of the Alps Drug Co., of New York, testified that after being refused withdrawals by Prohibition Commissioner Hart, he had paid Owen Murphy, a partner of Will A. Orr, $150,000 and Orr himself $50,000 for withdrawal permits. Orr, Goroni testified, was selling withdrawal permits for $15 a case, and he understood Howard Mannington, a friend of the attorney general's, who had a desk in the "little green house on K street," got two dollars a case for his part.

Fifty thousand dollars in $1000 bills, Goroni testified, was collected from other parties, among them a liquor dealer named John Lynn, who later hanged himself.

$200,000 for Permits

"How much of this $200,000 was for liquor," Goroni was asked.

"No liquor at all," he replied, "that was just for the permits."

The transactions were between May and August, 1921, Goroni said, and for signing the withdrawal applications, the drug companies got a fee of $1 a case.

After the drug companies got the permits, anybody could get the liquor. The fee of $1 a case was for the use of drug companies' names, he said, to get the permits into hands of bootleggers.

"Who did they say Howard Mannington was?"

"They said he belonged to the crowd from Columbus."

Goroni said he came to Washington when 7000 cases of Scotch whiskey were seized.

"Whom did you see?"

"Thomas B. Felder. He told me to go home—it would be all right—he would get the liquor sooner or later."

"Did you pay money to Orr?"

"Once—$50,000."

"How did you pay it?"

Lynn Hanged Himself

"I collected for him from another party—it was in fifty $1000 bills."

"Where did you get it?"

"From John Lynn."

"Who was he?"

"He was in liquor—he hanged himself."

"What did you get the $50,000 for?"

"It was a balance that Lynn owed to Orr and Murphy on liquor withdrawals."

"I was running the business for five drug companies," Goroni said. He named the Central, the S. & B. Drug Co., the Alps and others.

"Was this $50,000 paid to fix things?"

"Orr was selling the permits for $15 per case and each of my drug companies was getting $1 a case back from Orr."

"Did you pay any more?"

"To Murphy, I paid about $150,000."

"That was for influence?"

"It was for those withdrawal papers."

"When was it?"

"From May to about August, 1921."

"In those three months you paid Orr and Murphy $200,000?"

"Yes."

"That was for liquor?"

"No, for the permits."

Question Brings Laughter

"And you were not able to get any permits without that?"

"No."

"How much whiskey in a case?" asked Senator Brookhart.

The room rocked with laughter. The answer was inaudible.

Goroni was led on with his explanation.

"This $150,000 you paid was bootleggers' money?" Senator Jones asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Now, the $200,000 to Orr and Murphy, it was for these permits?"

"Yes, sir."

"You were paid back some money from Felder's offices?"

"Not me—some people were. I insisted that Orr give it back to me."

"Did you meet Mannington?"

"Yes, in Murphy's office in New York."

LAWRENCE MEN BEFORE U. S. COMMISSIONER

John Stearns and Cornelii Edruel, owner and clerk, respectively, of teh near-beer saloon at 97 Lawrence street, Lawrence, were arraigned this morning before United States Commissioner Walsh charged with violating the prohibition law. The evidence for the prosecution was completed today and Commissioner Walsh continued the case until next Thursday.

The arrests followed a raid by Federal Agents Bowers and Lord, who entered the place on warrants March 7 last, being accompanied by Officers Norton and Mackie of the Lawrence police force, which the government claims netted 3 per cent. was seized. Agent Lord testified that Stearns told him he paid Edruel $25 a week for making the beer with the understanding that it should be kept within legal strength. Attorney C. J. O'Neil represented the defendants.

INCREASE FOR BOSTON POLICE AND FIREMEN

BOSTON, March 21.—All patrolmen, privates and engineers in the Boston police and fire departments will receive an increase of $100 in pay on Aug. 1 of this year, as a result of an agreement yesterday by Mayor Curley, Police Commissioner Wilson, Fire Commissioner Glynn, Budget Commissioner Fox and Auditor Carven. The decision will affect 1732 policemen and 1210 firemen at a cost to the city of $290,000.

The plan provides for a further raise of $100 for these patrolmen, privates and engineers, effective on Aug. 1, 1925. This year, therefore, the minimum salary will advance to $1500 and the maximum to $1900, while next year the minimum will be finally established at $1600 and the maximum at $2000. The regular step rate advance of $100 a year from minimum to maximum will operate as usual.

SUGGESTS CHANGES IN ESSAY CONTEST

Changes in the "Lowell Day" essay contest have been suggested. The essay topic is to be, "What Can We Do to Make Lowell a Cleaner City."

Director Clarence M. Weed principal of State Normal school, active in having the school contest win complete success, has made a suggestion to fellow directors of the chamber of commerce, that the word "we" in the essay contest title, be taken as having two meanings.

Briefly, Director Weed approves of having children write essays with the idealm mind that the word "we" directly refers to the children themselves. Contests would be conducted also with the word "we" taken as referring to inhabitants of the city at large—as a body. Mr. Weed's suggestion is taken favorably at chamber of commerce headquarters, where plans for the essay contest observance of "Lowell Day" are now under way.

SINCLAIR'S COUNSEL CHALLENGE AUTHORITY OF OIL COMMITTEE

Atty. Littleton and Others Wage Two-Hour Legal Battle in Effort to Have Their Client Excused From Further Questioning

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Counsel for Harry F. Sinclair waged an inconclusive two hours legal battle with the oil committee today in an effort to have their client excused from further questioning.

Challenging the committee's authority to proceed with the inquiry after the validity of the leases already had been passed upon in a resolution of congress and contending that "in fairness and justice" Sinclair should not be compelled to testify while charges of fraud are pending against him in the courts, Martin W. Littleton of the Sinclair counsel told committee members that their course was a "monstrous proposition" and an "outrage."

Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor, did not agree with the Sinclair attorney but some committeemen wanted more time to think it over and adjournment was taken without a decision.

While today's discussion was in progress the oil operator, whose lease of Tea Pot Dome was the starting point of the oil inquiry, sat at the committee table, apparently confident that in the end he would be excused from testifying. His counsel did not predict what other legal privileges might be invoked later in his behalf but Littleton repeatedly accused the committee of attempting to drive him

CONVERT AIR CRUISERS INTO SEAPLANES

SEATTLE, Wash., March 21—The four army airmen attempting to circle the globe will rest here several days while workmen at the Sand Point aviation field convert the big air cruisers into seaplanes. In preparation for the ordeal ahead, the young officers will abstain from public functions and entertainments, according to Major Frederick L. Martin, flight commander. The other aviators are Lieuts. Lowell H. Smith, Leigh H. Wade and Erik H. Nelson.

The airmen flew here from Vancouver Barracks yesterday, after the other three were caught up with by Lieut. Nelson, whose start from Santa Monica, Cal., was delayed through late delivery of his ship.

After leaving Vancouver Barracks yesterday, the squadron ran into great columns of clouds and was forced to climb higher, Major Martin said in describing the journey.

BOBBED HAIR BANDIT HELD

Captured After Alleged Attempt to Hold Up Manhattan Tailor

Identified as Wife of Albert Guimares, Friend of Dorothy Keenan

NEW YORK, March 21. Numerous victims of recent bobbed-hair bandit robberies in Brooklyn and Manhattan were called by the police to appear in court today to determine whether the robberies were committed by the woman captured last night after an alleged attempt to hold up a Manhattan tailor and who later was identified by the police as the wife of Albert Guimares, friend of Dorothy Keenan, who was murdered last spring.

Guimares is now serving a three-year sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta, for using the mails to defraud in a brokerage scheme.

An expensive sable coat worn by the woman when she was captured last night, was compared by the police with the description of a coat stolen from the apartment of Miss Keenan the day she was murdered.

Police are searching the city for a man companion who escaped while the woman was being arrested.

The police also captured a stolen coupe in which the man and woman had driven to the tailor shop. The woman prisoner was tentatively charged with attempted grand larceny of a bolt of cloth from the tailor shop and possession of a stolen automobile. After being held for several hours, she was released on $3000 bail.

Hair dressed with a luminous lotion, which causes it to glow in a subdued light, is a fashion novelty recently seen in London.

DUPLICATION OF BONDS

Charges That Millions of U. S. Bonds Duplicated to Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Creation of a committee to investigate charges that millions of dollars worth of government bonds have been duplicated at the bureau of engraving and printing, was recommended today to the house by its rules committee.

An investigation had been demanded by Representative King, republican, Illinois, who proposed, however, to have the house banking committee conduct the inquiry.

Charges of irregularities at the bureau were made by Charles B. Brewer, special attorney for the department of justice, who investigated conditions there and submitted the report two years ago to President Harding, which led to dismissal of 28 officials, most of whom have been reinstated.

Following the business session a program of readings, recitations, vocal and instrumental numbers was given by the members. Among the interesting papers read were "Field Labor," Mrs. G. Simmons; Mrs. Frank E. Campbell entertained with an interesting talk on "Orphanages of America," while Mrs. James Flemming gave "Orphanages of the Negro in Atlanta." "Work Among the Japanese and Chinese" was also a most interesting number.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Talbot in charge, following which a social hour was enjoyed.

MARRY YOUNG, — SAYS ELIOT

Noted Educator Delivers Address at Close of Public Tribute at Harvard

Urges Service to Country in Peace as Well as in War—Have Joy in Work

CAMBRIDGE, March 21.—Service to country, joy in work and early marriage were enjoined upon Harvard undergraduates by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot in his address to the students which brought to a close the public tribute to the aged educator in honor of his 90th birthday yesterday. Speaking from a temporary stand erected in the Harvard yard, Dr. Eliot said that the message he wanted to give to the thousands of young men gathered there was:

"Serve the country, serve her in peace as well as in war, serve her by sacrificing money, for example, high professional earnings, in order to take public office, elective or appointive. Serve her by your personal exertion in the towns, the cities and communities where you settle for life.

"Use the opportunity of selecting studies which you have at Harvard to find out while you are here in what work, in what profession, you can find joy in your work all your life. The chief satisfaction of my life has come out of the joy in work.

"Avoid to the utmost introspection. Avoid dwelling on your own state of mind.

"Do not put off marriage too much. Do not wait until you think you can offer the girl you want to marry all the luxuries and privileges to which in her father's home, she was accustomed. When you have made up your mind give the girl a chance to tell you hers.

"I wish for you all the attainment of a life of happiness. You cannot all expect to live as long as I have lived, but I hope you will all live long enough to experience the kind of happiness I have enjoyed today."

Sinclair's Counsel Challenges Authority of Oil Committee

into a position where he would have to assume the "odium" of refusing to answer, like Albert B. Fall, on the ground it might incriminate him.

The oil operator was accompanied by an array of counsel, who carried into the committee room a heavy load of records and documents bearing on the multitudinous phases of the committee's inquiry into the Tea Pot lease and Sinclair's relations with public officials generally.

Says Object Already Accomplished

Attorneys for the operator based their objection on the Walsh resolution, adopted by congress, directing annulment of the oil leases. They pointed out that the resolution declared the leases were made under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption and said that if this be true the committee had ascertained what it was directed to ascertain.

In a long argument presented immediately after the witness was called to the stand, Martin W. Littleton of the Sinclair counsel, contended that by the resolution congress not only had brought to an end the jurisdiction of the committee but had "defined the policy of the government that the oil shall be preserved for the government."

"You have passed upon the validity of these leases," Littleton said, "and as far as the legislative adjudication can be effective, you have legislated the leases be void and have legislatively imposed an injuction with regard to the property.

"You have established a policy of the government on this subject, and anything you claim would be only a detail which would not warrant the further examination of my client in this matter.

"You not only say that the leases are void, but the langunge you use is very broad and the policy you have established is very definite. You have declared the policy of this government is that the oil should be maintained in the ground as a great reserve supply to meet a national emergency. You have thus discharged all the duties placed in your hands.

"What it is your committee is investigating that entitles you to take my client, who has been here time and again, with his books and papers, and say 'You must testify further.'

Right to Act Questioned

"Have you any jurisdiction which entitles you to do so under the standards and precedents of the American government?"

The right of congressional committees to call witnesses and papers from all over the country to aid in framing legislation, the attorney argued, never had been sustained by the courts.

"Has it ever been denied?" asked Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor.

"No, but it has been questioned," was the reply.

Senators Dispute Claim

There was a long colloquy between Littleton and senators as to the rights of congressional committees to summon witnesses. Sinclair's counsel contended that the committee was without any vestige of power.

"If your ideas should prevail," said Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, "this committee might as well close its doors and quit."

"It should either quit or do its work in a constitutional fashion," replied Littleton.

"As I understand Mr. Littleton's position," Senator Walsh said, "it is that members of congress are obliged for the purpose of informing themselves concerning contemplated legislation, to depend upon the press, their talks with individuals and other voluntary information, which anybody may be willing to give them, but they cannot compel anybody to come before a committee and tell it the facts."

"Senator, your statement is facetious," Littleton said.

"Oh, it is not," returned Senator Walsh. "It is a statement of your argument."

To Pass Upon Power

The argument grew more and more heated. Finally Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, suggested that the power of congress to compel attendance of witnesses should be passed upon as quickly as possible. Littleton agreed but was unable to advance a method by which the question could be settled.

REBELS EVACUATE PUERTO, MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 21. (By the Associated Press) Puerto, Mexico has been evacuated by the rebels following the capture of Minatitlan, according to a despatch from War Secretary Serrano, and the port now is occupied by federal forces under Generals Vicente, Gonzales and Juan Domingnez. The rebels embarked for Frontera. The rebel gunboat Zaragoza, and other vessels were bombed by a government airplane, while putting out to sea. Reports persist that Adolfo de la Huerta, head of the rebellion, sailed from Frontera early this week, en route to Galveston, Tex., but there is no confirmation from any soure.

1000 DEATHS FROM INFLUENZA IN WEEK

LONDON, March 21.—The influenza epidemic throughout the country is subsiding though the deaths from the disease last week numbered nearly 1000.

TO SIDETRACK REVENUE BILL FOR BONUS

WASHINGTON, March 21. The movement to sidetrack the revenue bill in the senate finance committee to permit immediate consideration of the soldier bonus bill gained momentum today, and a decision on the question is momentarily expected.

None of the rate schedules in the revenue bill have been taken up and some members argue that, before a decision is attempted on the proposed tax reductions, the amount of revenue called for in bonus and other pending measures should be determined. If the revenue bill is kept before the committee, however, members believe a decision on the income tax schedules could be reached with in a few days.

ULSTER REFUSES TO ACT

Negotiations for Delimitation of Boundary Breakdown—Deadlock Continues

LONDON, March 21—The negotiations looking toward delimitation of the boundary between northern and southern Ireland, initiated by Premier MacDonald soon after assuming office, have finally broken down and action by the British government is necessary to solve the deadlock, the newspapers declare.

The discussions in Ireland which followed the conference in London a few weeks ago, have had no result, it is stated, Ulster still refusing to appoint a representative.

NORTH DAKOTA'S 13 VOTES FOR COOLIDGE

FARGO, N. D., March 21.—North Dakota's 13 votes in the republican national convention at Cleveland will be cast for President Calvin Coolidge.

That was definitely assured today, with only a few scattering returns remaining to be tabulated from Tuesday's presidential preference endorsement primary in North Dakota.

Corrected figures from 1520 precincts of 2058 in the state gave President Coolidge 17,535 votes; Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, 24,005, and Senator Hiram Johnson of California, 20,167.

Johnson's North Dakota headquarters has conceded President Coolidge's victory and the remaining precincts to be heard from are not expected to change the figures materially.

McAdoo's Lead Increased

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21.—Related returns from the Georgia state democratic presidential preferential primary brought William G. McAdoo's probable total voting strength in the state convention April 23 to 330 delegates. Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama will have 84 delegates, returns indicated.

Mr. McAdoo will have the support of the 28 members of the Georgia delegation in the national democratic convention.

G. O. P. LEADERS WORK OUT PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 21—Republican leaders in the house devoted much of their time today to working out a legislative program preparatory to their conference with President Coolidge tonight to discuss plans for speeding up action on important measures. The president is planning to hold a similar conference later with senate leaders.

President Coolidge, among other subjects, is expected to emphasize at tonight's conference his desire, shared by the house leaders, that congress complete its work in ample time to adjourn before the June convention.

INVITATION PARTY IN CHELMSFORD

Chelmsford Centre Grange hall was the scene of a delightful party Monday evening and there was abundant pleasure for all. It was an invitation St. Patrick's day party, sponsored by two well known young ladies, and the affair was a splendid social success.

The decorative scheme was tasteful, blending green and white with a pretty display of shamrocks, making the scene inviting and charming. Dancing was the chief diversion and a feature of the evening was a novelty dance wherein the distribution of favors added considerable zest to the program. At intermission ices were served.

The matrons were Mrs. Andrew Molloy, Mrs. William H. Gallagher and Mrs. P. F. Mahoney. The young ladies who so capably managed the event were Miss Alma Marie Welch and Miss Claire Molloy of the office force of the Saco-Lowell shops.

$15,000 VERDICT AGAINST STATE SENATOR

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21.—A jury in federal court last night returned a verdict for $15,000 in favor of Paul R. White, district of Columbia youth, in his suit for $50,000 damage against T. J. Knabb, state senator, for abuse and mistreatment while he was a prisoner in Mr. Knabb's Baker county convict camp in 1923.

RECEIVED THIS
GLENWOOD RANGE
ABSOLUTELY FREE

In exchange for the oldest Glenwood Range in Lowell. This old range may be seen in our window and is a Model 7, patented 1870, and placed on the market in 1877, making it 47 years old, and it bakes as good today as it did on the day it was sold.

AN INTERESTING STORY ABOUT THE PROGRESS OF THE WEIR STOVE CO.

The Glenwood Range had a small beginning. It started 47 years ago in a barn with three young men, William E. Walker as a skilled moulder, George E. Wilbur as designer and patern-makee, and Charles F. Baker as foundry foreman. They all turned carpenter to add a shed to their barn in order to accommodate their melting furnaces.

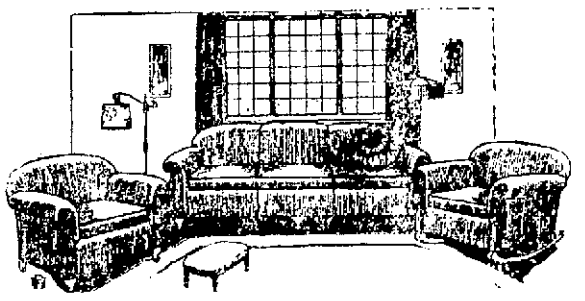

Their output, judged by modern standards of production, was ridiculous—four ranges a day. But they were good ranges, as this stove in our window, after constant use for 47 years, will prove without a shadow of a doubt.

The officials have realized that good merchandising methods were essential for the promotion of Glenwood products and for years have been associated with Mr. Ichabod Atherton in operating a chain of furniture stores in many New England cities, where it is possible to purchase one of the famous Glenwood Ranges regardless of your income.

In conjunction with Chalifoux's 49th Anniversary Sale, we are going to place on sale for one week many exceptional values, some of which are listed below. These specials may be found on the third, fourth and fifth floors of the Chalifoux Building.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Interesting Address by Past Worthy President Strine—Other Features

Members of Lowell Erie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and their women folks were entertained last night in Liberty hall with an interesting address on "The Principles, Aims and Accomplishments of the Fraternal Order of Eagles" by Past Worthy President George A.

THOMAS F. QUINN
Worthy President

Strine, of York, Penn., short addresses on the order by local men well known in fraternal circles, and an entertaining program of songs, recitation and dances by local talent.

The meeting was opened by Worthy President Thomas F. Quinn of Lowell Aerie, who, in setting forth the reason for the meeting, spoke of the Thos. F. Quinn class which is now being organized and called attention to the growth of the Lowell aerie to its present membership of 2700, which he said, will be increased to well over the 3000 mark by the Thomas F. Quinn class. He then introduced as chairman of the evening, Hon. James E. O'Donnell. Mr. O'Donnell also spoke briefly on the order and its aims and then called upon Mayor John J. Donovan.

Mayor Donovan praised the members for their fine showing at the meeting and urged them to be true to the principles of the order. On behalf of the city he welcomed Mr. Strine, the principal speaker of the evening.

Following the mayor's address, the following entertainment program was given: Songs, Miss Frances Tighe; readings, Miss Margaret Mahoney; songs, James E. Donnelly; specialty dancing, Carr children; medley of songs, Dion sisters. The accompanist of the evening was Mrs. Alice L. McLaughlin.

Upon the completion of the entertainment program, Mr. O'Donnell introduced Mr. Strine as one man who is thoroughly familiar with the order of Eagles and who was to tell the history of the order and its principles.

Mr. Strine's address in part follows:

"Did you ever hear of the Brotherhood of Good Things? Probably not. Few people have, and those who may have known it at some time in the past doubtless have forgotten that such an organization ever existed.

Started in a humble way, as most really great things are, the brotherhood still lives and although it has now expanded into a nationally known organization far beyond the dreams of its organizers, it original spirit still lives in the deeds of those who are carrying on the work.

"Twenty-five years ago in the city of Seattle, Wash., six men, all interested in one another, met to discuss certain problems they shared in common. There with true American spirit they seated themselves on a lumber pile in Moran's shipyard and between the puffs of their pipes and the strokes of their busy jack knives they banded themselves together for the promotion of their mutual interests, choosing for the name of the group, 'The Brotherhood of Good Things.' From that half serious, half jocular beginning when those six men promised to aid and abet one another in their work and play, has grown the Fraternal Order of Eagles, a mighty organization, in which 750,000 men in every section of the United States are standing shoulder to shoulder for the promulgation of the four cardinal principles recognized by the men who sat together on the lumber pile—liberty, truth, justice and equality.

"With inspiration gained from the symbol of the order, the eagle, the organization has always taken steadfast stand for the patriotic principles for which the nation is founded.

"Americanism unqualified has ever been one of the guiding principles of the fraternity. This, together with the colors of the lodge, red, white and blue; the flag, the Stars and Stripes, and the symbol of the eagle, are the foundation upon which the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands.

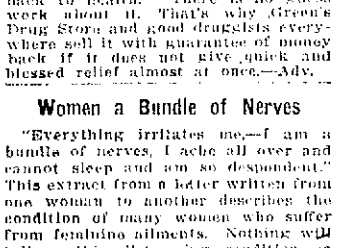

"During the World war the younger members were urged to join the colors and those who stayed at home paid a generous tax that was used to help the families of their brother warriors. For every brother who died in the service the sum of $1000 was paid his family, and when the men came home and were discharged from the army they were presented a receipt for one year's dues. The Fraternal Order of Eagles has distributed to this date $1,503,000 in gratuities to their heroic sacrifice.

"Second only to this principle of Americanism stands its work in charitable and humanitarian enterprises. Since its organization the Eagle fraternity has proved its devotion to its founders by keeping alive the spirit of "good things" in its efforts to alleviate suffering everywhere.

"The workmen's compensation law, the widow's pension law, child labor laws and eight hour day are some of the great measures the Fraternal Order of Eagles has championed in the past. And it now is fighting in every state for an old age pension law."

Mr. Strine dealt at length with the problem of old age pensions and said in conclusion after outlining its benefits: "The difficulties facing the old, under present conditions, cannot be solved through individual effort. And the present cost of our hap-hazard provisions for the aged, in actual money spent; in industrial inefficiency resulting from it; in suffering and personal degradation—are too stupendous to be permitted to continue. On the other hand, the benefits to be derived from a constructive plan of state assistance in terms of loyalty to the commonwealth and nation; in contentment and greater industrial efficiency; in independency and thrift—and in the family solidarity,—are too numerous and pregnant with potentialities for good to be delayed much longer.

"Organized for service to humanity the work is being carried on day by day for the upbuilding of the nation, the home, and the fraternity. Such has been briefly the history of the Fraternal Order of Eagles written in the spirit of good things that promised in its founding."

Rheumatic Pains Go Swollen Joints Vanish

Rheuma—The Only Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Sciatica. Money Back If It Doesn't Satisfy

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints, thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings become able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma: the modern enemy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, gout and chronic neuralgia.

Don't be sceptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't think because Rheuma is not expensive that it won't bring you back to health. There is no guess work about it. That's why Green's Drug Store and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.—Adv.

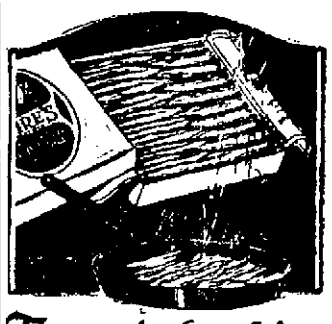

Women a Bundle of Nerves

"Everything irritates me,—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.—Adv.

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—The senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau proceeded with its inquiry today while awaiting a reply from the bureau to its request for a report on the circumstances of the reduction from $23,000,000 to $5,000,000 of a tentative additional tax assessment against the Standard Oil Co.

Testimony relating to the Standard Oil assessment was given yesterday by E. V. Rossmoore, former section chief in the bureau and now a tax accountant practicing before the bureau with the Standard Co. among his clients and the committee asked the bureau for a report on the case, if not incompatible with the law requiring secrecy as to tax returns. Field Agent Guernson of the bureau, who proposed the additional assessment against the company, later resigned and now is employed in Rossmoore's office in New York.

The art of cooking Arlington Bacon

To serve Arlington Bacon at its best, cook it with a moderate fire, turning each slice frequently. Cooked in this way Arlington Bacon is light brown in color, crisp and full of goodness.

Arlington Bacon may be fried, broiled or baked, but in each case turn often to brown it evenly and prevent curling. When crisp place on brown paper for a moment to drain. Serve hot.

With a special dry cure in pure cane sugar and fine table salt, and smoked in the fragrant aroma of smouldering hickory logs and mahogany chips, Arlington Bacon has a distinctive flavor that you'll heartily enjoy.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED BY BUSINESS MEN

An enjoyable "get-together" of about 10 Lowell contractors, builders, architects, plumbers and other members of the building crafts, was held at Cole's Inn last evening. Edward J. Cooney and other officials of the Lowell Gas Light company were also present, Mr. Cooney acting as presiding officer. Dinner preceded the program of business discussions.

Matters relating to cooperation in lines of endeavor in construction work in Lowell and vicinity, were brought up and defeated. A feature of the meeting was the lecture given by H. J. Long of New Brunswick, N. J., whose topic was "Heating Water by Gas." General Manager Charles R. Prichard of the local gas light company, also spoke.

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done, and Done Right Quick, Too

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste, and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 60 cents a box. Ask Liggett's, Green's Drug Store, A. W. Dows & Co., Fred Howard or any live pharmacist anywhere.—Adv.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS OF WATER AT TIMES

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in tryin gto correct. By all trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

SPRING USHERED IN BY SEVERE STORM

CHICAGO, March 21.—Spring is being ushered in by one of the year's worst snow storms. Three storms, according to the weather man, are scattering the snow from lakes to gulf through the northern Rocky mountains region, the central valleys, over the plains states, and lakes area.

In the southwest, winter merged into spring at 3.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon with record snows on the ground. Portions of Oklahoma lay under a blanket from a few inches to 18 inches deep at Muskogee, and in the vicinity of Kansas City, Kas., the ground was covered with more than two feet of snow.

Chicago fell under the sweep of a half gale, from the north which drove the snow all night in a blinding blizzard.

In St. Louis the snow blocked traffic and crippled railroad, telegraph and telephone service. A number of accidents also were caused by the eight-inch fall.

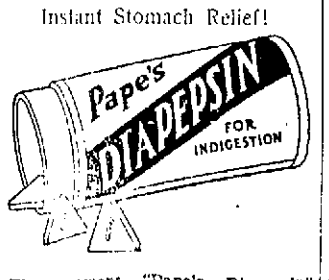

From Indiana and Illinois points early testimony came as to the severity of the March blizzard.

Nowhere, however, was the temperature reported severe. In some places the snow melted as it fell and throughout the storm affected area the thermometer was reported clinging closely to 32 degrees above zero.

Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after Paschal full moon.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

RIALTO THEATRE

Gouverneur Morris drew a vivid word picture of life as it scars the girl who tries to defy conventions, when he wrote: "You Can't Get Away With It." William Fox has put the picture on the screen, living it realism and wider scope. An audience at the opening performance yesterday, appeared to enjoy the drama through every foot of reel.

Percy Marmont, as wealthy merchant, unhappily married, who wins the love of a pretty girl employed, performs with a mastery of technique and feeling that marked his notable work as Mark Sabre in "If Winter Comes," a role by the way, similar in many respects to this one. Betty Bouton appears as the wealthy girl who, forced to earn a living when her family fortune is wrecked, is unable to meet life's demands because of her earlier lack of training. She sells out, accepting love and luxury for her virtue, only to learn that you can't get away with it. An able cast, consisting of Malcom McGregor, Barbara Tennant, Clarissa Selwyn, Grace Morse and Charles Cruz, performs its work with remarkable natural ability. The play was directed by Rowland V. Lee, who saw to it that no detail was omitted in scenes or acting that would weaken the original plot.

"You Can't Get Away With It" is good entertainment and, moreover, it sends you home with the thought that a lot of people are fools to try anything the world will not condone.

There are sheiks and sheiks, but Robert Frazer who plays the leading role in "When the Desert Calls," is a new kind of a desert Rhietoan and shows that an American sheik is the mightiest of them all. El-Din he calls himself and is mistaken by many for a son of Araby, although his name is Eldred Caldwell, formerly of the Anglo-American bank in a city on the edge of the Sahara desert in Northern Africa. Huntley Gordon, Violet Heming, Sheldon Lewis, Barney Sherry and other notable stars have important roles in this picture.

An Imperial Fox comedy with Harry Sweet and a Fox News are also included in the program.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

In "Fashion Row," the feature attraction of the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre, vivacious Mae Murray has outdone herself in gorgeous creations of apparel. There is a different costume for every scene.

In the role of two sisters, one the tragedienne idolized on Broadway, and the other a ragged peasant Russian girl, Miss Murray is amazing. One moment she dazzles you with her vivacity and the next she grips you with the drama and passion of her acting. Unquestionably her performance in "Fashion Row" eclipses all her other astonishing achievements. She is supported by an able cast.

The surrounding program includes Herbert Rawlinson in "The Victor," Will Rogers in his latest comedy, "Hustling Hank," another Boston Post prize film, "Neighbors of the wire," and the laiest International News.

THE STRAND

If you haven't seen "Duley," with Constance Talmadge, picture now showing at The Strand, then don't fail during today or tomorrow. This clever comedienne is seen in one of her best picturizations. "Duley" shows what trouble can be caused by a young wife who knows little or nothing about her husband's business, but insists on trying to help. Instead she hinders. The story has many laughs and humorous sayings. The second feature is a Fulversal special called "The Night Message," with an all-star cast, while the Weekly and comedy are excellent. It's a good program. Don't miss it.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

WAS INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Miss Mabel Burnham, aged 12 years, of Billerica, is at St. John's hospital suffering from lacerations to her head and minor bruises, received early last evening when the automobile she was riding in figured in a collision in Munn square.

The accident occurred at 6.30 o'clock. Miss Burnham was riding in a machine operated by Gustaf Schultz which was coming down Gorham street towards the city at the time of the accident. When at Highland street a machine operated by Louis Wolff turned onto Gorham street in the path of Schultz's machine, and the two machines clashed. Both machines were badly damaged by the impact.

ARRANGE PROGRAM OF UNIQUE INTEREST

Few lecturers have received as high praise from such widely different sources as has Miss Edith Margaret Snaill, whose lecture recital on the "Habitant" of Old Quebec is to be given at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium next Sunday afternoon, as an event in the Parker course. After more than a year in Europe, Miss Snaill appeared in London and the Times said she had "won for herself an enviable reputation for her artistic and unique recitations." The critic of the London Morning Post wrote: "Her appearance was so charming and her personality so captivating that she succeeded in accomplishing the almost impossible—that is, she succeeded in compelling an audience of home-keeping English people to understand the French-Canadian 'habitant' and to feel the compulsion as pleasurable in the extreme."

The celebrated Canadian author who writes on "Ralph Connor" said: "You surprised me not only with your evident and thorough knowledge of the French-Canadian and his surroundings, but also by your perfect appreciation of and sympathy with his spirit. Your rendering of Drummond's poems was simply exquisite."

The lantern pictures which Miss Snaill is to use are from the original paintings made to illustrate Sir William Henry Drummond's works and are the only set available for this purpose—as honor done for Miss Snaill by the author because of his high appreciation of her work.

The song recital on the same Parker program Sunday afternoon should prove a treat to music lovers. Fenwick Newell, the brilliant young tenor from New York, is to sing two groups of songs in which will be included such favorites as Kahn's "Ave Maria," Leoni's "Birth of Morn," Massenet's "Le Reve" and Kreisler's "The Old Refrain."

Mr. Newell has completed twelve years' work as a soloist in recitals and has toured from coast to coast a score of times, singing in every state but Florida. His voice is of remarkable purity and sweetness and his personality quickly wins the good will of his audience.

MEETING OF FOURTH DEGREE KNIGHTS

Bishop Delany General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus held its regular monthly meeting last evening and transacted a grist of routine business, besides hearing from several of the important committees of the assembly, chiefly the exemplification committee. A very large number of applications were read and the officers expressed themselves as delighted with the status of the preliminary plans. The committee on the dinner submitted a report having to do with the recent affair and it was accepted. Resolutions were unanimously adopted on the death of the mother of Rev. James F. Lynch, faithful friar of the assembly, whose funeral took place in Boston recently.

It was voted to accept the recommendation of the committee that a "smoker" be held on April 3. The unparalleled success of the assembly's last affair of this character warrants the prediction that the next will be a big affair. Further details will be announced later.

Rev. James F. Lynch spoke appreciatively of the kindness of the members of the assembly in his recent bereavement, and then spoke earnestly in reference to the great degree here, stressing the necessity of every member aiding with all his energy in the place. He regarded the occasion as a singular honor to Lowell and said that every organization would inevitably suffer if men did not aid in works of this sort. He said the spirit manifested at the meeting was commendable and urged a continuance of such earnest effort.

Other speakers were Sir Knights Charles J. Landers, William H. Gallagher, Andrew Molley, John J. O'Connor, Albert E. O'Hair, John T. Burns, Charles F. Hunt, Edward F. Saunders, Chris McSorley, Thomas Donnelly and John T. Buckley.

GRIPPE AND RESISTANCE

It is only as resistance is broken down and the system is weakened that germs bring forth their fruitage of influenza, grippe or other ailments. Keeping well-nourished is your surest protection.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is good insurance against weakness. It fortifies the system and helps build up a strong wall of resistance to keep infection off. If you would know the joy of strength and power to resist that comes from a well-nourished body—take Scott's Emulsion.

LENT IN THE HOLY LAND

BETHSAIDA, ON THE SEA OF GALILEE, figures prominently in the New Testament. It was the home of Peter, Andrew and Philip. It was near here that the multitude was fed with five loaves and two fishes, and here, in one of his early miracles, Christ healed a blind man. Several sites have been pointed out as Bethsaida, but this village, known as El Tell, on the northern shore, is most favored.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION ENTERTAINED

Fully 500 members of the Christian Endeavor Union were entertained at the Y.M.C.A. last night at the annual open house of the association. Clarence E. Towne, physical director of the "Y" had charge of arrangements for the affair. Miss Alice Dowrey, social secretary of the union, aided him in preliminary arrangements. Besides athletic competition of various sorts there was a life-saving exhibition in the swimming pool given by Mr. Towne. Merton J. Flemings, union president, was active in making the affair the success which it turned out to be. Candy and cake tables were operated by the Misses Margaret Myhr, Carrie Stewart, Marion Murray, Ida Dowrey, and Clara Chapman.

WAS INJURED BY OWN AUTOMOBILE

John Birgin, 72-year old mail carrier of Dunstable, was injured early last evening when he was run over by his own automobile. He received a fractured collar bone and was removed to the Lowell General hospital for treatment.

The accident occurred when Mr. Birgin cranked his car while the gears were in mesh. As the motor started the car also started and ran over him. Passers-by went to the assistance of Mr. Birgin and took him to the hospital while others ran after the car and finally succeeded in stopping it before it did any further damage.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardi, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Green's Drug Store, which will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Adv.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
By Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS MAKE A VISIT

WITH THAT SHE PICKED UP A TWIN IN EACH HAND.

"And now," said the Beanstalk king kindly to the Twins, "how can we reward you for finding our lost treasure? We had only money left to keep us for 99 days, but now we will live in peace and comfort all the rest of our lives."

"I know what I should like, thank you," said Nick quickly. "I'd like to see the house where Jack's giant lived."

"So should I," cried Nancy. "And his wife, and the oven where she hid Jack, and the chair the giant sat in, and the table he pounded on, and the door he came through when he said 'Fe, fi, fo, fum!'"

"Your wish shall be granted," declared the Beanstalk king. "The cat shall take you there. Come, Dandy, but remember, no drains this time, or you shall do without your herring for a week!"

Dandy promised to be good, and lay down while the Twins crawled up on his silky soft back; then calling goodby to their friends, the three started down the road to the giant's house.

Mrs. Giant was out weeding her garden when she beheld the Twins riding in at the gate.

"Lands save us!" cried she. "There are two more of those children! Exactly the size of the little boy who came to Beanstalk Land and stole my husband's harp and magic hen, and then cut down the beanstalk! How do you do?" she said politely, as the Twins came near.

"Very well, thank you!" cried Nancy and Nick sliding down off Dandy's back. "Are you the giant's wife?"

Mrs. Giant laughed. "Which giant?" she asked. "Beanstalk Land is nothing but giants and most of them have wives."

"We mean the giant who said that he smelled the blood of an Englishman," explained Nick.

"Yes, I am that person," said Mrs. Giant. "What can I do for you?"

"We came to see you," said Nancy. "We have to go home soon and we thought we would stop for a few minutes before we left."

"That was very kind," said Mrs. Giant. "Do come in and I'll show you around. And as for you, Mister Cat, you'll find a bed of catnip in the garden. Help yourself."

With that she picked up a Twin in each hand and started into the house.

"This is the very door that Jack knocked on when he arrived in Beanstalk Land," she said. "And there is the oven I hid him in." And with that she showed them everything in the famous house.

"And now I'll show you the chicken-coop where we kept the hen that laid the golden eggs, also the place where the top of the beanstalk was."

But when they got there, the giant's wife cried out, "Why, here is the very beanstalk again! I thought that Jack had cut it down."

But the Twins explained that it was their very own beanstalk and not Jack's at all.

"We must be going now," said Nancy, "Thank you for being so kind. And say goodby to Dandy, please!"

"Goodby," said Mrs. Giant, setting them gently on the ground.

TURN DOWN REQUEST FOR WAGE INCREASE

Billerica selectmen have turned down a request filed by permanent firemen of the Billericas for more wages. Members Sheridan and Buck were opposed to and Member Sousa favored the wage increase proposition.

It was developed at last night's meeting of the selectmen that Billerica appropriated more money for its fire department to cover this year's expenses than did the combined towns of Chelmsford, Dracut and Tewksbury. The latter three towns appropriated a total of $11,605, while Billerica voters at the annual town meeting appropriated $12,000.

Street railway service through Billerica and North Billerica, was considered in lengthy debate, when the matter of readjusting service on local lines in order to meet demand of patrons, came up. It was proposed that the 5.37 a. m. car from North Billerica be started ahead of that time so as to make connection with the 6.47 a. m. train at Bennett Hall station on the Boston & Maine railroad, and also to have the 11.37 a. m. electric car stop at North Billerica postoffice five minutes for passengers from the 11.30 B. and M. train.

Nineteen Hundred Club

Nineteen Hundred club of Billerica had an interesting rally in Unitarian church vestry, yesterday afternoon, two playlets being given by club members under the personal direction of Mrs. Arthur P. Goodwin, chairman of the day. Mrs. Albert S. Bull directed the musical program and Mrs. Lewis F. Willard was chairman of the hospitality committee.

Among the members taking part in the playlets were Mrs. P. E. Howe, Mrs. O. S. Marshall, Mrs. S. A. McQuaid, Mrs. C. E. Vining, Mrs. Ellis Colgate, Mrs. A. H. Richardson, Mrs. S. K. Barnes. The president of the club, Mrs. William L. Walsh, presided.

AS TO ANNEXATION PLANS

As had been predicted, the Greater Lowell bill was beaten in the legislature by a considerable majority. Somehow, the members of the general court are opposed to annexation schemes just at present. They killed the Lawrence proposition for the annexation of Methuen and for no good reason that the friends of the movement can discover. It appears, however, that they do not want to disturb the legislative or congressional districts, at least for the present. They are afraid of destroying the status quo, just as are most unprogressive bodies. But for this feeling, many towns that are plodding along with poor roads and lack of progress everywhere, would be parts of thriving cities, all thickly settled and supplied with up to date municipal service, not only affording a supply of pure water, but excellent police and fire protection, sewerage and sanitation, together with up to date schools and improved highways.

That the legislature has defeated the Achin bill does not defeat the movement. The city council can appoint a commission to meet representatives of the towns with a view to reach an agreement in reference to what towns or parts thereof are willing to be annexed to Lowell. Some members of the legislature made wild statements indicating that we have designs on Wilmington and Tyngsboro, whereas such a thing is absolutely foreign to the movement which would not favor coercion in any form. The whole problem can be discussed between a local committee and representatives of the adjoining towns with a view to the voluntary transfer of additional territory to the city with legislative sanction.

It can hardly be expected that the legislature would reject a proposition for annexation, reached by mutual agreement of the parties concerned. The city council can handle the matter as well perhaps as could the commission contemplated in the Achin bill. There are parts of the adjoining towns that want to be annexed and they are so closely associated with the industrial life of this city that they should be added as soon as possible. Moreover, for the future welfare of the city we should take in as much territory as we can get within easy range of the business centre of Lowell, which is Kearney square.

ART AND SNOBBERY

Keep your hat on when visiting the art museum, urges A. S. Pochlinson, secretary of an artist organization in New York. Says he:

"We want people to get away from the sort of backwood idea many Americans have of art and art exhibitions, which leads them to take off their hats, talk in whispers and act too awed to speak. Most Americans do that to show their respect for art. And that is all Americans have, respect. They have no real understanding of it."

Mr. Pochlinson is correct in regard to the local buffalo. If we only had galleries our there to the zoo so we could go there on rainy days, a great many visitors would have to depend on Better Keep An whispering. This critic apparently forgets to mention that the street people of Lawrence know but little of art works. Perhaps they know as much about it as he knows of the machinery by which a large proportion of the people are employed in factories. How much, for example, would he know of the Soonet and other machines in a cotton or woolen mill. Is perhaps more than the average visitor to the art museum knows of real art.

THE BONUS BILL

The bonus bill has been passed by the national house by a sweeping majority. It will now go to the senate and there is much curiosity as to what will be its fate in that body.

The bill provides a twenty-year endowment insurance policy for the veterans. By the time the policies arrive at maturity about one-fifth of the veterans will be dead. The bill is but a poor substitute and it would have been much better had the whole matter been deferred until such time as a reliable measure could have been provided. Nevertheless the plan involves an outlay of $3,000,000.

It is quite likely that the bill will be amended by the senate and that by the combined forces will be enough to override the president, who will veto it if the house has provided that no bonus can be provided at the session of congress. The vote would then have been passed over the president's veto. It may be passed readily by the house; but whether two-thirds of the senate would stand it over the veto is doubtful.

THE REFERENDUM

Senators are to be the object of attention that ambassadors to the country should be. Senate 1 to 0 on the referendum vote on the Fisher road method or the Aden of a bond issue effected after the amendment has been submitted, would be preferable to the present arrangement. A popular referendum is the best form of popular government. But should congress direct government it should be left to the people.

When our government was formed citizens were scattered through a wilderness. There were no trains, very little mail service, so it was necessary to leave the great matters of government in the hands of elected official. A referendum would have been impossible. But transportation and communication now are so rapid and thorough that those original objections to a referendum, to a workable proposition are removed.

Legislatures must be restrained by the use of money, but it is difficult to bribe or mislead any large proportion of the people on popular issues.

HEALTH EDUCATION

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company projected a competition for 50 university scholarships to be offered for the best health program for the school year of 1923-24. Already it is reported that 5000 elementary school teachers in eight fifty of the larger cities of the country have entered the competition. This should bring out some valuable ideas in school hygiene and regulations for the promotion of health and the prevention of disease. The readers know how such rules can best be enforced but the competition is open.

FOREST FIRES

Each year 150 national forest rangers were trained to carefully handle people last year. It is announced. Eight millions cares in private owned parks.

The aim is taking no risk to nature. As we have recently heard the forests and use them for playgrounds, let us remember that fire is the most formidable agency of forest destruction and prevention of reforestation.

Four-fifths of the big forest fires are started by people careless with campfires, matches, cigars, and pipes. Be cautious in the woods.

SHOULD BE DEFEATED

The Cummins-Vaile bill now before congress would change the present law against sending both contest propaganda through the mails and provide absolute freedom for the circulation of this foul in sending their literature far and wide throughout the land. It is to be hoped that the bill will be defeated. It is rather surprising to find Senator Cummins, who had distinguished himself as chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, leading such a movement.

GREAT MOTOR ROADS

It may not be generally known that the United States now has the longest paved motor road in the world in the Pacific Highway route from Vancouver, B. C., along the Pacific coast to the Mexican border, a distance of 1478 miles. It will soon have shelter roads from the Atlantic to the Pacific, when the Lincoln highway shall have been completed.

Readers of the New York Herald and Tribune now find both merged in one under both names. Readers will naturally be curious to note whether the leading characteristics of the composite paper will more closely resemble the Herald or the Tribune. The Herald was an excellent paper and we prefer to think that its identity is to be retained with the Tribune, even though the latter was founded by Horace Greeley.

The California Democrat published at Los Angeles is certainly a live party sheet, but it seems to be published entirely in the interest of Mr. McAdoo. It states that President Coolidge owes the democratic party a debt of gratitude for helping him get rid of Denby and possibly one or two other officials who belonged to the powder trust.

Still the deadlock prevails in congress over the tax reduction bill. Democratic leaders state that the bill will materially reduce the present heavy tax burden, the republican party says as well as abandon all hope of success in the national election. In view of recent developments the chance in any case will be very slight.

It must have been remarked of late that the materials used in building construction have undergone a radical change. Cement, reinforced concrete and artificial stone are now prominent in nearly all first class buildings. As a result the buildings recently erected show more architectural beauty than structures of the old style.

Senator Walsh of Montana, who brought forward the investigation of the oil scandal in the United States senate, is a genuine democrat, a statesman, in whose record the republicans can find neither spot nor blemish. After a period of illness, he is back directing the investigation.

Now Charles W. Eliot starts upon the final lap of his century run. It is the wish of the American people that he will successfully reach the goal and of this there is little doubt considering his present robust health and his saving optimism.

A Thought

A friend may well be reckoned the masterpiece of nature.—Emerson.

His Dream

Two brothers were exchanging compliments, as brothers will, regarding their respective girl friends. "I hope you're not suffering from any hallucination that your girl is a raving beauty," sneered the elder. "I sure am," replied the younger Petersby, "and I'm going to continue to hug my illusion!"

The Successful Man

The successful man was addressing a class and exhorting them to cultivate a taste for good books. "My young friends," he said, "you should not only read good books, but you should own them in order to have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a boy I used to work all night in my money to buy books, and got up before dawn to read them."

Wanted to Find Out

Mr. Wiggles, who has an polite way of being rude to persons who deserve it, was paid a visit the other morning by an undesirable who usually broke into Wiggles' privacy regardless of all etiquette. This morning, however, owing to the mat being occupied by a large dog, he paused and knocked. "Walk right in," called Wiggles; "don't mind the dog." "But will he bite?" was asked cautiously. "That's what I want to find out," was the reply. "I only bought him yesterday."

His Own Fault

Old Sandy was before the court for about the 100th time on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The old Scottish magistrate listened with grave attention while the evidence was being given, although there was never anything doubt about Sandy's guilt—he was well known in all the local taverns. "Ah, Sandy, you were drunk," said the magistrate. "You must pay a shilling or go to prison for seven days." "But," protested the prisoner, "I have only a shillings in the world." The well returned the dispenser of justice as he signaled for the next prisoner to be brought in. "If you had not got drunk with your money you would have had enough to pay the fine."

Some Stories, We'll Say

Two employes were "swapping" lies the other day. Said the first: "I was so riled up at Fritz who had given our chair trouble for days. Locating the trouble, I greased it up plentifully, connected the wires and blazed off at 220. Nothing happened. I kept firing at Fritz, and apparently he kept shooting back. Finally I got tired and went home. Next morning I found Fritz on the floor, dead as a mackerel." "Yes," said the other, "I was working on a job with two fellows, and couldn't get a move on. Finally I got a long piece of iron and could see Nothing doubted, I stuck it endways in the ground in front of me and waited for one of the fellows. The bullet hit the ground, split in two, and each half killed the fellow it was aimed for."

Quiet Ways

There are those who court ways,
Quiet ways of life, the golden days
That slip by out of sight, slowly away
Because they are days of rest.

I watch the fire in the coal-grate
A girl
To me the clouds and fire are naught,
And the cool voice from the seat—
My children's laughter comes to me.

A voice I love, that for us me o'er—
I'm waiting softly near the door
A lullaby, a song of cradle,
And sprinkles the twilight falls.

The earth passes by the lane
Of children's home again;
And I am glad for peaceful days
When hearts are simple, quiet ways.

TRIAL OF LUDENDORFF AND HITLER NEARS END

MUNICH, March 21—The trial of General Ludendorff, Adolph Hitler and their codefendants, charged with treason for their part in the "putsch" of last November, neared a close today. Prosecutor Stenglein, addressing the court, demanded eight years imprisonment for Hitler, two years for General Ludendorff, and from one year to six years for the other defendants.

The prosecutor recommended that the prisoners serve their terms in what is known as "fortress confinement," as usual for political offenders, under which prisoners have a considerable degree of freedom.

FIRE IN AUTOMOBILE

A slight blaze in an automobile owned by Leo Hogan at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets shortly after 11.20 this morning resulted in a still alarm being sounded at the central fire station. One company was despatched to the scene and a single chemical line directed at the heart of the blaze soon had the fire extinguished.

THE NEW FARMAC FABRIC COMPANY

The proprietors of the new Farmac Fabric company, who have started textile operations in the Burgess-Lang building, Middlesex street, manufacturing fire fabrics and cords, formerly conducted a fabric business on a small scale under the name of the Richardson-Pevey Co. in a section of the Geo. C. Moore wool scouring mill in North Chelmsford, and not the Silesia mills, as stated in yesterday's Sun.

Injuries Prove Fatal

crossing Rogers street, near Hanks, at 6.50 o'clock on the night of March 10. According to the report of the accident given the police by Shaheen, he was driving slowly down Rogers street, and at a point near Hanks, someone called to him from the sidewalk that he had struck a woman. He looked round and saw Miss Maker lying on the roadway. The ambulance was immediately summoned and the injured woman was rushed to St. John's hospital, where examination showed her to be suffering from a fracture of the right arm near the shoulder, a cut near the wrist and internal injuries.

Her name was placed on the dangerous list and she remained in a serious condition until her death early this morning.

Miss Maker was born in Northport, Me., but she has been prominent in the business and social life of this city for many years. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Edna Kilpski and Mrs. Clara Knowlton, both of Lowell, and Mrs. Elizabeth Singhi of New York.

Competitive Drill at The High School

The captain of the winning company will be named colonel of the regiment, and so on down the line until all offices are filled. The lieutenants and other officers of the winning companies whose captains are promoted, will all be advanced one step in rating.

This is the third year that this method of choosing regimental officers has been in force. Prior to three years ago, the regimental officers were chosen by the results of a written examination. Major Colby T. Kittredge, military instructor of the regiment, believes the new system is much more successful as the regimental officers are chosen from the captains who have shown their ability to drill their companies and are thus fit to drill the regiment.

Gradwell Defeats Leahy — Fourth Game of Lowell-Providence Polo Series

WILLIE GRADWELL WINS DECISION OVER TOMMY LEAHY

Somerville Boy Outclasses Worcesterite in Moody Club Main Event—Wally Theroux Defeats Lefty Williams in Semi-final—Other Bouts

Willie Gradwell of Somerville won the decision over Tommy Leahy of Worcester in the main event of ten rounds at the Moody club show in Crescent rink last night.

Gradwell outweighed Leahy by three pounds, according to announcement. The weighs were given as Gradwell 141½ and Leahy 138½. Both appeared to be in good condition.

Leahy looked good in the early rounds, using his long left to the head cleverly and crossing in with the right effectively. Gradwell soon solved his attack and after the fourth round the Somerville man went to the front never to be headed. Gradwell would evade Leahy's leads and close in, to tattoo the Worcester boy's body with short, stiff jolts.

Leahy drew the blood from Gradwell's nose in the third round, while Gradwell opened up a gash over Leahy's right eye in the seventh. These were the only damaging blows of the fight. There were no knock downs and at no time during the fight did either boy appear in distress.

The bout marked Leahy's first local appearance and while he showed flashes of the class that made him famous in Worcester a few seasons ago he did not maintain the speed of other days. Gradwell's greater weight proved a factor in the battle for the Somerville veteran who is onto all tricks of the game, knew how to use it to advantage. Some of the Worcester fans who accompanied Leahy to Lowell said he left a sick bed to train for the fight, that he was away off his form. But that as it may, Gradwell had it on him last night and had little difficulty once he took the lead to hold it until the final gong.

Just before the main bout got under way Phinney Boyle of Lowell was introduced to meet the winner of the bout at next week's show.

In the semi-final Wally Theroux of Nashua added another victory to his list. He met Lefty Williams of Lowell who came on as a substitute. Wally subjected the local boy to a terrific bombardment, but "Leftum" stood in there and took it gamely. The Nashua boy tried everything in his repertoire, but he could not put over a decisive blow. There was no question as to the winner. The only question was how Williams stood up under such an incessant attack. He did and for his performance he won many numirers.

In the first bout of the evening Frankie Cryan of Lawrence knocked out Ray Rancourt, also of the downriver city in the first round. It marked Cryan's first appearance here since he sustained a broken jaw at the hands of Nick Madonna several months ago. Up until the Madonna bout Cryan had piled up quite a record as a knockout artist. His return to the role last night made a great hit with his many local friends.

Tommy Leonard of Lowell knocked out Young Murray of Lynn in the second round of the second preliminary. This battle was a bummer while it lasted with both giving and taking much punishment. Leonard proved the harder hitter and during a vigorous exchange in the second stanza he shot in a vicious clout to the jaw and Murray went down and out.

Tip Quinn, who was at the bouts last night, announced that he has resumed training with a view of returning to the game. He says he would like nothing better than to get a crack at Nick Madonna of Lexington, feeling confident that he can beat him.

Eddie Shevlin and George Ward are to meet in Boston tonight and quite a Lowell delegation is going down to witness the battle.

Phinney Boyle, who will meet Willie Gradwell here next week has been training for several weeks and is in fine condition. His appearance in the ring last night as a challenger was greeted with applause.

LOWELL "Y" TO FIGHT FOR STATE HONORS

Lowell Y.M.C.A. with a track team of 14 men entered, is favored to stand near the top in rating at the big track meet to be staged tomorrow afternoon at the Boston "Y," when teams from 11 associations in Massachusetts and Rhode Island fight it out for the indoor Y.M.C.A. championship of the two states.

The men who will run tomorrow have all qualified in sectional meets held in Lowell, Pittsfield, Providence and Newton.

Standing broad jump—Tzanetakos, Douglas, Spence.

1000-yard run—Bishop.

Running high jump—Kargas, Tzanetakos.

K. OF C. WINS SECOND LEG IN TOURNAMENT

For the second time within a month, members of the C.M.A.C. and the Knights of Columbus engaged in an all-around tournament, the "Casey" representatives winning last night's engagement in the C.M.A.C. rooms by the score of 26 to 22. The points were scored as follows:

Checkers, K. of C. 5, and C.M.A.C. 2; cribbage, K. of C. 2, and C.M.A.C. 2; pitch, K. of C. 11 and C.M.A.C. 9; pool, K. of C. 1, and C.M.A.C. 3; billiards, K. of C. 2 and C.M.A.C. 0; bowling, K. of C. 1 and C.M.A.C. 1; whist, K. of C. 4, and C.M.A.C. 5.

Despite the loss of last night's contest, the C.M.A.C. is the winner of the series as they decisively defeated the Knights in the previous meeting. They were awarded the Frank Ricard trophy for their accomplishment. The presentation was made by E. F. Slattery, Jr., lecturer of Lowell council.

Besides the games, there were exhibition boxing bouts between the Desmarais brothers in one bout, and Young Maille and Billy Nelson in another.

Joseph A. N. Chretien was master of ceremonies and was assisted by Alfred Boule, Jos. Arbow, Wm. Dumais and President Zenon Chouinard.

TWO HARD-HITTING PITCHERS

They do say that pitchers cannot hit. The average of the 1923 world series fail to bear out that belief. Jack Bentley, with an average of .500, was high among the Giants, while Joe Bush, with a mark of .429, showed the way to the Yankees.

HOLLOCHER HARD TO FOOL

Shortstop Charley Hollocher, who refuses to report to the Chicago Cubs, because of a salary difference, is the hardest man in the National league to strike out. He whiffed only five times last season. Eddie Collins, with eight strikeouts, was the toughest batter to fool the American league.

JOE LYNCH DEFENDS HIS TITLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 21.—For the first time since December, 1922, when he won a decision over Midget Smith of New York, Joe Lynch will defend his bantamweight crown tonight against Abe Goldstein of New York, in a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden.

The bout was booked following reinstatement by the state athletic commission of all boxers under ban prior to Feb. 12. Lynch was suspended after cancellation of a title fight with Joe Burman, Chicago bantam, last October. Goldstein, substituting for Lynch, won the decision over Burman and was acclaimed 118-pound champion in New York state, but lost this recognition when the boxing board lifted all suspensions. Lynch's reinstatement was made upon acceptance of the match with Goldstein.

Lynch is one of the few champions who ever held a title, lost it and regained it again. He originally won the 118-pound championship from Pete Herman of New Orleans in 1920. The little New Orleans Italian won it back in 1921. Johnny Buff of Jersey City succeeded Herman and then lost it when knocked out by Lynch in July, 1922.

Stribling to Start Training

NEW YORK, March 21.—Young Stribling, schoolboy light heavyweight boxer, who meets Mike McTigue for the world's championship March 31 at Newark, N. J., arrives today to train on the site of the battle. "Pa" and "Ma" and training partners accompany him from Florida, where he has been working out for two weeks.

BILL TILDEN TO QUIT TENNIS

BROOKLINE, March 21.—Positive declaration that 1924 would be his last year as a tennis player unless the ruling against writing for newspapers should be revoked, was made by William T. Tilden last night, here to take part in the national indoor mixed doubles tournament. Tilden said, however, that he would play with the Davis cup team this year, but that owing to the rule against writing enforced by the Olympic committee, he was ineligible to compete in the Olympic games for America.

"This is my last year as a tennis player," he said, "if the United States Lawn Tennis association and I continue to differ as regards the right and wrong there is in writing about tennis for newspapers and playing the game.

"I have not changed my position and attitude and do not intend to," he added. Tilden said that he had sent a statement to the National association in New York yesterday making plain his position.

COLLEGE WRESTLERS MEET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 21. With Penn State grapplers strong favorites, wrestling teams from seven colleges engaged in preliminary bouts of the intercollegiate wrestling tournament here today. Semi-finals will be contested tonight. The title will be decided in the final bouts tomorrow afternoon. Yale mat men were expected to give Penn Staters the strongest bid for the championship. Cornell, which won the championship last year, Columbia, Lehigh, University of Pennsylvania and Princeton also have teams entered. Penn State defeated Cornell, Lehigh and Pennsylvania in early season contests.

LOWELL VS. PROVIDENCE

Fourth Game of Inter-City Polo Series Tonight—Lowell Hopes to Even Count

With the count standing two to one against them, Lowell poloists are out to even up the score in tonight's game with Fred Jean's Providence team at the Crescent rink.

Lowell lost the opening game of the series here a week ago tonight in overtime play, then dropped the second contest in Providence on the following night. Tuesday of this week the locals hit a winning stride and won the honors in a fast and good scoring game.

Tasting victory, Manager Hart and his charges enjoyed the experience and they are determined to have another feast tonight. The team play has improved with each succeeding game, with "Wild Bill" Lougan and Hart becoming more familiar with each other's style and the other players fitting in perfectly.

"Wild Bill" has shown in this series that he is familiar with every angle of the game. Heretofore he starred as a "free lance," doing most of the hitting for his team. As a member of the Lowell team he is starring as an expert "feeder" and passer. In discussing his change of style, Duggan says: "I realize that Hart is one of the hardest and most accurate drivers in polo, and whenever I see a chance to slipthe ball over to him I make the play. This strategy I can see is 'crossing' up the opposition and the plan worked to advantage in the last game and is bound to prove successful in the coming contests."

"However," continued Bill, "they have named me 'wild' and I may at any time escape and pull the unexpected. Getting the goals for the team, whether some one else or myself does the shooting is the plan Manager Hart has worked out, and I am trying to do my bit to put it across."

Manager Hart, who was the scoring star of the last game, feels the present Lowell lineup is capable of giving any team possible a battle. He realizes Jean has a strong combination and that every contest will be hard fought, but he feels confident of ultimate success. To even up the series tonight is his object and he and all members of his outfit are prepared to battle furiously to accomplish the task.

Fred Jean and his pals are coming to town with victory as their goal and they feel certain of landing the honors and returning to Providence for Saturday night's game with the count to one in their favor.

The Plats polo quintet will play the Tylers at Crescent rink before the series game tonight. The lineups will be: Plats, lr, Sarre; 2, Mauritson; c, Lehto; bb, Buckley; r, Banks. Tylers lr, Shinners; 2r, Hines; c, Tully; bb, Sheckinsky; r, Meaney.

CELEBRATED THEIR FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Members of the Butler Athletic association, over 100 strong, gathered in the association's clubrooms in Gorham street Wednesday night and celebrated the first anniversary of the organization with a splendid entertainment and social.

The meeting was opened by President John P. Considine who gave a short talk on the history of the club. Following Mr. Considine's talk, Thomas Clancy, aged 6 years, and John Clancy, aged 5, sons of John Clancy, gave a boxing exhibition with the father acting as referee. The youngsters "mixed it up" aplenty and furnished considerable fun.

The second feature was a four-round exhibition bout between Tommy Fall and James "Hooker" Corrigan. These boys went at it in great style and each of the four rounds was brimful of action.

Another feature on the program was "The Song Shop," a vaudeville act by "Eddie" Donahue and "Johnny" Ball, Lowell's well known vaudeville artists, accompanied by Joseph Moriarty.

The complete program follows: Remarks, President John P. Considine; exhibition bout, John and Thomas Clancy; exhibition bout, Tommy Fall and Kid Hooker; solo, "Say It With a Ukelele," Jerry McMahon; recitation, "He Won It In a Walk," "Will" Broadbent; song, "That Old Gang of Mine," Raymond Chardonnet; dance solo, Al Drain; quartet, 'Dreamy Melody," Richard O'Malley, Al Drain, Jerry McMahon and Raymond Chardonnet; piano solo, Arthur Healy; "The Song Shop," Eddie Donahue and Johnny Ball, accompanied by Jos. Moriarty.

500 PUPILS, DISMISSED BY FIRE IN SCHOOL, SEE RUTH KNOCK HOMER

"Babe" Promised to "Do His Stuff" and Kids Rejoiced When He Came Through With Circuit Clout—Meusel Signs Yankee Contract

NEW YORK, March 21.—A few hours after they had been calmly marched out of their flame-swept building, 500 boys and girls of McDonough school sat in the grandstand at New Orleans and cheered Babe Ruth when he hit his first box score homer of the year in the world's championship victory over the Pelicans yesterday.

Ruth, who had his picture taken before the game with many of the youngsters, promised that he would "do his stuff" for them and was delighted when he came through.

All of the Yankee regulars, including Bob Meusel, who signed his contract yesterday, were in the lineup late in the game. Combs, Gehrig, Gazella, Hendricks and Johnson were injected.

Rain at the Giant camp was so heavy that the Washington Senators, who had started for Sarasota, did not enter the city for the game, but returned to their camp. Brooklyn's practice contest between the Yanalgans and regulars was also called off by rain.

The Giants travelled 100 miles in automobiles today to meet the Chicago White Sox at Winter Haven, Fla., and the Robins motored to Plant City, to battle Indianapolis.

Victory For Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—The Philadelphia Americans rode roughshod over the Birmingham Southern college team yesterday at the Athletics' training camp in Montgomery, Ala., scoring 25 runs on 20 hits in five innings. The best the southerners could do was five hits and three runs. Every Athletic player had one or more hits. Hauser led the slugging with a home run, two triples and a double in four times at bat. Strand, Simmons and Miller each had three safeties.

The Athletics were scheduled to meet Howard college today.

Rain Stops Tigers

DETROIT, March 21.—Rain prevented the first scheduled exhibition game of the Detroit American league team yesterday. The team planned to meet the Toronto club of the International League at Macon, Ga. Today the second exhibition game is scheduled to be played at Savannah, Ga., with the Rochester club of the International League.

Cards to Trade Stock

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—Milton Stock, holdout St. Louis National third baseman, soon may figure in a deal with a major league club for a catcher, according to Manager Branch Rickey. All hope of obtaining Mickey O'Neil from Boston has been given up, Rickey states, but he is angling with the Philadelphia and Brooklyn Nationals.

Chance to Report April 1

CHICAGO, March 21—With the definite announcement that Manager Frank Chance will join the Chicago Americans at Jacksonville, Fla., April 1, or at Augusta, Ga., the next day, and the conferring of manager's authority on Johnny Evers, there was a new spirit in the White Sox training camp at Winter Haven, Fla.

Evers' authority, heretofore nominal, will be absolute until Chance arrives. When yesterday's rain kept the squad indoors, Evers had an understanding with the team and outlined what he expects of them during the rest of the month. The Sox meet the New York Giants today and the Cincinnati Reds tomorrow.

Veterans as well as youngsters on the Chicago National squad will be submitted to the acid test during the week of exhibition games at Oakland, Cal., after the tilts at Los Angeles this week and, Manager Killefer indicated, Pat O'Shea and Leo Ezmann, recruits, were dropped yesterday.

Rumors of possible trades were revived after a conference between Presidents William Veeck of the Cubs and Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, but nothing was decided.

Indians' Pitching Staff

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 21.—Although nothing official is forthcoming, sport writers with the Cleveland Indians at the Lakeland spring training camp believe that Manager Tris Speaker will depend on Chile, Coveleskie, Shantz and Mcveyer to take regular turns on the mound this season. Edwards, Smith, Morton and Bedgood also are certainties, according to the advices, while others who probably will be retained include Emil Levsen, Logan Drake and Luther Roy.

New Red Sox Batting Order

BOSTON, March 21.—Manager Lee Fohl of the Boston Americans marshalled his new batting order in practice at San Antonio, Tex., training quarters for the first time yesterday. The lineup as used, started with four sluggers with records in the .300 class or better, Ira Flagstaff leading off, followed by Bill Wambsganss, Bob Veach and Joe Harris. The rest of the batting order, excepting battery men, included Ike Boone, Norman McMillan and Dudley Lee.

Despite enforced layoffs due to inclement weather, the squad appeared in good trim.

Rain that swept down on St. Petersburg, Fla., training headquarters, prevented the Boston Braves from taking on the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game yesterday. Acting Manager Dick Rudolph was to conduct the squad to Leesburg, Fla., today to meet the Philadelphia Nationals. Manager Dave Bancroft is still laid up with a cold. Jesse Barnes, Johnny Cooney and Sterling Stryker were booked to work on the mound.

TO HOLD AMATEUR BOXING TOURNAMENT

The Lisbon Social and Athletic club of this city announces that an amateur boxing tournament will be held in Associate hall on Monday, March 31. Several entries have been received in the following classes: 112, 118, 126, 135 and 147 pounds. Several A.A.U. officials will be on hand as guests of the club, it is expected. SACRED HEARTS PLAY ST. PETER'S CADETS

The third game in the basketball series between the Sacred Hearts and the St. Peter's Cadets will be played tonight. The teams are on even terms with one victory apiece and both are out to find the odd battle tonight. Coaches Maguire and Foley have had their squads working out all week and both plotz report every man in fine fettle for the game. There is considerable interest in the series and a good sized crowd is expected to turn out tonight.

ROLLER SKATING RACE

The free-for-all roller skating race in the Kasino Wednesday night was won by Leo Jameson. Peter Sabek was second. The judges were Leo Burke and Charles Normandin, and the scorers, Horace Huntley and Charles McQueen.

Give Cigars to Veterans

Leo A. Spillane, Dept. Adjutant, Department of Massachusetts, the American Legion, says:

"The Elcho Cigar is a great favorite among the American Legion men. It has such a fine mild flavor and we know its quality so well that we do not hesitate to give the Elcho Cigar to our disabled boys who are on the road to recovery as well as buy them for our Legion banquets. I am pleased to say publicly that the Elcho is the best hand-made cigar in New England, and the quality is the same." -Advt.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

High school and college baseball teams are warming up for a strenuous season on the diamond. While big league celebrities are conditioning in the warm climate of the south, school and college nines are getting in their preparatory work in indoor gymnasiums. Lowell high, under Jimmy Liston, and Lowell Textile, under Bob Ganley, will be heard from soon.

Local basketball fans are getting the fill of the court game this year. And they're liking it, too. Next week the Cadet-Butler and Highland-St. Anne's series will witness continuations.

The next Cadet-Butler game will be played in Crescent rink Monday night. A large crowd is sure to turn out to see this game, which is regarded as the "crucial" game of the series. The players on both teams are in good shape and anxious to resume where they left off a week ago.

As usual, Billy Wilson will referee the game. He has been going along admirably in this important series and is well liked by the players and by the fans. He keeps the men on their toes and knows the game inside out.

Leo (Red) Kenney, who has been doing some spectacular work for the Cadets, attended Tufts Dental school before matriculating at Lowell Textile. At the Moody street institution, he is regarded as one of the most consistently brilliant basketball artists that ever wore the school colors. His work with the Cadets has been of a classy calibre.

Up Gorham street way, Butler rooters say they will have things their own way at the next meeting. It is understood they have a few tricks up their sleeves for exhibition night. On the other hand, the Cadets are not letting anything slip by and are prepared to put up a stiff argument.

Femininity in basketball scored heavily at the Lowell Normal school during the season. The girls up there had a clever aggregation and put on some clever work in the school gym. Principal Clarence Wood is a great supporter of athletics and encourages the girls to engage in all branches of athletic activities. Volley ball is the next sport on the program up Broadway way.

Somebody said that it looks like a three-game affair between the St. Anne's A.C. and the "Y" Highlands. The next game in the amateur titular series will be staged in Crescent rink next Wednesday night.

Billy Evans SAYS

Baseball creates more unusual situations than any other sport.

Yet some freak happenings are credited to the good old game of golf.

James Ockenden, the famous English golfer, in discussing freak happenings of the links, tells of the most unusual spoon shot on record.

Ockenden did not perform the shot himself, the credit for it, if any exists, goes to the great French golfer, Audrey Boomer.

Aside from the record spoon shot that Ockenden saw Boomer make, he is also credited with having negotiated 72 holes in 256 the lowest score ever made for that distance.

According to Ockenden, Boomer thinks less of his record round than the freak spoon shot he made during the Daily Mail Thousand Guinea tournament at Lanchasire last summer.

On one hole Boomer, after a long drive, found his ball lying in front of an abrupt bank about two feet high over which he had to shoot.

The distance to the bank was only a few yards. Boomer wanted to get distance to reach the green and decided he could clear the obstruction with his spoon.

Taking a tremendous swing he cut into the ball. There was a sharp crack that usually goes with a well-hit ball. Eyes turned down the fairway but the ball was nowhere in sight.

A search of the neighboring rough failed to disclose it. Then a boy in the gallery, perhaps more in jest than anything else, told Boomer to look into the pocket of a sweater he was wearing.

Boomer did so, and to his great amazement discovered the lost ball in his sweater pocket. It had caromed off the dirt bank into the sweater pocket, Boomer's arms at the time being raised high above his shoulders in the "follow through."

No doubt many golf fans, and others who have never been on the links, read Ockenden's story, merely smiled and remarked "more hot air."

On the surface it may seem like an impossibility for a good golfer to play such a freak shot. Yet such a thing can happen. Such an incident came under my own observation. I was one of the foursome playing at the time.

Harry Moore, one of Cleveland's best known golfers, pulled such a stunt several years before the great Boomer turned the trick.

While Moore's golf does not compare with that of Boomer, the fact that he is left-handed may explain how he happened to pull the stunt.

Joe Kirkwood has been working on the sweater shot for nearly a year, but has yet been unable to perform the remarkable accomplishment that belongs only to Boomer, the professional, and Moore, the amateur. Kirkwood has about decided to pass it up as too difficult.

The Nut Cracker by Joe Williams

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

(The gifted sport philosopher finds optimism grows in bunches under the hot southern sun.)

MOBILE, Ala., March 21.—Well, folks, I'll say this much, it looks like a great year for the Pollyanna Party. I never saw so much optimism as exists in these southern training camps. All the big league managers are broken out with it, like an agitated angle worm with the wiggles. From what I have been able to find out so far it looks like the next world series will be one of those round robin things with all sixteen clubs taking a left hook at the swag. All the boys admit they have improved like a flapper's morals on a deserted island, and the worst they expect, even leaving room for sudden deaths among the pitchers, is first place by July the Fourth.

Mr. Huggins thinks his Yankees can slip back 17 kilometers and still make the rest of the American league look slower than a check from home. Winning championships has got to be a habit with Mr. Huggins and he has no more idea of reforming than Frank Vandersilp has of developing a sense of discretion. Just to prove to the gaping public that there is nothing wrong with his eyes, George the Sigler says he sees a top berth for his Brownies, and even Connie Mack, who hasn't had a winner since burlesque girls wore red silk tights, is going around sobbing because October and its accompanying thrills are so far away. I haven't any set notions as to what constitutes the millennium, but what can beat a couple of pennant races with nothing but winners?

However, the hairpin in the married man's sedan, as far as this spring optimism is concerned, is that it doesn't mean anything, if as much. Even the Phillies look like a ball club on opening day in their new bungalow aprons. Hope may spring eternal in the manly buzzom, but it fairly gurgles in the spring under the warm, motherly influence of a hot, mellow sun. What passes as a cheery note of confidence in March usually turns out to be a brimming bowl of the old apple sauce in July. Bill Bryan couldn't talk himself into the White House and base hits still go farther in baseball than steam-heated conversation.

TO RECOGNIZE KING FUAD AS CALIPH

CAIRO, Egypt, March 21. A ministerial order directs all Moslems in Egypt henceforth to replace the name of Abdul Medjid, the former caliph, by that of King Fuad in the Friday prayers at the mosques. The order is taken here as indicating that the government intends to support the movement in favor of recognizing Fuad as caliph.

LOWELL BOY WILL CAPTAIN TEAM

The 1921 football team of Canisius college, Buffalo, N. Y., will be captained by Joseph Nolan, a Lowell boy. Nolan is a junior at the Buffalo institution and has played a star game at tackle on the football eleven for the past three years. He has a record of participating in 30 college games without sustaining injury, and is regarded by Coach Luke Urban as one of the best men on the team.

Joe may be seen in action by Lowell fans in this state next season, as Canisius has a game scheduled with Holy Cross at Worcester, while a clash with Boston college is a possibility. While not engaged in athletics, Nolan devotes his time to the studies leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. He is secretary of his class and a prominent member of the Pi-Kappa-Phi fraternity.

MINOR CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

An ordinary Friday routine of cases came up in district court this morning. Joseph Kaziol was found guilty of drunkenness and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. The arresting officer, James Maloney, testified that defendant is a common nuisance and that he gets drunk frequently and leaves his horse standing in the street for hours.

John Floringer pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was sentenced to one month in the house of correction.

A drunkenness complaint against Leo Gagne was allowed to stand until tomorrow.

Joseph Gadnoski, charged with illegal keeping, was continued until April 1.

A continuance until March 29 was granted Roy F. Courtney, non-support, and until May 24, in the case of Frank Cutler, charged with being a fugitive from justice.

TO ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

A motion picture adventure talk by Colonel Philip Moore, well known adventurer and lecturer, entitled "Roughing It De Luxe," will be the feature of next Monday's assembly of high school students at the Cyrus W. Irish auditorium of the school. The assembly will be held at 12.15 o'clock and three upper classes and freshmen sitting on the north side of the freshman building will be present.

Col. Moore has had an exceptionally thrilling career. Upon graduating from Princeton university, he set out to see that section of the northern Rocky Mountains that were unmapped and unknown. He followed little known trails through the Rockies as far north as the great Peace River country, where very few white men have ever trod. At the outbreak of the World war he was so far from civilization that six weeks passed before he heard even a rumor of it. Hearing the rumor he walked 200 miles to the nearest town and signed up in the army. He served in Flanders and received rapid promotion for distinguished service.

He comes to Lowell highly recommended and Headmaster Harris of the school believes Monday's assembly will be one of the most interesting ever held in the school.

The original plan had been for the American women players to sail June 7.

CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC TELLS OF RECOVERY

Mr. and Mrs. Bayes Give Full Credit to Tanlac for Remarkable Results — Mrs. Bayes Gained 21 Pounds.

"Mrs. Bayes and myself are both strong for Tanlac and could not over praise it," declares T. H. Bayes, 632 College street, Springfield, Mo. Mr. Bayes is a prominent musician and well known to the people of Springfield, having been associated with a leading music house here for 40 years.

"My wife had been a confirmed dyspeptic, and suffered from it for 20 years. She was sorely troubled with heart palpitation and about all the distressing symptoms a profound case of indigestion can cause a person.

"Finally she got down to only one-hundred and eight pounds and landed in a hospital almost a nervous and physical wreck. In fact, her case seemed hopeless, but after everything else failed along came Tanlac and easily and quickly put an end to her 20 years' suffering and restored to her the pleasure of living.

"Tanlac was soothing and healing from the very start and now she has a wonderful appetite and her digestion is the best I have ever known it to be. The change from eating a little toast and other very light foods to such things as sausage, cabbage, sauerkraut, etc., came about so quickly as to astonish and delight us both.

"Her weight has gone up to one hundred and twenty-nine pounds, a gain of twenty-one pounds. Rheumatism about her arms and joints and swelling in the feet has also disappeared with the general building up Tanlac gave my wife. Her strength has returned, she has an abundance of energy and is altogether happy over her new-found health."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

CHANGES IN REVENUE LAW APPROVED

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Changes in the venue law advocated by the treasury to tighten the provisions for tax collection on gains from sales and exchanges by corporations were approved today by the senate finance committee. The provisions had been agreed to by the house.

Only a small portion of the revenue bill was gone over today, 35 minutes being spent in attempting to raise a quorum of five members. In view of the delay, Chairman Smoot said it was likely the rate schedules would not be reached before next week. Meanwhile it will be decided whether the bonus bill is to be taken up ahead of the tax measure.

COUNTERFEIT HALF DOLLARS CIRCULATED

Counterfeit half dollars are in circulation in Lowell, according to Guy McCallum, auditor for the trolley company. Conductors on the local system had taken them as good money, he said. The coins have a good ring and good appearance to them, although they are slightly lighter and have more of a lustre than true coinage. They are what is known as the Liberty half dollars and the pieces Mr. McCallum had were dated 1920 and 1921 respectively.

NEW SUICIDE ROUTE

Man Ends Life by Exhausting Supply of Oxygen in Room by Lighting Gas Burners

LYNN, March 20.—A new suicide route was discovered by Elihu J. Parker, aged 66, a store manager, last night, when he ended his life by exhausting the supply of oxygen in his kitchen by lighting five gas burners on the gas stove in his home, 12 Portland street, Lynn. When the door was forced it was so hot that clothing in a closet had shrivelled up and fallen to pieces and the woodwork was scorched. Parker left his unpaid bills on the table and money to pay them, with a note making a Lynn physician his executor. He was arrested Wednesday charged with assaulting a seven-year old girl and was to have appeared in the Lynn court today. After his arrest he said he would be better off under the sod. He was a widower.

The Bone and Sinew

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 20

After a short journey the old hermit stopped in front of a rock-cave and took a trumpet from his pocket. He blew a few loud blasts on it and out of the cave entrance came a little black bear. "Come on, there, Teddy," said the hermit, "I want you to meet a friend of mine.

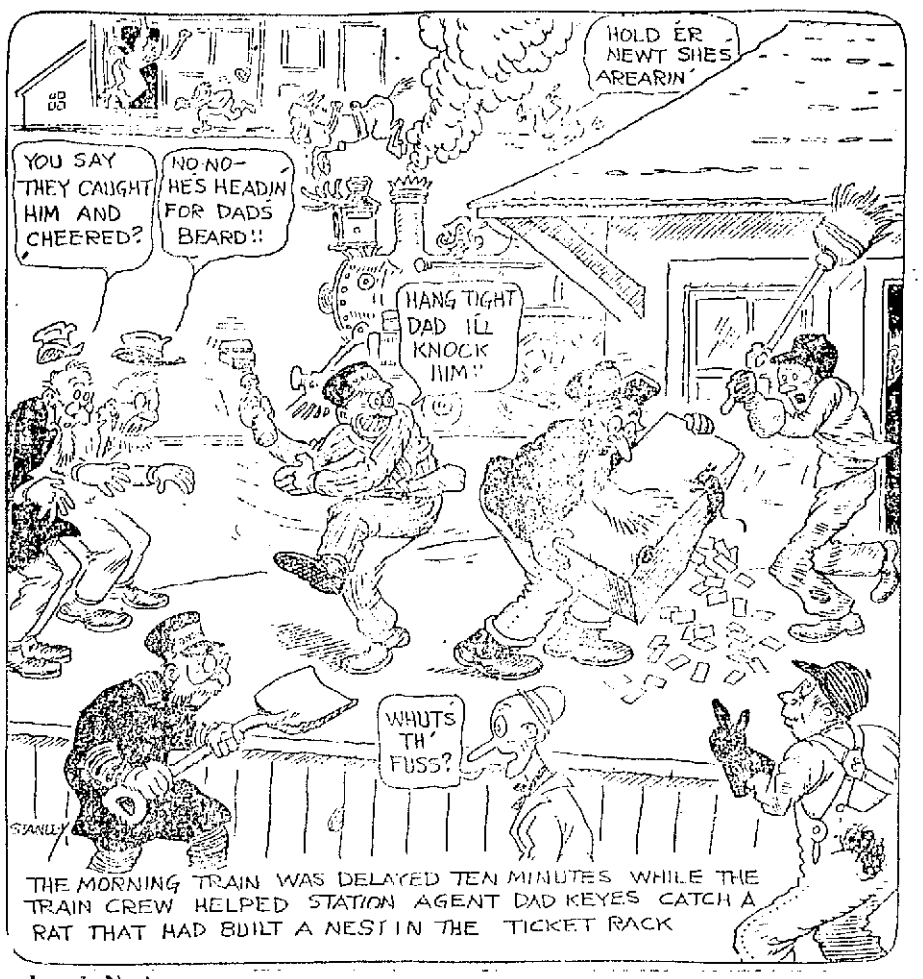

Little bruin waddled along behind the hermit as the old man started back to where Jack was sleeping. Part way back, once more the hermit stopped and this time he merely clapped his hands and a little gray fox came running out of some nearby bushes. He, too, joined the hermit.

Just before the trio reached Jack they came upon what looked like a big needle-like bush. Suddenly this bush moved. It was a porcupine. "You can come, too," laughed the old man, and in a short time, the hermit, the bear, the fox and the porcupine were standing in front of Jack. (Continued.)

PHYSICAL FITNESS

Either the human body is not strong enough to withstand the wear and tear of modern industrial life, or else it is abused to such an extent, in other ways, that we are failing in physical fitness.

The operation of great industries has resulted in great wealth, but has clearly upset the normal balance as regards mental and physical work, recreation and rest. There is no doubt that this has a well-defined action on health and bodily condition.

The strain and stress of non-emotional, deadening sameness, or continual work at one thing is followed by occupational diseases of overstrain, bad posture, deficient eye sight, discontent and a letdown in mental alertness, causing different spinal, nervous and digestive disorders.

No one thing so interferes with the digestive work of the body and brings about so many conditions of physical inefficiency as discontent and low mentality.

The hurry, or speed-up habit, is also a factor in causing excessive use of protein foods. We not only hurry in our working hours, but through force of habit we hurry at our meals. The appetite is not satisfied with the proper normal amount, through the hasty bolting of food.

As a result of this haste comes a deadening of activity and soon the eliminative organs (the liver and kidneys) are forced to do extra work and lack of physical fitness looms ahead.

The remedy for this condition is not easy to apply. Unscientific attempts to correct nature's normal life, after over-indulgence, by waking ourselves up with caffein, moving our bowels with a cathartic, and putting ourselves to sleep with an opiate, are dangerous enemies of physical fitness.

Don't lose your physical fitness through carelessness or destructive habits. Avoid dope and rapid eating. Take your recreation gradually. Strive at all times to provide for proper coordination with work, proper digestion and exercise that will provide symmetrical development and proper health.

CAYS NO RENT NOR TAXES

Harry J. Deal, 72 year-old naturalist, doesn't pay rent or taxes. He lives in a cave on the side of Signal mountain, not far from Chattanooga, Tenn., and has for his companions, 16 dogs. "Doors are only to keep fresh air out," says he. "And this cave life is the only way to live." Deal sleeps on a bed of leaves, covered with blankets, and has no other furniture in his cave.

BIG NIGHT AT Y. M. C. I.

Entertainment, Address and Drawing of Prizes Attracts Great Crowd to Rooms

Geo. H. Willett Wins Baseball Pass—Henry McGee Awarded Shawl

The drawing for two prizes a season pass to all home games of the Boston Red Sox, and a handsome shawl, featured the exercises in connection with the social and testimonial entertainment under the auspices of the Y.M.C.I. in their hall in Stackpole street last night. The baseall pass, donated by President Bob Quinn of the Red Sox through "Bob" Hart, was won by George H. Willet of 88 Bartlett street and the shawl, donated by William Corbett, was won by Henry McGee of 81 Belrose avenue.

The drawings took place at the conclusion of a lengthy program of entertainment, in which the following contributed: John Broderick, James Corrigan, Jr., Joseph Wedge, Master John Payne, William Morse, Patrick Maguire, John Crowe, Thomas Carkin, Eddie Cawley, Frank McCartin, Martin O'Connor, Joseph Reilly, Joseph Craven, Charlie Keyes and "Al" Forrest. The two latter captured the audience of about 500 members with their presentation of a new and catchy song by Mr. Forrest, entitled: "Gee, But I'm Glad I Met You," Mr. Keyes singing the words to the excellent piano accompaniment of Mr. Forrest.

A novel feature of the entertainment was a three-round boxing bout by the Clancy brothers, Thomas, aged 6, and John, aged 5. The referee, James Clancy, aged 8, announced that Clancy won.

John Shields, president of the institute, presided at the exercises and introduced the speakers and entertainers. The first speaker was "Bob" Hart, popular big league umpire and one of the Institute's most energetic workers. It was principally through Mr. Hart's work that the drawing contest was a success. As he had another engagement to fill in Derry, N. H., last night, his stay with his associates was brief. He took occasion, however, to thank each and every one of the members for their co-operation in making the contest a big success. He announced that a sum approaching $1000 had been realized for the purpose of sending three members of the organization to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre in Canada.

The principal speaker of the evening was John H. McNabb who delivered a scholarly address on the part the Irish played in the Revolutionary and other wars in which the United States participated. At the conclusion of his enlightening talk, Mr. McNabb was given a rising vote of thanks.

Little John Payne was selected to draw the names of the lucky winners from a large container. The drawing was directed by William Walsh, president of the Broadway club and the judges were the following: Frank Ricard, Lowell Ad Club; James O'Dea, South End Club; Vice President McGinnis of the C.Y.M.I.; Joseph M. Reilly, Lowell Typographical union; Wm. H Sullivan, Lowell Sun; Frank E. MacLean, the Sunday Telegram; George H. Keefe, Lowell Courier-Citizen and John Sharkey, Mathew Temperance Institute.

RAIDS IN ADAMS AND THORNDIKE STREETS

As the result of a raid in a nearby beer saloon at 13 Adams street about 6 o'clock last night, a clerk who was on the premises at the time will appear in district court tomorrow morning to answer a charge of illegal keeping. Federal Agents Sullivan and Watkins and Officers Maloney and Keegan of the local liquor squad, constituted the raiding party. They found a pint bottle of liquor and several empties.

A second raid was made by the same officers last night in a store in Thorndike street. Evidence in the form of a half-pint of liquor was found, and an arrest is likely to be made today.

DON'T MISS NEAL O'HARA

The Day's Best Humorist to Appear at Liberty Hall Tonight

Doting mothers, wives and sisters will use the thimble, needle and thread tomorrow morning for John Doughboy, civilian, is going to lose a few buttons from his vest tonight. That is to say, he'll lose them if he shows up at Liberty hall where his outfit, the American Legion, is introducing Neal O'Hara, who will provide the evening's fun. Mr. O'Hara, who has such a nifty line of humor that magazine writers are trampling one another in the rush to get the overflow from his humor mill, is going to make a speech.

Not a thumb-in-vest dear people sort of speech that the spellbinders pull when they want to convince you that the city's money won't be safe unless you give them the combination to the safe. No, no, Adelbert, but a real talk the kind that you start out with by saying, "Well, gang, it's like this." The subject of the talk is "Humorists, or How Do They Get That Way." From that it is hard to tell whether Neal is going to tell us how they do it or whether he expects us to tell him. Either way there'll be more laughs than the average fellow has produced since the gang skipped school and pinned the "kick me" sign on the truant officer's coat.

Neal O'Hara is one of those naturally funny fellows, and it's no effort to keep his auditors half-hysterical from laughter from the greeting to the bon soir. This is his first appearance in Lowell where he has a number of acquaintances of the "I knew him when" days, and Neal will sure strut his stuff to show them how easy it is.

Humor emanates from Neal like cider from an apple press. He dashes off a few columns a day for the newspaper, keeps a dozen humorous weeklies and monthlies supplied and finds time to keep up his golf and whatever other minor eccentricities and diversions success has afflicted him with.

The legionaires all know he'll "knock 'em off their seats" tonight, so they'll be in ranks before the roll call. The tickets have been going good and the former leatherneck, gob or doughboy that hasn't prepared his final statements to square up with the boxoffice for the tickets he has out will see the first sergeant in the orderly room before assembly sounds so the boxoffice can have the pasteboards to offer at the window sale.

Don't forget it's Liberty hall tonight and a few tickets are left. Anybody can go that has got the coupons or the wherewithal to qualify. The legion needs the do-re-mi and the good cheer that will be spread. Let's go!

day afternoon, brandished an automatic pistol in the presence of the 65-year-old proprietor and his wife and rifled the cash drawer of $4. He was arrested in a Lakeview avenue pool room about two hours after the deed had been committed, and was identified at police headquarters as the boy who had robbed Mr. O'Connor on three previous occasions.

To impress on the mind of the victim that he meant business during the enactment of the holdup scene, Kosiba pulled the trigger of his revolver, discharging a bullet through one of the store windows just as Mrs Thomas P. Hubin, of Bunker Hill avenue, and her young daughter were passing. Luckily the missile went wild.

Police investigation failed to reveal the whereabouts of the gun. Kosiba told officers that he threw it away because "it went off too easy." Under a pillow in his home, a box of cartridges was found.

Liquor Squad Captain Gets Another "Billet Doux" From Club 266

Evidently "Club 266" is persistent, for this morning George B. Palmer, captain of the liquor and vice squad, received a second message from this mysterious organization threatening his life. The first one was received about a month ago and gave the captain two weeks to prepare for death. When he did not die in the allotted time, "266" got busy again and under date of March 19, a postcard enclosed in an envelope was received at the police station. It was addressed "Capt. George B. Palmer, Police Station, Lowell, Mass.," printed in ink. The contents, lacking punctuation, read: "Let Geo. do it but not in this case Club 266 will take care of it this time Geo. If you have a whole skin much longer you are lucky from Club 266."

As in the case of the first missive, the captain does not take the threat seriously.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Favorable Action Taken on Several Petitions at Last Night's Meeting

Several Routine Matters Considered at Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon

The board of public service gave hearings on 26 petitions for sewers, sidewalks and street repairs last night in the council chamber at city hall and took favorable action in each instance in jig time.

Present at the meeting, which was called promptly at 7.30 o'clock, were Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, Fred G. Leary and Frederick F. Meloy.

The first petition heard was that of Frank A. Major and others for a sewer in Boylston street. Proponents said dry wells in the neighborhood are obnoxious and in the absence of a sewer flood conditions obtain in springtime. Water also stagnates in two pools in back of Boylston street, they stated, and people in the vicinity have a fear of disease. Residents involved own homes in Boylston, Rae and Berwick streets and Perkley ave. Councilor Thomas McFadden spoke in favor of the petition.

A letter from James H. Donohue was in remonstrance.

Chairman Murphy said there is no doubt but what the sewer will be laid this year.

Other hearings held were on the following petitions: Alphonse Noel, for sewer extension in Phoebe avenue; Alphonse Noel, for sidewalk of edgestone and cinders on westerly side of Phoebe avenue; Donat Genest, for sewer in Endicott street from Sixth to Seventh avenues; Abel R. Campbell, for sewer in Glenwood street south of Frothingham street; Albert B. Cameron, that Suffolk street from Merrimack to Market be relocated and lines defined; Julian B. Keyes, sidewalk of edgestones and cinders in front of 65 Fairmount street. Louis Charos, that Birch and Sycamore streets be accepted and sidewalks of edgestones and cinders be laid on portions of said streets and on Wentworth avenue; Vasilios Fotopoulos, that a sidewalk of cinders and edgestones be laid in front of 82 Belrose avenue; George Colopoulos, that a sewer in Park avenue be extended; Joseph E. Richards, for sewer extension in Commonwealth avenue; Peter O'Neil, for sewer in Corbett street east from Stromquist ave.; Albert Boden, for edgestones on west side of Stevens street, south side of Upham street and north side of Bellevue; Derai; Dilworth, to reset edgestones and lay a concrete sidewalk on south side of Barrington street; Manuel P. Mello, for edgestones on north side of West Forrest street; Elof Erickson, for sewer extension in McKinley avenue; Jacques Bolaveri, for sewer in Milton street from Parker street; Thomas Adams, for edgestones and cinders on west side of Smith street 90 feet north from Shaw street; Ferris Rezulo, for edgestones in front of 230 Smith street; Patrick W. Moran, for concrete sidewalk in front of premises at West Ninth street at Bridge street; Frank A. Major, to lay a sewer in Boylston street.

After the hearings the board adjourned to the office of the street department and voted favorably on all the petitions.

Afternoon Meeting of Board

At a meeting of the board held at 4.45 p. m. after the members returned from a viewing tour, several routine matters were taken up.

Frank A. Groves petitioned for a light in Postoffice avenue.

A letter from Engineer A. W. Dean of the state board of public works relative to land damages in Princeton street was referred to the city solicitor.

A request from Councilor Maurice J. Lambert that Rhodora street be repaired was taken under consideration, as was a similar request from Edward T. Goward relative to Butman road. A letter from the Lowell Gas Co. concerning the condition of Rock street was referred to Supt. Doherty.

The Lowell Automobile Dealers' association sent a communication to the board commending the prompt removal of snow from the neighborhood of the Auditorium during the holding of the automobile show there.

JOSEF HOFMANN HERE

World Famous Pianist is Guest of Engineer John A. Stevens

Josef Hofmann, one of the world's best known and best liked pianists, was in Lowell today as the guest of John A. Stevens, engineer, with whom he lunched with other friends this noon, at the Yorick club.

Although Mr. Hofmann has won world acclaim through his musical ability, he now seeks it in an entirely different channel and is putting a remarkable inventive and mechanical genius to work along technical lines. At present he is interested particularly in his latest invention, the Hofmann air spring, a shock absorbing device now being put on the market for use on motor cars, bicycles, airplanes and other vehicles of transportation. Manufacture now is being carried on in a Hofmann shop in Zurich, Switzerland, with all American rights owned by Mr. Stevens in a recently formed corporation known as the Stevens Manufacturing Co. An American shop at Aiken, N. C., also is controlled by Mr. Hofmann.

At luncheon this noon the great pianist admitted that since boyhood days his mind has traveled in technical channels and a desire to invent has gone hand in hand with his musical aims. A pair of collapsible skates, turned out when his mother refused to permit him that winter pleasure, allowed him to leave his home with the skates unseen in his pocket. Necessity is the mother of invention, he laughingly said.

Mr. Stevens is planning an extensive advertising campaign in connection with the Hofmann air spring and for the time being will centralize on local distribution, in which connection W. Harold McKnight is associated with him.

More Collections of $1000 Bills Unearthed in Testimony Before Daugherty Committee Today

PAID $200,000 FOR PERMITS

John Goroni, Head of Drug Company Testifies Orr Sold Permits for $15 a Case

Went to Him After Being Refused Withdrawals by Prohibition Commissioner

Understood Howard Mannington, Friend of Daugherty's Got $2 a Case

WASHINGTON, March 21.—More collections of $1000 bills were unearthed today in testimony before the Daugherty investigating committee.

This time they were for illicit withdrawals of whiskey from federal warehouses.

John Goroni, president of the Alps Drug Co., of New York, testified that after being refused withdrawals by Prohibition Commissioner Hart, he had paid Owen Murphy, a partner of Will A. Orr, $150,000 and Orr himself $50,000 for withdrawal permits. Orr, Goroni testified, was selling withdrawal permits for $15 a case, and he understood Howard Mannington, a friend of the attorney general's, who had a desk in the "little green house on K street," got two dollars a case for his part.

Fifty thousand dollars in $1000 bills, Goroni testified, was collected from other parties, among them a liquor dealer named John Lynn, who later hanged himself.

$200,000 for Permits

"How much of this $200,000 was for liquor," Goroni was asked.

"No liquor at all," he replied, "that was just for the permits."

The transactions were between May and August, 1921, Goroni said, and for signing the withdrawal applications, the drug companies got a fee of $1 a case.

After the drug companies got the permits, anybody could get the liquor. The fee of $1 a case was for the use of drug companies' names, he said, to get the permits into hands of bootleggers.

"Who did they say Howard Mannington was?"

"They said he belonged to the crowd from Columbus."

Goroni said he came to Washington when 7000 cases of Scotch whiskey were seized.

"Whom did you see?"

"Thomas B. Felder. He told me to go home—it would be all right—he would get the liquor sooner or later."

"Did you pay money to Orr?"

"Once—$50,000."

"How did you pay it?"

Lynn Hanged Himself

"I collected for him from another party—it was in fifty $1000 bills."

"Where did you get it?"

"From John Lynn."

"Who was he?"

"He was in liquor—he hanged himself."

"What did you get the $50,000 for?"

"It was a balance that Lynn owed to Orr and Murphy on liquor withdrawals."

"I was running the business for five drug companies," Goroni said. He named the Central, the S. & B. Drug Co., the Alps and others.

"Was this $50,000 paid to fix things?"

"Orr was selling the permits for $15 per case and each of my drug companies was getting $1 a case back from Orr."

"Did you say any more?"

"To Murphy, I paid about $150,000."

"That was for influence?"

"It was for these withdrawal papers."

"When was it?"

"From May to about August, 1921."

"In those three months you paid Orr and Murphy $200,000?"

SEN. MOSES TO RETIRE

Report New Hampshire Man Will Not Be a Candidate for Renomination

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 21.—According to a despatch from Washington to the Manchester Mirror, Senator George H. Moses will quit the senate at the expiration of his present term.

Senator Moses, the story says, contemplates going into business and is very sharp in his criticism of the inefficiency of the senate today and some of its members.

It is said in the article that the New Hampshire senator has been contemplating this action for some time and that unless unforseen conditions arise he will not be a candidate for renomination. The senator has two more years to serve.

POWERFUL INFLUENCES TO STOP INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Soon after the senate oil committee adjourned today one of its members, Dill, democrat, Washington, started a debate on the senate floor in which he declared Attorney Littleton's appearance in the case demonstrated that powerful influences were at work to stop further investigation.

Senator Dill read into the record extracts from an article in the New York Times indicating that Will H. Hays will tell the oil committee that Harry F. Sinclair turned over 75,000 shares of Sinclair Oil stock to the republican national committee to wipe out the $1,600,000 deficit left after the 1920 election.

The Times article as read by Senator Dill said there was reason to believe Mr. Hayes would tell the committee that Sinclair supplied the stock in November, 1920, it said Hays appealed for funds to wipe out the republican campaign deficit. On Dec. 1, 1920 it continued, the Sinclair oil stock was valued at $25 a share, which would make the 75,000 shares worth $1,875,000 at that time.

SINCLAIR'S COUNSEL CHALLENGE AUTHORITY OF OIL COMMITTEE

Atty. Littleton and Others Wage Two-Hour Legal Battle in Effort to Have Their Client Excused From Further Questioning

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Counsel for Harry F. Sinclair waged an inconclusive two hours legal battle with the oil committee today in an effort to have their client excused from further questioning.

Challenging the committee's authority to proceed with the inquiry after the validity of the leases already had been passed upon in a resolution of congress and contending that "in fairness and justice" Sinclair should not be compelled to testify while charges of fraud are pending against him in the courts, Martin W. Littleton of the Sinclair counsel told committee members that their course was a "monstrous proposition" and an "outrage."

Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor, did not agree with the Sinclair attorney but some committeemen wanted more time to think it over and adjournment was taken without a decision.

While today's discussion was in progress the oil operator, whose lease of Teapot Dome was the starting point of the oil inquiry, sat at the committee table, apparently confident that in the end he would be excused from testifying. His counsel did not predict what other legal privileges might be invoked later in his behalf but Littleton repeatedly accused the committee of attempting to drive him

DENNETT CASE HEARD

Supreme Court Takes Petition of Lowell Schoolmaster Under Consideration

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, March 21.—The case of William W. Dennett, principal of the Morey grammar school of Lowell, against Mayor John J. Donovan, et als., which is a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Lowell school committee to reinstate Mr. Dennett as master of the Greenhalge evening grammar school, was heard today before Judge Pierce in the supreme judicial court of Suffolk county.

After hearing testimony and statements from opposing counsel the court took the matter under consideration. The witnesses were Mr. Dennett and Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools. Mr. Dennett was represented by Atty. John M. O'Donoghue and Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds represented the school committee.

The main point at issue and upon which the decision in the case will hinge is whether the rule of the school committee passed in 1922, requiring the election of evening school teachers from year to year, conflicts with the statute providing for tenure of office for teachers.

CONVERT AIR CRUISERS INTO SEAPLANES

SEATTLE, Wash., March 21—The four army airmen attempting to circle the globe will rest here several days while workmen at the Sand Point aviation field convert the big air cruisers into seaplanes. In preparation for the ordeal ahead, the young officers will abstain from public functions and entertainments, according to Major Frederick L. Martin, flight commander. The other aviators are Lieuts. Lowell H. Smith, Leigh H. Wade and Erik H. Nelson.

The airmen flew here from Vancouver Barracks yesterday, after the other three were caught up with by Lieut. Nelson, whose start from Santa Monica, Cal., was delayed through late delivery of his ship.

After leaving Vancouver Barracks yesterday, the squadron ran into great columns of clouds and was forced to climb higher, Major Martin said in describing the journey.

BOBBED HAIR BANDIT HELD

Captured After Alleged Attempt to Hold Up Manhattan Tailor

Identified as Wife of Albert Guimares, Friend of Dorothy Keenan

NEW YORK, March 21.—Numerous victims of recent bobbed-hair bandit robberies in Brooklyn and Manhattan were called by the police to appear in court today to determine whether the robberies were committed by the woman captured last night after an alleged attempt to hold up a Manhattan tailor and who later was identified by the police as the wife of Albert Guimares, friend of Dorothy Keenan, who was murdered last spring.

Guimares is now serving a three-year sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta, for using the mails to defraud in a brokerage scheme.

An expensive sable coat worn by the woman when she was captured last night, was compared by the police with the description of a coat stolen from the apartment of Miss Keenan the day she was murdered.

Police are searching the city for a man companion, who escaped while the woman was being arrested.

The police also captured a stolen coupe in which the man and woman had driven to the tailor shop. The woman prisoner was tentatively charged with attempted grand larceny of a bolt of cloth from the tailor shop and possession of a stolen automobile. After being held for several hours, she was released on $3000 bail.

Hair dressed with a luminous lotion, which causes it to glow in a subdued light, is a fashion novelty recently seen in London.

Charges That Millions of U. S. Bonds Duplicated to Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Creation of a committee to investigate charges that millions of dollars worth of government bonds have been duplicated at the bureau of engraving and printing, was recommended today to the house by its rules committee.

An investigation had been demanded by Representative King, republican, Illinois, who proposed, however, to have the house banking committee conduct the inquiry.

Charges of irregularities at the bureau were made by Charles B. Brewer, special attorney for the department of justice, who investigated conditions there and submitted the report two years ago to President Harding, which led to dismissal of 28 officials, most of whom have been reinstated.

AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

President Mrs. Myron D. Fuller presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church held in the ladies' parlor of the church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. G. Anderson offered prayer following which regular routine business was transacted.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. S. N. Hand, Miss M. Walsh and Mrs. C. Midgley was appointed to report at the annual meeting in April.

Following the business session a program of readings, recitations, vocal and instrumental numbers was given by the members. Among the interesting papers read were "Field Labor," Mrs. G. Simmons; Mrs. Frank E. Campbell entertained with an interesting talk on "Orphanages of America," while Mrs. James Flemming gave "Orphanages of the Negro in Atlanta." "Work Among the Japanese and Chinese" was also a most interesting number.

Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Talbot in charge, following which a social hour was enjoyed.

MARRY YOUNG, SAYS ELIOT

Noted Educator Delivers Address at Close of Public Tribute at Harvard

Urges Service to Country in Peace as Well as in War—Have Joy in Work

CAMBRIDGE, March 21.—Service to country, joy in work and early marriage were enjoined upon Harvard undergraduates by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot in his address to the students which brought to a close the public tribute to the aged educator in honor of his 90th birthday yesterday. Speaking from a temporary stand erected in the Harvard yard, Dr. Eliot said that the message he wanted to give to the thousands of young men gathered there was:

"Serve the country, serve her in peace as well as in war, serve her by sacrificing money, for example, high professional earnings, in order to take public office, elective or appointive. Serve her by your personal exertion in the towns, the cities and communities where you settle for life.

"Use the opportunity of selecting studies which you have at Harvard to find out while you are here in what work, in what profession, you can find joy in your work all your life. The chief satisfaction of my life has come out of the joy in work.

"Avoid to the utmost introspection. Avoid dwelling on your own state of mind.

"Do not put off marriage too much. Do not wait until you think you can offer the girl you want to marry all the luxuries and privileges to which in her father's home, she was accustomed. When you have made up your mind give the girl a chance to tell you hers.

"I wish for you all the attainment of a life of happiness. You cannot all expect to live as long as I have lived, but I hope you will all live long enough to experience the kind of happiness I have enjoyed today."

Sinclair's Counsel Challenges Authority of Oil Committee

into a position where he would have to assume the "odium" of refusing to answer, like Albert B. Fall, on the ground it might incriminate him.

The oil operator was accompanied by an array of counsel, who carried into the committee room a heavy load of records and documents bearing on the multitudinous phases of the committee's inquiry into the Tea Pot lease and Sinclair's relations with public officials generally.

Says Object Already Accomplished

Attorneys for the operator based their objection on the Walsh resolution, adopted by congress, directing annulment of the oil leases. They pointed out that the resolution declared the leases were made under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption and said that if this be true the committee had ascertained what it was directed to ascertain.

In a long argument presented immediately after the witness was called to the stand, Martin W. Littleton of the Sinclair counsel, contended that by the resolution congress not only had brought to an end the jurisdiction of the committee but had "defined the policy of the government that the oil shall be preserved for the government."

"You have passed upon the validity of these leases," Littleton said, "and as far as the legislative adjudication can be effective, you have legislated the leases be void and have legislatively imposed an injuction with regard to the property.

"You have established a policy of the government on this subject, and anything you claim would be only a detail which would not warrant the further examination of my client in this matter.

"You not only say that the leases are void, but the language you use is very broad and the policy you have established is very definite. You have declared the policy of this government is that the oil should be maintained in the ground as a great reserve supply to meet a national emergency. You have thus discharged all the duties placed in your hands.

"What it is your committee is investigating that entitles you to take my client, who has been here time and again, with his books and papers, and say 'You must testify further.'

Right to Act Questioned

"Have you any jurisdiction which entitles you to do so under the standards and precedents of the American government?"

The right of congressional committees to call witnesses and papers from all over the country to aid in framing legislation, the attorney argued, never had been sustained by the courts.

"Has it ever been denied?" asked Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor.

"No, but it has been questioned," was the reply.

Senators Dispute Claim

There was a long colloquy between Littleton and senators as to the rights of congressional committees to summon witnesses. Sinclair's counsel contended that the committee was without any vestige of power.

"If your ideas should prevail," said Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, "this committee might as well close its doors and quit."

"It should either quit or do its work in a constitutional fashion," replied Littleton.

"As I understand Mr. Littleton's position," Senator Walsh said, "it is that members of congress are obliged for the purpose of informing themselves concerning contemplated legislation, to depend upon the press, their talks with individuals and other voluntary information, which anybody may be willing to give them, but they cannot compel anybody to come before a committee and tell it the facts."

"Senator, your statement is facetious," Littleton said.

"Oh, it is not," returned Senator Walsh. "It is a statement of your argument."

To Pass Upon Power

The argument grew more and more heated. Finally Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, suggested that the power of congress to compel attendance of witnesses should be passed upon as quickly as possible. Littleton agreed but was unable to advance a method by which the question could be settled.

REBELS EVACUATE PUERTO, MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 21. (By the Associated Press) Puerto, Mexico has been evacuated by the rebels following the capture of Minatitlam, according to a despatch from War Secretary Serrano, and the port now is occupied by federal forces under Generals Vicente, Gonzales and Juan Dominguez. The rebels embarked for Frontera. The rebel gunboat Zaragoza, and other vessels were bombed by a government airplane, while putting out to sea. Reports persist that Adolfo de la Huerta, head of the rebellion, sailed from Frontera early this week, en route to Galveston, Tex., but there is no confirmation from any soure.

1000 DEATHS FROM INFLUENZA IN WEEK

LONDON, March 21.—The influenza epidemic throughout the country is subsiding though the deaths from the disease last week numbered nearly 1000.

TO SIDETRACK REVENUE BILL FOR BONUS

WASHINGTON, March 21. The movement to sidetrack the revenue bill in the senate finance committee to permit immediate consideration of the soldier bonus bill gained momentum today, and a decision on the question is momentarily expected.

None of the rate schedules in the revenue bill have been taken up and some members argue that, before a decision is attempted on the proposed tax reductions, the amount of revenue called for in bonus and other pending measures should be determined. If the revenue bill is kept before the committee, however, members believe a decision on the income tax schedules could be reached within a few days.

ULSTER REFUSES TO ACT

Negotiations for Delimitation of Boundary Breakdown—Deadlock Continues

LONDON, March 21—The negotiations looking toward delimitation of the boundary between northern and southern Ireland, initiated by Premier MacDonald soon after assuming office, have finally broken down and action by the British government is necessary to solve the deadlock, the newspapers declare.

The discussions in Ireland which followed the conference in London a few weeks ago, have had no result, it is stated, Ulster still refusing to appoint a representative.

NORTH DAKOTA'S 13 VOTES FOR COOLIDGE

FARGO, N. D., March 21.—North Dakota's 13 votes in the republican national convention at Cleveland will be cast for President Calvin Coolidge.

That was definitely assured today, with only a few scattering returns remaining to be tabulated from Tuesday's presidential preference endorsement primary in North Dakota.

Corrected figures from 1820 precincts of 2058 in the state gave President Coolidge 47,835 votes; Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, 34,008, and Senator Hiram Johnson of California, 30,167.

Johnson's North Dakota headquarters has conceded President Coolidge's victory and the remaining precincts to be heard from are not expected to change the figures materially.

McAdoo's Lead Increased

ATLANTA, Ga., March 21. Belated returns from the Georgia state democratic presidential preferential primary brought William G. McAdoo's probable total voting strength in the state convention April 22 to 320 delegates. Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama will have 84 delegates, returns indicated.

Mr. McAdoo will have the support of the 28 members of the Georgia delegation in the national democratic convention.

G. O. P. LEADERS WORK OUT PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 21—Republican leaders in the house devoted much of their time today to working out a legislative program preparatory to their conference with President Coolidge tonight to discuss plans for speeding up action on important measures. The president is planning to hold a similar conference later with senate leaders.

President Coolidge, among other subjects, is expected to emphasize at tonight's conference his desire, shared by the house leaders, that congress complete its work in ample time to adjourn before the June convention.

INVITATION PARTY IN CHELMSFORD

Chelmsford Centre Grange hall was the scene of a delightful party Monday evening and there was abundant pleasure for all. It was an invitation St. Patrick's day party, sponsored by two well known young ladies, and the affair was a splendid social success.

The decorative scheme was tasteful, blending green and white with a pretty display of shamrocks, making the scene inviting and charming. Dancing was the chief diversion and a feature of the evening was a novelty dance wherein the distribution of favors added considerable zest to the program. At intermission ices were served.

The matrons were Mrs. Andrew Molloy, Mrs. William H. Gallagher and Mrs. P. F. Mahoney. The young ladies who so capably managed the event were Miss Anna Marie Welch and Miss Claire Molloy of the office force of the Saco-Lowell shops.

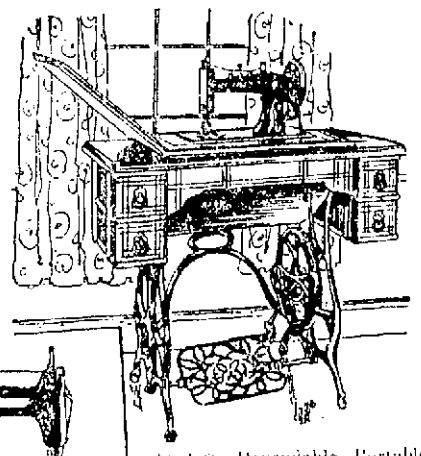

$15,000 VERDICT AGAINST STATE SENATOR

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21.—A jury in federal court last night returned a verdict for $15,000 in favor of Paul R. White, district of Columbia youth, in his suit for $50,000 damage against T.-J. Knabb, state senator, for abuse and mistreatment while he was a prisoner in Mr. Knabb's Baker county convict camp in 1923.

GLENWOOD RANGE
ABSOLUTELY FREE

In exchange for the oldest Glenwood Range in Lowell. This old range may be seen in our window and is a Model 7, patented 1870, and placed on the market in 1877, making it 47 years old, and it bakes as good today as it did on the day it was sold.

AN INTERESTING STORY ABOUT THE PROGRESS OF THE WEIR STOVE CO.

The Glenwood Range had a small beginning. It started 47 years ago in a barn with three young men, William E. Walker as a skilled moulder, George E. Wilbur as designer and patern-maker, and Charles F. Baker as foundry foreman. They all turned carpenter to add a shed to their barn in order to accommodate their melting furnace.

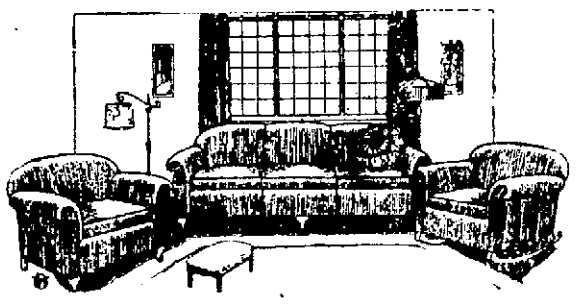

Their output, judged by modern standards of production, was ridiculous—four ranges a day. But they were good ranges, as this stove in our window, after constant use for 47 years, will prove without a shadow of a doubt.

The officials have realized that good merchandising methods were essential for the promotion of Glenwood products and for years have been associated with Mr. Leharon Atherton in operating a chain of furniture stores in many New England cities, where it is possible to purchase one of the famous Glenwood Ranges regardless of your income.

In conjunction with Chalifoux's 49th Anniversary Sale, we are going to place on sale for one week many exceptional values, some of which are listed below. These specials may be found on the third, fourth and fifth floors of the Chalifoux Building.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Interesting Address by Past Worthy President Strine—Other Features

Members of Lowell Erie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and their women folks were entertained last night in Liberty hall with an interesting address on "The Principles, Aims and Accomplishments of the Fraternal Order of Eagles" by Past Worthy, President George A.

THOMAS F. QUINN
Worthy President

Strine, of York, Penn., short addresses on the order by local men well known in fraternal circles, and an entertaining program of songs, recitation and dances by local talent.

The meeting was opened by Worthy President Thomas F. Quinn of Lowell Aerie, who, in setting forth the reason for the meeting, spoke of the Thos. F. Quinn class which is now being organized and called attention to the growth of the Lowell aerie to its present membership of 2760, which, he said, will be increased to well over the 3000 mark by the Thomas F. Quinn class. He then introduced as chairman of the evening, Hon. James E. O'Donnell. Mr. O'Donnell also spoke briefly on the order and its aims and then called upon Mayor John J. Donovan.

Mayor Donovan praised the members for their fine showing at the meeting and urged them to be true to the principles of the order. On behalf of the city he welcomed Mr. Strine, the principal speaker of the evening.

Following the mayor's address, the following entertainment program was given: Songs, Miss Frances Tighe; readings, Miss Margaret Mahoney; songs, James E. Donnelly; specialty dancing, Carr children; medley of songs, Dion sisters. The accompanist of the evening was Mrs. Alice L. McLaughlin.

Upon the completion of the entertainment program, Mr. O'Donnell introduced Mr. Strine as one man who is thoroughly familiar with the order of Eagles and who was to tell the history of the order and its principles.

Mr. Strine's address in part follows:

"Did you ever hear of the Brotherhood of Good Things? Probably not. Few people have, and those who may have known it at some time in the past doubtless have forgotten that such an organization ever existed.

Started in a humble way, as most really great things are, the brotherhood still lives and although it has now expanded into a nationally known organization far beyond the dreams of its organizers, it original spirit still lives in the deeds of those who are carrying on the work.

"Twenty-five years ago in the city of Seattle, Wash., six men, all interested in one another, met to discuss certain problems they shared in common. There with true American spirit they seated themselves on a lumber piles in Moran's shipyard and between the puffs of their pipes and the strokes of their busy jack knives they banded themselves together for the promotion of their mutual interests, choosing for the name of the group, 'The Brotherhood of Good Things.' From that half serious, half jocular beginning when those six men promised to aid and abet one another in their work and play, has grown the Fraternal Order of Eagles, a mighty organization, in which 750,000 men in every section of the United States are standing shoulder to shoulder for the promulgation of the four cardinal principles recognized by the men who sat together on the lumber pile—liberty, truth, justice and equality.

"With inspiration gained from the symbol of the order, the eagle, the organization has always taken steadfast stand for the patriotic principles for which the nation is founded.

"Americanism unqualified has ever been one of the guiding principles of the fraternity. This, together with the colors of the louge, red, white and blue; the flag, the Stars and Stripes, and the symbol of the eagle, are the foundation upon which the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands.

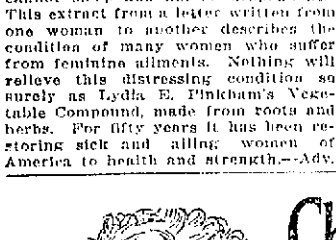

"During the World war the younger members were urged to join the colors and those who stayed at home paid a generous tax that was used to help the families of their brother warriors. For every brother who died in the service the sum of $1000 was paid his family, and when the men came home and were discharged from the army they were presented a receipt for one year's dues. The Fraternal Order of Eagles has distributed to this date $1,503,000 in gratuities to their heroic sacrifice.

"Second only to this principle of Americanism stands its work in charitable and humanitarian enterprises. Since its organization the Eagle fraternity has proved its devotion to its founders by keeping alive the spirit of "good things" in its efforts to alleviate suffering everywhere.

"The workmen's compensation law, the widow's pension law, child labor laws and eight hour day are some of the great measures the Fraternal Order of Eagles has championed in the past. And it now is fighting in every state for an old age pension law."

Mr. Strine dealt at length with the problem of old age pensions and said in conclusion after outlining its benefits: "The difficulties facing the old, under present conditions, cannot be solved through individual effort. And the present cost of our hap-hazard provisions for the aged, in actual money spent; in industrial inefficiency resulting from it; in suffering and personal degradation—are too stupendous to be permitted to continue. On the other hand, the benefits to be derived from a constructive plan of state assistance in terms of loyalty to the commonwealth and nation; in contentment and greater industrial efficiency; in independency and thrift—and in the family solidarity,—are too numerous and pregnant with potentialities for good to be delayed much longer.

"Organized for service to humanity the work is being carried on day by day for the upbuilding of the nation, the home, and the fraternity. Such has been briefly the history of the Fraternal Order of Eagles written in the spirit of good things that promised in its founding."

Rheumatic Pains Go Swollen Joints Vanish

Rheuma—The Only Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Sciatica. Money Back If It Doesn't Satisfy

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints, thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma; the modern enemy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, gout and chronic neuralgia.

Don't be sceptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't think because Rheuma is not expensive that it won't bring you back to health. There is no guess work about it. That's why Green's Drug Store and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.—Adv.

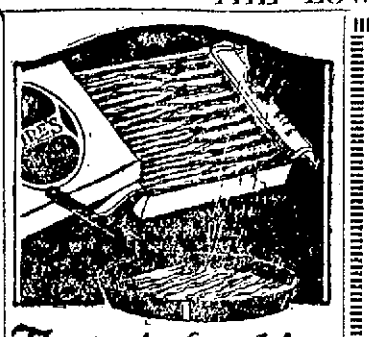

Women a Bundle of Nerves

"Everything irritates me,—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.—Adv.

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—The senate committee investigating the internal revenue bureau proceeded with its inquiry today while awaiting a reply from the bureau to its request for a report on the circumstances of the reduction from $23,000,000 to $5,000,000 of a tentative additional tax assessment against the Standard Oil Co.

Testimony relating to the Standard Oil assessment was given yesterday by E. V. Rossmoore, former section chief in the bureau and now a tax accountant practicing before the bureau with the Standard Co. among his clients and the committee asked the bureau for a report on the case, if not incompatible with the law requiring secrecy as to tax returns. Field Agent Gueruson of the bureau, who proposed the additional assessment against the company, later resigned and now is employed in Rossmoore's office in New York.

The art of cooking Arlington Bacon

To serve Arlington Bacon at its best, cook it with a moderate fire, turning each slice frequently. Cooked in this way Arlington Bacon is light brown in color, crisp and full of goodness.

Arlington Bacon may be fried, broiled or baked, but in each case turn often to brown it evenly and prevent curling. When crisp place on brown paper for a moment to drain. Serve hot.

With a special dry cure in pure cane sugar and fine table salt, and smoked in the fragrant aroma of smouldering hickory logs and mahogany chips, Arlington Bacon has a distinctive flavor that you'll heartily enjoy.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED BY BUSINESS MEN

An enjoyable "get-together" of about 40 Lowell contractors, builders, architects, plumbers and other members of the building crafts, was held at Cole's Inn last evening. Edward J. Cooney and other officials of the Lowell Gas Light company were also present, Mr. Cooney acting as presiding officer. Dinner preceded the program of business discussions.

Matters relating to cooperation in lines of endeavor in construction work in Lowell and vicinity, were brought up and defeated. A feature of the meeting was the lecture given by H. J. Long of New Brunswick, N. J., whose topic was "Heating Water by Gas." General Manager Charles R. Prichard of the local gas light company, also spoke.

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done, and Done Right Quick, Too

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which any druggist will tell you al about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh-producing vitamins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste, and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back and only 60 cents a box. Ask Liggett's, Green's Drug Store, A. W. Lowe & Co., Fred Howard or any live pharmacist anywhere.—Adv.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS OF WATER AT TIMES

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in tryin gto correct. Ty all trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

SPRING USHERED IN BY SEVERE STORM

CHICAGO, March 21.—Spring is being ushered in by one of the year's worst snow storms. Three storms, according to the weather man, are scattering the snow from lakes to gulf through the northern Rocky mountains region, the central valleys, over the plains states, and lakes area.

In the southwest, winter merged into spring at 3.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon with record snows on the ground. Portions of Oklahoma lay under a blanket from a few inches to 16 inches deep at Muskogee, and in the vicinity of Kansas City, Kas., the ground was covered with more than two feet of snow.

Chicago fell under the sweep of a half gale from the north which drove the snow all night in a blinding blizzard.

In St. Louis the snow blocked traffic and crippled railroad, telegraph and telephone service. A number of accidents also were caused by the eight-inch fall.

From Indiana and Illinois points early testimony came as to the severity of the March blizzard.

Nowhere, however, was the temperature reported severe. In some places the snow melted as it fell and throughout the storm affected area the thermometer was reported clinging closely to 32 degrees above zero.

Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after Paschal full moon.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

HIALTO THEATRE

Gouverneur Morris drew a vivid word picture of life as it sears the girl who tries to defy conventions, when he wrote: "You Can't Get Away With It." William Fox has put the picture on the screen, giving it realism and wider scope. An audience at the opening performance yesterday, appeared to enjoy the drama through every foot of reel.

Percy Marmont, as wealthy merchant, unhappily married, who wins the love of a pretty girl employed, performs with a mastery of technique and feeling that marked his notable work as Mark Sabre in "If Winter Comes," a role by the way, similar in many respects to this one. Betty Bouton appears as the wealthy girl who, forced to earn a living when her family fortune is wrecked, is unable to meet life's demands because of her earlier lack of training. She sells out, accepting love and luxury for her virtue, only to learn that you can't get away with it. An able cast, consisting of Malcom MacGregor, Barbara Tennant, Clarissa Selwyn, Grace Morse and Charles Cruz, performs its work with remarkable natural ability. The play was directed by Rowland V. Lee, who saw to it that no detail was omitted in scenes or acting that would weaken the original plot.

"You Can't Get Away With It" is good entertainment and, moreover, it sends you home with the thought that a lot of people are fools to try anything the world will not condone.

There are sheiks and sheiks, but Robert Frazer who plays the leading role in "When the Desert Calls," is a new kind of a desert chieftain and shows that an American sheik is the mightiest of them all. El-Din he calls himself and is mistaken by many for a son of Arabby, although his name is Eldred Caldwell, formerly of the Anglo-American bank in a city on the edge of the Sahara desert in Northern African. Huntley Gordon, Violet Heming, Sheldon Lewis, Barney Sherry and other notable stars have important roles in this picture.

An Imperial Fox comedy with Harry Sweet and a Fox News are also included in the program.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

In "Fashion Row," the feature attraction of the current program at the Merrimack Square theatre, vivacious Mae Murray has outdone herself in gorgeous creations of apparel. There is a different costume for every scene.

In the role of two sisters, one the tragedienne idolized on Broadway, and the other a ragged peasant Russian girl, Miss Murray is amazing. One moment she dazzles you with her vivacity and the next she grips you with the drama and passion of her acting. Unquestionably her performance in "Fashion Row" eclipses all her other astonishing achievements. She is supported by an able cast.

The surrounding program includes Herbert Rawlinson in "The Victor," Will Rogers in his latest comedy, "Hustling Hank," another Boston Post prize film, "Neighbors of the Wire," and the latest International News.

THE STRAND

If you haven't seen "Duley" with Constance Talmadge, picture now showing at The Strand, then don't fail during today or tomorrow. This clever comedienne is seen in one of her best picturizations. "Duley" shows what trouble can be caused by a young wife who knows little or nothing about her husband's business, but insists on trying to help. Instead she hinders. The story has many laughs and humorous sayings. The second feature is a Universal special called "The Night Message," with an all-star cast, while the Weekly and comedy are excellent. It's a good program. Don't miss it.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

WAS INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Miss Mabel Burnham, aged 12 years, of Billerica, is at St. John's hospital suffering from lacerations to her head and minor bruises received early last evening when the automobile she was riding in figured in a collision in Mann square.

The accident occurred at 6.30 o'clock. Miss Burnham was riding in a machine operated by Gustaf Schultz which was coming down Gorham street towards the city at the time of the accident. When at Highland street a machine operated by Louis Wolff turned onto Gorham street in the path of Schultz's machine, and the two machines clashed. Both machines were badly damaged by the impact.

PLANNED OVERTHROW OF CUBAN GOVERNMENT

NEW YORK, March 21.—Unaware that charges against him of fomenting revolution had been withdrawn in Havana on Tuesday, while he was on the high seas, Gen. Carlos Garcia y Velez, Cuban minister to Great Britain, last night asserted 100,000 armed Cubans were ready to overthrow their government if it did not reform.

Gen. Velez, pallid and nervous, debarked last night from the Esequibo from Nassau, Bahamas, where for six months he had evaded police trying to serve Cuban warrants on him. He boarded the Esequibo last Saturday at midnight, disguised with a full beard and wearing tattered clothes. He was clean shaven when he alighted.

The allegations against Gen. Velez and others of the veterans and Patriots' association of revolutionary activity last fall were dismissed in a decree signed by President Zayas and Secretary of Justice Reguciferos.

Dr. Sylussey was licensed by the state board of health April 3, 1922, when he presented a certificate purporting to have been signed by eight prominent Woonsocket physicians, attesting to the fact that he had been a practicing osteopath in that city since 1911.

ARRANGE PROGRAM OF UNIQUE INTEREST

Few lecturers have received as high praise from such widely different sources as has Miss Edith Margaret Snaill, whose lecture recital on the "Habitant" of Old Quebec is to be given at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium next Sunday afternoon, as an event in the Parker course. After more than a year in Europe, Miss Snaill appeared in London and the Times said she had "won for herself an enviable reputation for her artistic and unique recitations." The critic of the London Morning Post wrote: "Her appearance was so charming and her personality so captivating that she succeeded in accomplishing the almost impossible—that is, she succeeded in compelling an audience of home-keeping English people to understand the French-Canadian 'habitant' and to feel the compulsion as pleasurable in the extreme."

The celebrated Canadian author who writes on "Ralph Connor" said: "You surprised me not only with your evident and thorough knowledge of the French-Canadian and his surroundings, but also by your perfect appreciation of and sympathy with his spirit. Your rendering of Drummond's poems was simply exquisite."

The lantern pictures which Miss Snaill is to use are from the original paintings made to illustrate Sir William Henry Drummond's works and are the only set available for this purpose—as honor done for Miss Snaill by the author because of his high appreciation of her work.

The song recital on the same Parker program Sunday afternoon should prove a treat to music lovers. Fenwick Newell, the brilliant young tenor from New York, is to sing two groups of songs in which will be included such favorites as Kahn's "Ave Maria," Leoni's "Birth of Morn," Massenet's "Le Reve" and Kreisler's "The Old Refrain."

Mr. Newell has completed twelve years' work as a soloist in recitals and has toured from coast to coast a score of times, singing in every state but Florida. His voice is of remarkable purity and sweetness and his personality quickly wins the good will of his audience.

MEETING OF FOURTH DEGREE KNIGHTS

Bishop Delany General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus held its regular monthly meeting last evening and transacted a grist of routine business, besides hearing from several of the important committees of the assembly, chiefly the exemplification committee. A very large number of applications were read and the officers expressed themselves as delighted with the status of the preliminary plans. The committee on the dinner submitted a report having to do with the recent affair and it was accepted. Resolutions were unanimously adopted on the death of the mother of Rev. James F. Lynch, faithful friar of the assembly, whose funeral took place in Boston recently.

It was voted to accept the recommendation of the committee that a "smoker" be held on April 3. The unparalleled success of the assembly's last affair of this character warrants the prediction that the next will be a big affair. Further details will be announced later.

Rev. James F. Lynch spoke appreciatively of the kindness of the members of the assembly in his recent bereavement, and then spoke earnestly in reference to the great degree here, stressing the necessity of every member aiding with all his energy in the plans. He regarded the occasion as a singular honor to Lowell and said that every organization would inevitably suffer if men did not aid in projects of this sort. He said the spirit manifested at the meeting was commendable and urged a continuance of such earnest effort.

Other speakers were Sir Knights Charles J. Landers, William H. Gallagher, Andrew Molloy, John J. O'Connor, Albert E. O'Heir, John T. Burns, Charles F. Hunt, Edward F. Saunders, Chris McSorley, Thomas Donnelly and John T. Buckley.

LENT IN THE HOLY LAND

BETHSAIDA, ON THE SEA OF GALILEE, figures prominently in the New Testament. It was the home of Peter, Andrew and Philip. It was near here that the multitude was fed with five loaves and two fishes, and here, in one of his early miracles, Christ healed a blind man. Several sites have been pointed out as Bethsaida, but this village, known as El Tell, on the northern shore, is most favored.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION ENTERTAINED

Fully 500 members of the Christian Endeavor Union were entertained at the Y.M.C.A. last night, at the annual open house of the association. Clarence E. Towne, physical director of the "Y" had charge of arrangements for the affair. Miss Alice Dowrey, social secretary of the union, aided him in preliminary arrangements. Besides athletic competition of various sorts there was a life-saving exhibition in the swimming pool given by Mr. Towne. Merton J. Flemings, union president, was active in making the affair the success which it turned out to be. Candy and cake tables were operated by the Misses Margaret Mehr, Carrie Stewart, Marian Murray, Ida Dowrey, and Clara Chapman.

WAS INJURED BY OWN AUTOMOBILE

John Birsin, 72-year old mail carrier of Dunstable, was injured early last evening when he was run over by his own automobile. He received a fractured collar bone and was removed to the Lowell General hospital for treatment.

The accident occurred when Mr. Birsin cranked his car while the gears were in mesh. As the motor started the car also started and ran over him. Passers-by went to the assistance of Mr. Birsin and took him to the hospital while others ran after the car and finally succeeded in stopping it before it did any further damage.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Green's Drug Store, which will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Adv.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS MAKE A VISIT

WITH THAT SHE PICKED UP A TWIN IN EACH HAND

"And now," said the Beanstalk king kindly to the Twins, "how can we reward you for finding our lost treasure? We had only money left to keep us for 99 days, but now we will live in peace and comfort all the rest of our lives."

"I know what I should like, thank you," said Nick quickly. "I'd like to see the house where Jack's giant lived."

"So should I," cried Nancy. "And his wife, and the oven where she hid Jack, and the chair the giant sat in, and the table he pounded on, and the door he came through when he said 'Fe, fi, fo, fum!' "

"Your wish shall be granted," declared the Beanstalk king. "The cat shall take you there. Come, Dandy, and remember, no drains this time, or you shall do without your herring for a week!"

Dandy promised to be good, and lay down while the Twins crawled up on his silky soft back; then calling goodby to their friends, the three started down the road to the giant's house.

Mrs. Giant was out weeding her garden when she beheld the Twins riding in at the gate.

"Lands save us!" cried she. "There are two more of those children! Exactly the size of the little boy who came to Beanstalk Land and stole my husband's harp and magic hen, and then cut down the beanstalk! How do you do?" she said politely, as the Twins came near.

"Very well, thank you!" cried Nancy and Nick sliding down off Dandy's back. "Are you the giant's wife?"

Mrs. Giant laughed. "Which giant?" she asked. "Beanstalk Land is nothing but giants and most of them have wives."

"We mean the giant who said that he smelled the blood of an Englishman," explained Nick.

"Yes, I am that person," said Mrs. Giant. "What can I do for you?"

"We came to see you," said Nancy. "We have to go home soon and we thought we would stop for a few minutes before we left."

"That was very kind," said Mrs. Giant. "Do come in and I'll show you around. And as for you, Mister Cat, you'll find a bed of catnip in the garden. Help yourself."

With that she picked up a Twin in each hand and started into the house.

"This is the very door that Jack knocked on when he arrived in Beanstalk Land," she said. "And there is the oven I hid him in." And with that she showed them everything in the famous house.

"And now I'll show you the chicken-coop where we kept the hen that laid the golden eggs, also the place where the top of the beanstalk was."

But when they got there, the giant's wife cried out, "Why, here is the very beanstalk again! I thought that Jack had cut it down."

But the Twins explained that it was their very own beanstalk and not Jack's at all.

"We must be going now," said Nancy, "Thank you for being so kind. And say goodby to Dandy, please!"

"Goodby," said Mrs. Giant, setting them gently on the ground.

TURN DOWN REQUEST FOR WAGE INCREASE

Billerica selectmen have turned down a request filed by permanent firemen of the Billericas for more wages. Members Sheridan and Buck were opposed to and Member Sousa favored the wage increase proposition.

It was developed at last night's meeting of the selectmen that Billerica appropriated more money for its fire department to cover this year's expenses than did the combined towns of Chelmsford, Dracut and Tewksbury. The latter three towns appropriated a total of $11,605, while Billerica voters at the annual town meeting appropriated $12,000.

Street railway service through Billerica and North Billerica, was considered in lengthy debate, when the matter of readjusting service on local lines in order to meet demand of patrons, came up. It was proposed that the 6.37 a. m. car from North Billerica be started ahead of that time so as to make connection with the 6.47 a. m. train at Bennett Hall station on the Boston & Maine railroad, and also to have the 11.37 a. m. electric car stop at North Billerica postoffice five minutes for passengers from the 11.30 B. and M. train.

Nineteen Hundred Club

Nineteen Hundred club of Billerica had an interesting rally in Unitarian church vestry, yesterday afternoon, two playlets being given by club members under the personal direction of Mrs. Arthur P. Goodwin, chairman of the day. Mrs. Albert S. Bull directed the musical program and Mrs. Lewis F. Willard was chairman of the hospitality committee.

Among the members taking part in the playlets were Mrs. C. E. Howe, Mrs. O. S. Marshall, Mrs. S. A. McQuaid, Mrs. C. E. Vining, Mrs. Ellis Colgate, Mrs. A. H. Richardson, Mrs. S. K. Barnes. The president of the club, Mrs. William L. Walsh, presided.

AS TO ANNEXATION PLANS

As had been predicted, the Greater Lowell bill was beaten in the legislature by a considerable majority. Somehow, the members of the general court are opposed to annexation schemes just at present. They killed the Lawrence proposition for the annexation of Methuen and for no good reason that the friends of the movement can discover. It appears, however, that they do not want to disturb the legislative or congressional districts, at least for the present. They are afraid of destroying the status quo, just as are most unprogressive bodies. But for this feeling, many towns that are plodding along with poor roads and lack of progress everywhere, would be parts of thriving cities, all thickly settled and supplied with up to date municipal service, not only affording a supply of pure water, but excellent police and fire protection, sewerage and sanitation, together with up to date schools and improved highways.

That the legislature has defeated the Achin bill does not defeat the movement. The city council can appoint a commission to meet representatives of the towns with a view to reach an agreement in reference to what towns or parts thereof are willing to be annexed to Lowell. Some members of the legislature made wild statements indicating that we have designs on Wilmington and Tyngsboro, whereas such a thing is absolutely foreign to the movement which would not favor coercion in any form. The whole problem can be discussed between a local committee and representatives of the adjoining towns with a view to the voluntary transfer of additional territory to the city with legislative sanction.

It can hardly be expected that the legislature would reject a proposition for annexation, reached by mutual agreement of the parties concerned. The city council can handle the matter as well perhaps as could the commission contemplated in the Achin bill. There are parts of the adjoining towns that want to be annexed and they are so closely associated with the industrial life of this city that they should be added as soon as possible. Moreover, for the future welfare of the city we should take in as much territory as we can get within easy range of the business centre of Lowell, which is Kearney square.

ART AND SNOBBERY

Keep your hat on when visiting the art museum, urges A. S. Baylinson, secretary of an artists' organization in New York. Says he:

"We want people to get away from the sort of backwoods idea many Americans have of art and art exhibitions, which leads them to take off their hats, talk in whispers and tip-toe around a gallery. Most Americans do that to show their respect for art. And that is all Americans have, respect. They have no love or understanding of it."

Mr. Baylinson is wrong in regard to the loud talking. If everybody gabbles out their impression of what they see in the art museum, a great many visitors would leave in disgust. Better keep on whispering. This critic apparently thinks it strange that the great masses of humanity know but little of art works. Perhaps they know as much about art as he knows of the machinery on which a large proportion of the people are employed in factories. How much, for example, would he know of the looms and other machines in a cotton or woolen mill? Less perhaps than the average visitor to the art museum knows of real art.

THE BONUS BILL

The bonus bill has been passed by the national house by a sweeping majority. It will now go to the senate and there is much curiosity as to what will be its fate in that body.

The bill provides twenty-year endowment insurance policies for the veterans. By the time the policies arrive at maturity about one-fifth of the veterans will be dead. The bill is but a political makeshift and it would have been much better had the whole matter been deferred until such time as a satisfactory measure could have been provided. Nevertheless the plan involves an outlay of $2,000,000.

It is quite likely that the bill will be amended by the senate and that in the modified form, it will be sent to the president, who will veto it if he keeps his promise that no bonus can be provided at this session of congress. The fight would then come upon passing the measure over the president's veto. It may be passed readily by the house; but whether two-thirds of the senate would send it over the veto is doubtful.

THE REFERENDUM

Senators are discussing the suggestion that amendments to the constitution should be ratified by a direct vote of the people. Either that method or the vote of a legislature elected after the amendment has been submitted, would be preferable to the present arrangement. A popular referendum is the ideal form of popular government. It is direct contact—direct government of, by and for the people.

When our government was started citizens were scattered through a wilderness. There were no trains, very little mail service, so it was necessary to leave the great matters of government in the hands of elected officials. A referendum would have been impossible. But transportation and communication now are so rapid and thorough that these original objections to a referendum, as a working proposition, are removed.

Legislatures might be corrupted by the use of money, but it is difficult to bribe or mislead any large proportion of the people on popular rights.

OUR DOLLAR

The dollar of 1914 is now worth only 60 cents. That is due to the decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar or in other words to the high cost of living. Some would call it inflation of the currency. Those who have had money in the bank since 1914, find that every $100 is now worth only $60. It is not expected that the dollar will ever return to its normal value in 1914; but it is difficult to make any accurate predictions in regard to such matters as continual changes of this kind are always in progress. Like the price of ordinary commodities entering into the cost of living, the purchasing power of the dollar rises and falls in accordance with fixed economic laws.

HEALTH EDUCATION

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company projected a competition for 50 university scholarships to be offered for the best health program for the school year of 1923-24. Already it is reported that 1600 elementary school teachers in about fifty of the larger cities of the country have entered the competition. This should bring out some valuable hints in school hygiene and regulations for the promotion of health and the prevention of disease. The teachers know how such rules can best be enforced, but the competition is open.

FOREST FIRES

Uncle Sam's 146 national forest reserves were visited by nearly 10 million people last year, it is announced. Eight millions came in privately owned autos.

The auto is taking us back to nature. As we increasingly invade the forests and use them for playgrounds, let us remember that fire is the most formidable agency of forest destruction and prevention of reforestation.

Four-fifths of the big forest fires are started by people careless with campfires, matches, cigarets and pipes. Be cautious in the woods.

SHOULD BE DEFEATED

The Cummins-Vaile bill now before congress would change the present law against sending birth control propaganda through the mails and provide absolute freedom for the advocates of this fad in sending their literature far and wide throughout the land. It is to be hoped that the bill will be defeated. It is rather surprising to find Senator Cummins, who had distinguished himself as chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, leading such a movement.

GREAT MOTOR ROADS

It may not be generally known that the United States possesses the longest paved motor road in the world in the Pacific highway running from Vancouver, B. C., along the Pacific coast to the Mexican border, a distance of 1176 miles. It will soon have similar roads from the Atlantic to the Pacific, when the Lincoln highway shall have been completed.

Readers of the New York Herald and Tribune now find both merged in one under both names. Readers will naturally be curious to note whether the leading characteristics of the composite paper will more closely resemble the Herald or the Hide-bound Republican Tribune. The Herald was an excellent paper, and we rather regret that its identity is to be merged with the Tribune even though the latter was founded by Horace Greely.

The California Democrat published at Los Angeles is certainly a live party sheet; but it seems to be published entirely in the interest of Mr. McAdoo. It states that President Coolidge owes the democratic party a debt of gratitude for helping him get rid of Denby and possibly one or two other officials who betrayed the public trust.

Still the deadlock prevails at congress over the tax reduction bill. Unless congress enacts some measure that will materially reduce the present heavy tax burdens, the republican party may as well abandon all hope of success in the national election. In view of recent developments its chance in any case will be very slight.

It must have been remarked of late that the materials used in building construction have undergone a radical change. Cement, reinforced concrete and artificial stone are now prominent in nearly all first class buildings. As a result the buildings recently erected show more architectural beauty than structures of the old style.

Senator Walsh of Montana, who brought forward the investigation of the oil scandal in the United States senate, is a genuine democrat, a statesman, in whose record the republicans can find neither spot nor blemish. After a period of illness, he is back directing the investigation.

Now Charles W. Eliot starts upon the final lap of his century run. It is the wish of the American people that he will successfully reach the goal and of this there is little doubt considering his present robust health and his saving optimism.

SEEN AND HEARD

Spring is here. Get down the shovel and the hoe and hang up the fiddle and the bow.

We are glad to learn that the letter carrier whose picture appeared in The Sun Wednesday is very much pleased.

A Thought

A friend may well be reckoned the masterpiece of nature.—Emerson.

His Dream

Two brothers were exchanging compliments, as brothers will, regarding their respective girl friends. "I hope you're not suffering from any hallucination that your girl is a raving beauty," sneered the elder. "I sure am," replied the younger Pettersby, "and I'm going to continue to hug my illusion!"

The Successful Man

The successful man was addressing a class and exhorting them to cultivate a taste for good books. "My young friends," he said, "you should not only read good books, but you should own them in order to have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a boy I used to work all night to get money to buy books, and got up before dawn to read them."

Wanted to Find Out

Mr. Wiggles, who has a polite way of being rude to persons who deserve it, was paid a visit the other morning by an undesirable who usually broke into Wiggles' privacy regardless of all etiquette. This morning, however, owing to the mat being occupied by a large dog, he paused and knocked. "Walk right in," called Wiggles; "don't mind the dog." "But will he bite?" was asked cautiously. "That's what I want to find out," was the reply. "I only bought him yesterday."

His Own Fault

Old Sandy was before the court for about the 100th time on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The old Scottish magistrate listened with grave attention while the evidence was being given, although there was never really any doubt about Sandy's guilt—he was well known in all the local taverns. "Ah, Sandy, you were drunk," said the magistrate. "You must pay 5 shillings or go to prison for seven days." "But," protested the prisoner, "I have only two shillings in the world." "O, well," returned the dispenser of justice as he signalled for the next prisoner to be brought in, "if you had not got drunk with your money you would have had enough to pay the fine."

Some Stories, We'll Say

Two ex-snipers were "swapping" war tall stories. Said the first: "I was detailed to deal with a Fritz who had given our chaps trouble for days. Locating my man, I fired just as Fritz—according to witnesses—blazed off at me. Nothing happened. I kept firing at Fritz, and apparently he kept shooting at me, with no result. At length, midway in No Man's Land, was seen rising a small hillock, which eventually obscured our view. This proved on me a heap of metal. So true had been our aim that the bullets had met in midair and dropped harmlessly on the same spot." The other sniper said: "I was told off to settle two Fritzies," he began, "but I only had one round of ammunition and could get no more. Nothing daunted, I stuck my bayonet in the ground in front of me and armed at the tip of the blade. The bullet hit the bayonet, split in two, and each half killed the German it was intended for."

Quiet Ways

This is my hour: these quiet ways,
These silver twilights, these golden days
These waving fields that stretch away
Beyond the verges of the day.

I watch the thin blue smoke-spires curl
To meet the clouds and there unfurl,
And like swept music from the sea—
My children's laughter comes to me.

A voice I love, that thrills me o'er—
Is crooning softly near the door
A lullaby; a night-bird calls,
And silently the twilight falls.

The cattle lowing in the lane
Are glad to be just home again;
And I am glad for peace-filled days
Where beauty walks in quiet ways.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Graduates of the 1923 citizens' military training camp which was held at Camp Devens in the month of August will be gratified to learn that the citizens' military training camp annual, which gives the history of the 1923 camp in pictorial and cartoon form, is now being distributed from the office of the chief of organization of the C.M.T.C. affairs at the headquarters of the First Corps Area. The publication of this book which serves to bring to the mind of last year's students many pleasant memories of their month at Camp Devens has been long delayed. The book which was published by Wright & Potter, is an excellent production and will no doubt be cherished by the students in years to come in the same way as the annual publications of the various colleges and preparatory schools throughout the United States.

Mrs. Claude V. Gibson, whose series of lectures on Current Events ended the day last with a most interesting discussion of the opium situation here and abroad, before the Lowell Guild members in Middlesex hall, is soon to leave for South America where she will study conditions among the natives. Mrs. Gibson has been practically around the globe in her travels, and as she expresses herself, "Nowhere have I found such primitive yet striking unstress as in Czecho-Slovakia." Mrs. Gibson is familiar with several languages, which knowledge she gathered in her travels.

The Parent Teachers associations in the various schools throughout the city are a source of much benefit to the members. They afford a close understanding between teacher, pupil and parent and should be encouraged. The social progress and the dainty lunches, sometimes prepared by the pupils themselves who often play host to the visitors, are to be commended.

City library reading rooms, up town and down today, are fairly runneth over with idle men, who seek this comfortably warm, pleasant and well lighted resting place each day in the week to pass away the time, shoot the breeze, nap, read and all the rest of the entertaining material of the types to be found in an up-to-date library. I am told that the increase of male visitors to the library basement and upstairs reading rooms has been most pronounced during the past few weeks. Indeed, the increase really went above the daily normal average about two months ago. Today, even at 9 o'clock in the morning, you will find the basement chairs around the reading tables filled with men out of work and trying to kill time in this way. The racks on the side of the basement close to the big windows, where men stand for hours at a time reading the daily newspapers here, there in back of them, for their period, always have a score of citizens poring over the pages of newsprint, apparently looking for nothing in particular except something that will take up his attention. It is rather pathetic at times—this crowd of out-of-workers—patiently endeavoring to relieve some of their troubles and possible worries by haunting the city library rooms for shelter and rest as well as something to help take their minds temporarily off what cares they may have, as they very often do have.

O, Mistress mine, where are you roaming?
Oh, stay and hear; your true love's coming,
That can sing both high and low:
Trip no farther, pretty sweeting;
Journeys end in lovers' meeting,
Every wise man's son doth know.

What is love? 'Tis not hereafter;
Present mirth hath present laughter;
What's to come is still unsure:
In delay there lies no plenty;
Then come kiss me, Sweet-and-Twenty,
Youth's a stuff will not endure.

—William Shakespeare.

NEW LEADING MAN STARTS REHEARSALS

Joseph Flynn, new leading man for the stock players at the Academy of Music, came here from Manchester yesterday to rehearse here today for "Twin Beds," the first stock show which Mr. Barhydt will offer at the Academy of Music. Mr. Flynn has been rehearsing in Manchester for the past two days and comes here after a long engagement in stock in Springfield. Charlie McDonald, clever juvenile, who appeared at the Opera House this season in "The Lion and the Mouse" and "Little Old New York," will play the juvenile roles. Miss Shirley Dinsdale better known as Shirley Mayrath, will play the leading feminine role. Jack Ravold, formerly stage director of the Al Luttringer unit here, and later with the Luttringer units in Bridgeport and Manchester, will direct the new company.

The seat sale which started yesterday has been well up to expectations. The ticket office at the Academy is open until 9 o'clock each evening this week and reservations for next week's show for "The Cat and the Canary" and "Irene," which follows, may be made now. The phone number is 7057. The old Opera House attaches are in the box office.

AT ASSOCIATE HALL

Miner-Doyle's orchestra will be on deck tomorrow night to furnish the music for dancing at Associate hall. All the latest and popular numbers are being played by this team. The dancing floor has been recently polished and is in the best of condition. Admission tomorrow night is 50 cents, with checking free.

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

There is much ado in England; much that shouldn't be ado. At least that's how the people feel about. Perhaps it's no concern to me or no concern to you, but 'tis to England, don't you ever doubt it.

The Prince of Wales, a likely lad and sportsman through and through, of course, is heir-apparent to the throne. It also is apparent that whatever he may do, to all the world it's very shortly known.

The game of steeplechasing is the pleasure of the prince; there's nothing he would rather do than ride. But, while he is enjoying it, the English people wince whenever Royal Eddie gets astride.

A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse, Bill Shakespeare said; and that's the phrase the Britishers recall. For they're afraid that riding's going to be the end of Ed, and hence they wince when'er he takes a fall.

There's credit due a fellow who can ride a racing nag and folks admire his nerve and grit, of course. But if the hobby, steeplechasing's got to be his gag, they'd rather he would ride a hobby horse.

TRIAL OF LUDENDORFF AND HITLER NEARS END

MUNICH, March 21—The trial of General Ludendorff, Adolph Hitler and their codefendants, charged with treason for their part in the "putsch" of last November, neared a close today. Prosecutor Stenglein, addressing the court, demanded eight years imprisonment for Hitler, two years for General Ludendorff, and from one year to six years for the other defendants.

The prosecutor recommended that the prisoners serve their terms in what is known as "fortress confinement," as usual for political offenders, under which prisoners have a considerable degree of freedom.

FIRE IN AUTOMOBILE

A slight blaze in an automobile owned by Leo Hogan at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets shortly after 11.20 this morning resulted in a still alarm being sounded at the central fire station. One company was despatched to the scene and a single chemical line directed at the heart of the blaze soon had the fire extinguished.

According to the report of the accident given the police by Shaheen, he was driving slowly down Rogers street, and at a point near Hanks, someone called to him from the sidewalk that he had struck a woman. He looked round and saw Miss Maker lying on the roadway. The ambulance was immediately summoned and the injured woman was rushed to St. John's hospital, where examination showed her to be suffering from a fracture of the right arm near the shoulder, a cut near the wrist and internal injuries.

Her name was placed on the dangerous list and she remained in a serious condition until her death early this morning.

Miss Maker was born in Northport, Me., but she has been prominent in the business and social life of this city for many years. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Edna Kileski and Mrs. Clara Knowlton, both of Lowell, and Mrs. Elizabeth Singhi of New York.

The captain of the winning company will be named colonel of the regiment, and so on down the line until all offices are filled. The lieutenants and other officers of the winning companies whose captains are promoted, will all be advanced one step in rating.

This is the third year that this method of choosing regimental officers has been in force. Prior to three years ago, the regimental officers were chosen by the results of a written examination. Major Colby T. Kittredge, military instructor of the regiment, believes the new system is much more successful as the regimental officers are chosen from the captains who have shown their ability to drill their companies and are thus fit to drill the regiment.

Somerville Boy Outclasses Worcesterite in Moody Club Main Event—Wally Theroux Defeats Lefty Williams in Semi-final—Other Bouts

Willie Gradwell of Somerville won the decision over Tommy Leahy of Worcester in the main event of ten rounds at the Moody club show in Crescent rink last night.

Gradwell outweighed Leahy by three pounds, according to announcement. The weighs were given as Gradwell 141½ and Leahy 138½. Both appeared to be in good condition.

Leahy looked good in the early rounds, using his long left to the head cleverly and crossing with the right effectively. Gradwell soon solved his attack and after the fourth found the Somerville man went to the front never to be headed. Gradwell would evade Leahy's leads and close in, to rattle the Worcester boy's body with short, stiff jolts.

Leahy drew the blood from Gradwell's nose in the third round, while Gradwell opened up a gash over Leahy's right eye in the seventh. These were the only damaging blows of the fight. There were no knock downs and at no time during the fight did either boy appear in distress.

The bout marked Leahy's best local appearance and while he showed flashes of the class that made him famous in Worcester a few seasons ago he did not maintain the speed of other days. Gradwell's greater weight proved a factor in the battle for the Somerville veteran who is onto all tricks of the game, knew how to use it to advantage. Some of the Worcester fans who accompanied Leahy to Lowell said he left a sick bed to train for the fight, but that he was away off his form. Be that as it may, Gradwell had it on him last night and had little difficulty once he took the lead to hold it until the final gong.

Just before the main bout got under way Phinney Boyle of Lowell was introduced to meet the winner of the bout at next week's show.

In the semi-final Wally Theroux of Nashua added another victory to his list. He met Lefty Williams of Lowell who came on as a substitute. Wally subjected the local boy to a terrific bombardment, but "Lefty" stood up there and took it gamely. The Nashua boy tried everything in his repertoire, but he could not put over a decisive blow. There was no question as to the winner. The only question was how Williams stood up under such an incessant attack. He did and for his performance he won many admirers.

In the first bout of the evening Frankie Green of Lawrence knocked out Ray Lancaster, also of the down-river city in the first round. It marked Green's first appearance here since he sustained a broken jaw at the hands of Nick Madonna several months ago. Up until the Madonna bout Green had piled up quite a record as a knockout artist. His return to the ring last night made a great hit with his many local friends.

Tommy Leonard of Lowell knocked out Young Murray of Lynn in the second round of the second preliminary. This battle was a humdinger while it lasted with both flying and taking much punishment. Leonard proved the heavier hitter and earlier in the bout changing in the second stanza he shot to a vicious chest to the jaw and Murray was down and out.

Tip Quinn, who was at the bouts last night announced that he has resumed training with a view of returning to the game. He says he would like nothing better than to get a crack at Nick Madonna of Lawrence, feeling confident that he can beat him.

Eddie Sheehan and George Ward are to meet in Boston tonight and quite a Lowell delegation is going down to witness the battle.

Phinney Boyle, who will meet Willie Gradwell next week has been training for several weeks and is in fine condition. His appearance in the ring last night as a challenger was a welcome one.

Lowell Y.M.C.A. with a track team of 14 men entered, is favored to stand near the top in ratings at the big track meet to be staged tomorrow afternoon at the Boston "Y" when teams from 13 associations in Massachusetts and Rhode Island fight it out for the indoor Y.M.C.A. championship of the two states.

K. OF C. WINS SECOND LEG IN TOURNAMENT

For the second time within a month, members of the C.M.A.C. and the Knights of Columbus engaged in an all-around tournament, the "Casey" representatives winning last night's engagement in the C.M.A.C. rooms by the score of 26 to 22. The points were scored as follows:

Checkers, K. of C. 5, and C.M.A.C. 2; cribbage, K. of C. 2, and C.M.A.C. 2; pitch, K. of C. 11 and C.M.A.C. 8; pool, K. of C. 1, and C.M.A.C. 3; billiards, K. of C. 2 and C.M.A.C. 0; bowling K. of C. 1 and C.M.A.C. 1; whist, K. of C. 4, and C.M.A.C. 3.

Despite the loss of last night's contest, the C.M.A.C. is the winner of the series as they decisively defeated the Knights in the previous meeting. They were awarded the Frank Rieard trophy for their accomplishment. The presentation was made by E. F. Slattery, Jr., lecturer of Lowell council.

Besides the games, there were exhibition boxing bouts between the Demaras brothers in one bout, and Young Maille and Billy Nelson in another.

Joseph A. N. Chretien was master of ceremonies and was assisted by Alfred Roule, Jos. Arsenault, Wm. Daniels and President Zenon Chouinard.

TWO HARD-HITTING PITCHERS

The averages that pitchers carry with them to the bat will rather fail to bear out Ted Lyons, Jack Bentley, with an average of .500, was high among the giants, while Joe Bush with a mark of .125 showed the way to the Yankees.

HOLLOCHER HARD TO POOL

Shortstop Charley Hollocher, who refuses to report to the Chicago Cubs, because of a salary dill reason, is the hardest man in the National league to strike out. He whiffed once for three last season. Eddie Collins, with eight strikeouts, was the toughest fellow to fool the American leaguers.

JOE LYNCH DEFENDS HIS TITLE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 21.—For the first time since December, 1922, when he won a decision over Midget Smith of New York, Joe Lynch will defend his bantamweight crown tonight against Abe Goldstein of New York, in a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden.

The bout was booked following reinstatement by the state athletic commission of all boxers under ban prior to Feb. 15. Lynch was suspended after cancellation of a title fight with Joe Burman, Chicago battler, last October. Goldstein, substitution for Lynch, won the decision over Burman and was acclaimed 118-pound champion in New York state, but lost this recognition when the boxing board lifted all suspensions. Lynch's reinstatement was made upon acceptance of the match with Goldstein.

Lynch is one of the few champions who ever held a title, lost it and regained it again. He originally won the 118-pound championship from Pete Herman of New Orleans in 1920. The little New Orleans Italian won it back in 1921. Johnny Buff of Jersey City succeeded Herman and then lost it when knocked out by Lynch in July, 1922.

NEW YORK, March 21—Young Stribling, schoolboy lad, heavyweight boxer, who meets Mike McTigue for the world's championship March 31 at Newark, N. J., arrives today to train on the site of the battle, "Pa" and "Ma" and training partners accompany him from Florida, where he has been working out for two weeks.

BILL TILDEN TO QUIT TENNIS

BROOKLINE, March 21.—Positive declaration that 1924 would be his last year as a tennis player unless the ruling against writing for newspapers should be revoked, was made by William T. Tilden last night, here to take part in the national indoor mixed doubles tournament. Tilden said, however, that he would play with the Davis cup team this year, but that owing to the rule against writing enforced by the Olympic committee, he was ineligible to compete in the Olympic games for America.

"This is my last year as a tennis player," he said, "if the United States Lawn Tennis association and I cannot agree as regards the rule. I feel that I am wrong there, in writing about tennis for newspapers and playing the game, and have not changed my position and attitude and do not intend to be edified. Tilden said that he had received a request to the National association at New York yesterday asking that his position.

COLLEGE WRESTLERS MEET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 21—Yale and Penn State grapplers in dual intercollegiate wrestling competition meet tonight in the Yale gymnasium. Both teams have been undefeated in matches held in the intercollegiate wrestling tournament here today. Semi-finals will be completed tonight. The title will be decided in the final bouts tomorrow afternoon. Yale matmen were entered to serve Penn State's undefeated team for the championship. Cornell will be in the running for the championship last year, when Lehigh University, of Pennsylvania and Princeton of New Jersey entered. Penn State defeated Princeton, Lehigh and Pennsylvania recently in dual contests.

LOWELL VS. PROVIDENCE

Fourth Game of Inter-City Polo Series Tonight—Lowell Hopes to Even Count

With the count standing two to one against them, Lowell poloists are out to even up the score in tonight's game with Ned Dorr's Providence team at the Crescent rink.

Lowell lost the opening game of the series here a week ago tonight in overtime play, then dropped the second contest in Providence on the following night. Tuesday of this week the locals hit a winning stride and won the honors in a fast and good, 5-goal game.

Gaining victory, Manager Hart and his players enjoyed the experience and they are determined to have another first hooker. The team play has improved with each succeeding game, with "Wild Bill" Duggan and Hart becoming more familiar with each other's style and the other players fitting in perfectly.

"Wild Bill" has shown in this series that he is familiar with every angle of the game. Heretofore he starred as a "free lance," doing most of the hitting for his team. As a member of the Lowell team he is starring as an expert "feeder" and passer. In discussing his change of style Duggan says: "I realize that Hart is one of the hardest and most accurate drivers in polo, and whenever I see a chance to ripthe ball over to him I make the play. This strategy I can see is crossing up the opposition and the plan worked to advantage in the last game and is bound to prove successful in the coming contests."

"However," continued Bill, "they have nursed me 'wide' and I may at any time escape and pull the knockout. In citing the merits for the team, whether some one else or myself does the shooting is the plan Manager Hart has worked out, and I am trying to do my bit to put it across."

Manager Hart, who was the scoring star of the last game, feels the present Lowell line-up is capable of giving any team possible a battle. He says Duggan has a streak combination and that every contest will be hard fought, but he feels confident of ultimate success. To even up the score, tonight is his object and he and all members of his outfit are prepared to battle furiously to accomplish the task.

Fred Jean and his pals are coming to town with victory as their goal and they feel certain of handing the honors and returning to Providence for Saturday night's game with the count to one in their favor.

The Fiats polo quintet will play the Tylers at Crescent rink before the polo game tonight. The lineups will be: Fiats, fr, Serre, 2, Magerison; c, Leblanc; lg, Rondeau; rg, Banks. Tylers, fr, Stevens, c, Hurst; g, Tully; lb, Shorkinsky; rb, Mooney.

CELEBRATED THEIR FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Members of the Butler Athletic association, over 100 strong, gathered in the association's clubroom in Gorham street Wednesday night and celebrated the first anniversary of the organization with a splendid entertainment and social.

The meeting was opened by President John F. Considine who gave a short talk on the history of the club. Following Mr. Considine's talk, Thomas Clancy, aged 5 years, and John Clancy, aged 7, sons of John Clancy, gave a boxing exhibition with the father acting as referee. The youngsters "mixed it up" aplenty and furnished considerable fun.

The second feature was a four-round exhibition bout between Tommy Fall and James "Blondy" Corrigan. These boys went at it in great style and each of the four rounds was brimful of action.

Another feature on the program was "The Song Show," a vaudeville act by "Eddie" Donahue and "Johnny" Ball, Lowell's well known vaudeville artists, accompanied by Joseph Moriarty.

The complete program follows: Remarks, President John F. Considine; exhibition bout, John and Thomas Clancy; exhibition bout, Tommy Fall and Kid Hooker; solo, "Say it With a Ukelele," Jerry McMahon, accompanied by Joe Moriarty; solo, "Sweet Adeline," Raymond Cardonna; dance solo, Al Drain; quartet, "Dreamy Melody," Richard O'Malley, Al Drum, Jerry McMahon and Raymond Chardonnet; piano solo, Arthur Healy; "The Song Show," Eddie Donahue and Johnny Ball, accompanied by Jos. Moriarty.

500 PUPILS, DISMISSED BY FIRE IN SCHOOL, SEE RUTH KNOCK HOMER

"Babe" Promised to "Do His Stuff" and Kids Rejoiced When He Came Through With Circuit Clout—Meusel Signs Yankee Contract

NEW YORK, March 21.—A few hours after they had been calmly marched out of their flame swept building, 500 boys and girls of McDonough school sat in the grandstand at New Orleans and cheered Babe Ruth when he hit his first box score homer of the year in the world's championship victory over the Pelicans yesterday.

Ruth, who had his picture taken before the game with many of the youngsters, promised that he would "do his stuff" for them and was delighted when he came through.

All of the Yankee regulars, including Bob Meusel, who signed his contract yesterday, were in the lineup. Lalo in the game, Combs, Ghirlo, Gazella, Hendricks and Johnson were injected.

Rain at the Giant camp was so heavy that the Washington Senators, who had started for Sarasota, did not enter the city for the game, but returned to their camp. Brooklyn's practice contest between the Vaughans and regulars was also called off by rain.

The Giants travelled 150 miles in automobiles today to meet the Chicago White Sox at Winter Haven, Fla., and the Robins motored to Plant City, to battle Indianapolis.

Victory For Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—The Philadelphia Americans rode roughshod over the Birmingham Southern college team yesterday at the Athletics' training camp in Montgomery, Ala., scoring 26 runs on 20 hits in five innings. The best the southerners could do was five hits and three runs. Every Athletic player had one or more hits. Hauser led the slugging with a home run, two triples and a double in four times at bat. Strand Simmons and Miller each had three safeties.

The Athletics were scheduled to meet Howard college today.

Rain Stops Tigers

DETROIT, March 21.—Rain prevented the first scheduled exhibition game of the Detroit American league team yesterday. The team planned to meet the Toronto club of the International League at Macon, Ga. Today the second exhibition game is scheduled to be played at Savannah, Ga., with the Rochester club of the International League.

Cards to Trade Stock

ST. LOUIS, March 21.—Milton Stock, holdout St. Louis National third baseman, soon may figure in a deal with a major league club for a catcher, according to Manager Branch Rickey. All hope of obtaining Mickey O'Neil from Boston has been given up, Rickey states, but he is angling with the Philadelphia and Brooklyn Nationals.

Chance to Report April 1

CHICAGO, March 21—With the definite announcement that Manager Frank Chance will join the Chicago Americans at Jacksonville, Fla., April 1, or at Augusta, Ga., the next day, and the conferring of manager's authority on Johnny Evers, there was a new spirit in the White Sox training camp at Winter Haven, Fla.

Evers' authority, heretofore nominal will be absolute until Chance arrives. When yesterday's rain kept the squad indoors, Evers had an understanding with the faem and outlined what he expects of them during the rest of the month. The Sox meet the New York Giants today and the Cincinnati Reds tomorrow.

Veterans as well as youngsters on the Chicago National squad will be submitted to the acid test during the week of exhibition games at Oakland, Cal., after the tilts at Los Angeles this week and, Manager Killefer indicated, Pat O'Shea and Leo Ozmann, recruits, were dropped yesterday.

Rumors of possible trades were revived after a conference between Presidents William Veeck of the Cubs and Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, but nothing was decided.

Indians' Pitching Staff

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 21.—Although nothing official is forthcoming, sport writers with the Cleveland Indians at Dr. Lakeland spring training camp believe that Manager Tris Speaker will depend on Uhle, Coveleskie, Shaute and Metzler to take regular turns on the mound this season. Edwards, Smith, Morton and Bedgood also are certainties, according to the advices, while others who probably will be retained include Emil Levesen, Logan Drake and Luther Roy.

New Red Sox Batting Order

BOSTON, March 21.—Manager Lee Fohl of the Boston Americans marshalled his new batting order in practice at San Antonio, Tex., training quarters for the first time yesterday. The lineup as used, started with four sluggers with records in the .300 class or better, Ira Flagstaff leading off, followed by Bill Wambsganss, Bob Veach and Joe Harris. The rest of the batting order, excepting battery men, included Ike Boone, Norman McMillan and Dudley Lee.

Despite enforced layoffs due to inclement weather, the squad appeared in good trim.

Rain that swept down on St. Petersburg, Fla., training headquarters, prevented the Boston Braves from taking on the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition game yesterday. Acting Manager Dick Rudolph was to conduct the squad to Leesburg, Fla., today to meet the Philadelphia Nationals. Manager Dave Bancroft is still laid up with a cold. Jesse Barnes, Johnny Cooney and Sterling Strecker were booked to work on the mound.

Give Cigars to Veterans

Leo A. Spillane, Dept. Adjutant, Department of Massachusetts, the American Legion, says:

"The Elcho Cigar is a great favorite among the American Legion men. It has such a fine mild flavor and we know its quality so well, that we do not hesitate to give the Elcho Cigar to our disabled boys who are on the road to recovery as well as buy them for our Legion banquets. I am pleased to say publicly that the Elcho is the best hand-made cigar in New England, and the quality is the same."—Advt.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

High school and college baseball teams are warming up for a strenuous season on the diamond. While big league celebrities are conditioning in the warm climate of the south, school and college nines are getting in their preparatory work in indoor gymnasiums. Lowell high, under Jimmy Liston, and Lowell Textile, under Bob Ganley, will be heard from soon.

Local basketball fans are getting the fill of the court game this year. And they're liking it, too. Next week the Cadet-Butler and Highland-St. Anne's series will witness continuations.

The next Cadet-Butler game will be played in Crescent rink Monday night. A large crowd is sure to turn out to see this game, which is regarded as the "crucial" game of the series. The players on both teams are in good shape and anxious to resume where they left off a week ago.

As usual, Billy Wilson will referee the game. He has been going along admirably in this important series and is well liked by the players and by the fans. He keeps the men on their toes and knows the game inside out.

Leo (Red) Kenney, who has been doing some spectacular work for the Cadets, attended Tufts Dental school before matriculating at Lowell Textile. At the Moody street institution, he is regarded as one of the most consistently brilliant basketball artists that ever wore the school colors. His work with the Cadets has been of a classy calibre.

Up Gorham street way, Butler rooters say they will have things their own way at the next meeting. It is understood they have a few tricks up their sleeves for exhibition night. On the other hand, the Cadets are not letting anything slip by and are prepared to put up a stiff argument.

Femininity in basketball scored heavily at the Lowell Normal school during the season. The girls up there had a clever aggregation and put on some clever work in the school gym. Principal Clarence Weed is a great supporter of athletics and encourages the girls to engage in all branches of athletic activities. Volley ball is the next sport on the program up Broadway way.

Somebody said that it looks like a three-game affair between the St. Anne's A.C. and the "Y" Highlands. The next game in the amateur titular series will be staged in Crescent rink next Wednesday night.

Billy Evans SAYS

Baseball creates more unusual situations than any other sport.

Yet some freak happenings are credited to the good old game of golf.

James Ockenden, the famous English golfer, in discussing freak happenings of the links, tells of the most unusual spoon shot on record.

Ockenden did not perform the shot himself, the credit for it, if any exists, goes to the great French golfer, Audrey Boomer.

Aside from the record spoon shot that Ockenden saw Boomer make, he is also credited with having negotiated 72 holes in 256 the lowest score ever made for that distance.

According to Ockenden, Boomer thinks less of his record round than the freak spoon shot he made during the Daily Mail Thousand Guinea tournament at Lanchasire last summer.

On one hole Boomer, after a long drive, found his ball lying in front of an abrupt bank about two feet high over which he had to shoot.

The distance to the bank was only a few yards. Boomer wanted to get distance to reach the green and decided he could clear the obstruction with his spoon.

Taking a tremendous swing he cut into the ball. There was a sharp crack that usually goes with a well-hit ball. Eyes turned down the fairway but the ball was nowhere in sight.

A search of the neighboring rough failed to disclose it. Then a boy in the gallery, perhaps more in jest than anything else, told Boomer to look into the pocket of a sweater he was wearing.

Boomer did so, and to his great amazement discovered the lost ball in his sweater pocket. It had caromed off the dirt bank into the sweater pocket. Boomer's arms at the time being raised high above his shoulders in the "follow through."

No doubt many golf fans, and others who have never been on the links, read Ockenden's story, merely smiled and remarked "more hot air."

On the surface it may seem like an impossibility for a good golfer to play such a freak shot. Yet such a thing can happen. Such an incident came under my own observation. I was one of the foursome playing at the time.

Harry Moore, one of Cleveland's best known golfers, pulled such a stunt several years before the great Boomer turned the trick.

While Moore's golf does not compare with that of Boomer, the fact that he is left-handed may explain how he happened to pull the stunt.

Joe Kirkwood has been working on the sweater shot for nearly a year, but has yet been unable to perform the remarkable accomplishment that belongs only to Boomer, the professional, and Moore, the amateur. Kirkwood has about decided to pass it up as too difficult.

The Nut Cracker by Joe Williams

STRAIGHT DOPE BENNY ON THE RADIO

(The gifted sport philosopher finds optimism grows in bunches under the hot southern sun.)

MOBILE, Ala., March 21. Well, folks, I'll say this much, it looks like a great year for the Pollyanna Party. I never saw so much optimism as exists in these southern training camps. All the big league managers are broken out with it, like an agitated angle worm with the wiggles. From what I have been able to find out so far it looks like the next world series will be one of those round robin things with all sixteen clubs taking a left hook at the swag. All the boys admit they have improved like a flapper's morals on a deserted island, and the worst they expect, even leaving room for sudden deaths among the pitchers, is first place by July the Fourth.

Mr. Huggins thinks his Yankees can slip back 17 kilometers and still make the rest of the American league look shower than a check from home. Winning championships has got to be a habit with Mr. Huggins and he has no more idea of reforming than Frank Vandersllp has of developing a sense of discretion. Just to prove to the gaping public that there is nothing wrong with his eyes, George the Sister says he sees a top berth for his Brownies, and even Connie Mack, who hasn't had a winner since burlesque girls wore red silk tights, is going around sobbing because October and its accompanying thrills are so far away. I haven't any set notions as to what constitutes the millennium, but what can beat a couple of pennant races with nothing but winners?

However, the hairpin in the married man's sedan, as far as this spring optimism is concerned, is that it doesn't mean anything, if as much. Even the Phillies look like a ball club on opening day in their new bungalow aprons. Hope may spring eternal in the manly buzzom, but it fairly gurgles in the spring under the warm, motherly influence of a hot, mellow sun. What passes as a cheery note of confidence in March usually turns out to be a brimming bowl of the old apple sauce in July. Bill Bryan couldn't talk himself into the White House and base hits still go farther in baseball than steam-heated conversation.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 21.—A ministerial order directs all Moslems in Egypt henceforth to replace the name of Abdul Medjid, the former caliph, by that of King Fuad in the Friday prayers at the mosques. The order is taken here as indicating that the government intends to support the movement in favor of recognizing Fuad as caliph.

LINDENFELD HELD FOR BLACKMAIL

WARSAW, March 21.—Wolf Lindenfeld, who was arrested here in 1921 in connection with the Wall street explosion mystery but returned from the United States when his story proved false was hailed into court today on charges of blackmail alleged to have been committed in Poland.

RAILROAD DETECTIVE SLAIN

TRENTON, N. J., March 21. While on his way to a railroad shanty early today to question a stranger whom he found prowling around the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, Martin J. Gaffney, 54, a detective in the employ of the railroad, was slain. Three bullets were fired into the detective.

LOWELL BOY WILL CAPTAIN TEAM

The 1924 football team of Canisius college, Buffalo, N. Y., will be captained by Joseph Nolan, a Lowell boy. Nolan is a junior at the Buffalo institution and has played a star game at tackle on the football eleven for the past three years. He has a record of participating in 30 college games without sustaining injury, and is regarded by Coach Luke Urban as one of the best men on the team.

Joe may be seen in action by Lowell fans in this state next season, as Canisius has a game scheduled with Holy Cross at Worcester, while a clash with Boston college is a possibility. While not engaged in athletics, Nolan devotes his time to the studies leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. He is secretary of his class and a prominent member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

MINOR CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

An ordinary Friday routine of cases came up in district court this morning. Joseph Koziol was found guilty of drunkenness and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. The arresting officer, James Maloney, testified that defendant is a common nuisance and that he gets drunk frequently and leaves his horse standing in the street for hours.

John Fluriuzer pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was sentenced to one month in the house of correction.

A drunkenness complaint against Leo Gagne was allowed to stand until tomorrow.

Joseph Gadnoski, charged with illegal keeping, was continued until April 1.

A continuance until March 29 was granted Roy F. Courtney, non-support, and until May 24, in the case of Frank Cutler, charged with being a fugitive from justice.

TO ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

A motion picture adventure talk by Colonel Philip Moore, well known adventurer and lecturer, entitled "Roughing It De Luxe," will be the feature of next Monday's assembly of high school students at the Cyrus W. Irish auditorium of the school. The assembly will be held at 12.15 o'clock and three upper classes and freshmen sitting on the north side of the freshman building will be present.

Col. Moore has had an exceptionally thrilling career. Upon graduating from Princeton university, he set out to see that section of the northern Rocky Mountains that were unmapped and unknown. He followed little known trails through the Rockies as far north as the great Peace River country, where very few white men have ever trod. At the outbreak of the World war he was so far from civilization that six weeks passed before he heard even a rumor of it. Hearing the rumor he walked 200 miles to the nearest town and signed up in the army. He served in Flanders and received rapid promotion for distinguished service.

He comes to Lowell highly recommended and Headmaster Harris of the school believes Monday's assembly will be one of the most interesting ever held in the school.

CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC TELLS OF RECOVERY

Mr. and Mrs. Bayes Give Full Credit to Tanlac for Remarkable Results — Mrs. Bayes Gained 21 Pounds.

"Mrs. Bayes and myself are both strong for Tanlac and could not over praise it," declares T. H. Bayes, 825 College street, Springfield, Mo. Mr Bayes is a popular musician and well known to the people of Springfield, having been associated with a leading music house here for 30 years.

"My wife had been a confirmed dyspeptic, having suffered from it for 20 years. She was sorely troubled with heart palpitation and about all the distressing symptoms a prolonged case of indigestion can cause a person.

"Finally she got down to only one hundred and eight pounds and landed in a hospital almost a nervous and physical wreck. In fact, her case seemed hopeless, but after everything else failed along came Tanlac and easily and quickly put an end to her 20 years' suffering and restored to her the pleasure of living.

"Tanlac was soothing and healing from the very start and now she has a wonderful appetite and her digestion is the best I have ever known it to be. The change from eating a little toast and other very light foods to such things as sausage, cabbage, sauerkraut, etc., came about so quickly as to astonish and delight us both.

"Her weight has gone up to one hundred and twenty-nine pounds, a gain of twenty-one pounds. Rheumatism about her arms and joints and swelling in the feet has also disappeared with the general building up Tanlac gave my wife. Her strength has returned, she has an abundance of energy and is altogether happy over her new-found health."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 21—Prices displayed a wide variety of action in the opening of today's stock market. Studebaker and Maxwell A showed signs of activity but other motors continued under pressure. Except for the weakness of Norfolk & Western, which extended its loss to 2¾ points on reports that the Interstate Commerce commission might not approve the proposed lease to the Pennsylvania, the rails were firm, Atlantic Coast Line and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico each rising two points. U. S. Rubber common and first preferred dropped 1½ and 2½ points, respectively, each at new 1924 lows, while American Beet Sugar slumped 1 point to 26, also a new bottom price for the year. Central Leather preferred moved upward but American Hide & Leather preferred was heavy. Utah Copper dropped 1½. Establishment of a new high by the French franc marked the irregular foreign exchange market.

With the technical position of the market favoring a comeback, the list rallied vigorously in the afternoon under the leadership of the oils, many of which advanced 1 to 2 points. Good overnight gains were registered by some of the earlier weak shares, particularly General Electric, Republic Steel and Chandler Motors. Woolworth soared seven points to a new high figure of 233.

While there was no recurrence of general selling pressure, weak spots cropped out in several sections of the list, new 1924 lows being established by Gulf States Steel, Vanadium, Pressed Steel Car, U. S. Realty, American Sugar Refining, American Linseed, Eaton Axle and Chandler Motors, the losses ranging from large fractions to nearly two points. Some of the rails developed strength, Lackawanna moving up nearly three points to 118¾, Fisher Body touched a record high at 218. Call money opened at 3 per cent., then dropped to 2½.

The closing was irregular. Strength of high priced specialties, particularly General Electric, Fisher Body, National Lead and Corn Products, which moved up 3 to 7½ points, featured the late dealings.

Paid $200,000 for Permits

Continued

"Yes."

"That was for liquor?"

"No, for the permits."

Question Brings Laughter

"And you were not able to get any permits without that?"

"No."

"How much whiskey in a case?" asked Senator Brookhart.

The room rocked with laughter. The answer was inaudible.

Gorani was led on with his explanation.

"This $150,000 you paid was bootleggers' money?" Senator Jones asked.

"Yes, sir."

"Now, the $200,000 to Orr and Murphy. It was for those permits?"

"Yes, sir."

"You were paid back some money from Felder's offices?"

"Not me—some people were—I insisted that Orr give it back to me."

"Did you meet Mannington?"

"Yes, in Murphy's office in New York."

Mums to Return

At this point Wilton J. Lambert, attorney for the McLean newspapers, said that Jap Mums, connected in testimony with fight film "deals," who failed to appear yesterday, had not been served with a subpoena, but would appear. Former Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, of Daugherty's counsel, asked that a subpoena be issued for Frank A. Vanderlip. The question was postponed for later consideration.

Jess W. Smith, Hays resumed, had a brokerage account at Ungerleider's.

"What was the account: W. R. A. Hays No. 3?" Senator Wheeler asked.

"That was the account of Miss Stinson, former wife of Mr. Smith," Hays said.

There was an account "W. R. A. Hays No. 2" in the Ungerleider books. Hays said that was "merely a miscellaneous account."

Senator Wheeler read transactions in the No. 2 account, showing purchases and sales of oil stocks. There were transactions in Sinclair and Mexican oils aggregating $75,000, Senator Wheeler said.

"I have no recollection whatever of those," Hays asserted.

"Jess Smith opened Miss Stinson's account," Hays went on.

"What did you do with the money in it?"

"Just before Mr. Smith's death he told us to close it out and put the money in Liberty bonds. We did it."

"What did you do with the bonds?"

"I turned them over to Mel Daugherty."

Senator Wheeler emphasized that though the account was Miss Stinson's the money went to Mel Daugherty, as executor of Jess Smith's estate.

"What transaction caused this money to lose its character as Miss Stin-

AIDS HEALTH OF GIRLS

Better health for college girls was what Miss Ruth Graham, head of the food department of Stephens College at Columbia, Mo., was after. So she organized a drive for scientific eating. "Girls kept track of their calories and several hundred of them who were slightly overweight, gained better health by it," says Miss Graham. "A big thing that helped was stopping between-meal cream puffs and sundaes."

The Bone and Sinew

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

THE FLOOD

LAWRENCE MEN BEFORE U. S. COMMISSIONER

John Stearns and Cornell Edruel, owner and clerk, respectively, of teh near-beer saloon at 97 Lawrence street, Lawrence, were arraigned this morning before United States Commissioner Walsh charged with violating the prohibition law. The evidence for the prosecution was completed today and Commissioner Walsh continued the case until next Thursday.

The arrests followed a raid by Federal Agents Bowers and Lord, who entered the place on warrants March 7 last, being accompanied by Officers Norton and Mackie of the Lawrence police. Beer, which the government claims tested 3 per cent, was seized. Agent Lord testified that Stearns told him he paid Edruel $25 a week for making the beer with the understanding that it should be kept within legal strength. Attorney C. J. O'Neil represented the defendants.

INCREASE FOR BOSTON POLICE AND FIREMEN

BOSTON, March 21.—All patrolmen, privates and engineers in the Boston police and fire departments will receive an increase of $100 in pay on Aug. 1 of this year, as a result of an agreement yesterday by Mayor Curley, Police Commissioner Wilson, Fire Commissioner Glynn, Budget Commissioner Fox and Auditor Carven. The decision will affect 1782 policemen and 1210 firemen at a cost to the city of $200,000.

The plan provides for a further raise of $100 for these patrolmen, privates and engineers, effective on Aug. 1, 1925. This year, therefore, the minimum salary will advance to $1500 and the maximum to $1900; while next year the minimum will be finally established at $1600 and the maximum at $2000. The regular step rate advance of $100 a year from minimum to maximum will operate as usual.

DIED TRYING TO SAVE BURNING HOUSE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 21.—Overexertion, in a vain attempt to save his home from fire, caused the death of Patrick J. Daugherty, about 50 years old of Bryden Heights, Warwick, early this forenoon. His body was found in a hen house later by neighbors and Medical Examiner Long pronounced death due to heart disease. The loss is set at $8000. A short circuit in wires connected to an electric pump in the cellar is believed to have caused the fire.

SUGGESTS CHANGES IN ESSAY CONTEST

Changes in the "Lowell Day" essay contest have been suggested. The essay topic is to be: "What Can We Do to Make Lowell a Cleaner City?"

Director Clarence M. Weed, principal of State Normal school, active in having the school contest win complete success, has made a suggestion to fellow directors of the chamber of commerce, that the word "we" in the essay contest title, be taken as having two meanings.

Briefly, Director Weed approves of having children write essays with the ideain mind that the word "we" directly refers to the children themselves. Contests would be conducted also with the word "we" taken as referring to inhabitants of the city at large—as a body. Mr. Weed's suggestion is taken favorably at chamber of commerce headquarters, where plans for the essay contest observance of "Lowell Day" are now under way.

EPINARD TO RACE HERE

PARIS, March 21.—Pierre Werthiemer, owner of Epinard, last year's French champion three-year-old, confirmed today the statement that Epinard would be shipped to the United States about July 1 and that he would take part in three races there about Sept. 15, Oct. 1, and Oct. 15.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS NEAR ACCORD

BALTIMORE, Md., March 21.—Northern West Virginia coal miners and coal operators drew nearer accord, as today's sessions of the joint conference to negotiate a new contract opened.

Only three minor points relative to working conditions remained to be settled and these were given to a subcommittee to be ironed out, at the conclusion of yesterday's meeting. The wage agreement will be taken up, it was said, as soon as the working conditions section of the contract has been completed.

LARCENY OF $12,300 CHARGED

BOSTON, March 21.—Ralph G. Fay, formerly of the stock brokerage firm of Wilson & Fay, was arrested here today on an indictment charging him with the larceny of $12,300. The indictment alleged that James Hession of Boston advanced money to Fay for the purchase of stock, but received none in return.

GUILTY OF FORTUNE TELLING

NEW YORK, March 21.—Miss Eugenie Dennis, 18-year-old psychic of Atchison, Kas., whose clairvoyant powers have been demonstrated before scientific organizations and high police officials here, was found guilty of fortune telling by a magistrate today. Her mother, Mrs. Mary Dennis, was also convicted.

Paid $200,000 for Permits

son's money?" Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, asked.

Hays did not know.

"And they told you he was the attorney general's friend?"

"They didn't specify the attorney general. It was the 'Columbus crowd.'"

"What did they say as to Smith?"

"That he was in the attorney general's office."

Permits Recalled

"Didn't you offer to turn state's evidence?" (This referred to Goroni's trial in New York with Orr for conspiracy on liquor charges. Both were acquitted.)

Goroni answered that he hadn't.

"Did what you tell today come out then?"

"No; the district attorney and the prohibition director claimed the permits were stolen."

"Did Howard Mannington turn back some of the money? How much was paid back?"

"About $40,000 or $50,000—it was paid through Thomas B. Felder."

Goroni indicated that the permits were "called back and cancelled through Haynes."

"Some permits went through?"

"Yes, about 60,000 cases."

"At $15 per case?"

"Yes."

$5000 to Escape Indictment

"You had trouble with Felder?"

"Yes—I paid him $5000 with a promise I would not be indicted. I asked for my money back when I was indicted."

"W. J. Flynn recommended Felder to me—said he was an honest man," remarked Goroni.

The committee identified Flynn as former head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

Goroni said he imported 7100 cases of Scotch whiskey from Scotland. "In a legitimate way," but that W. J. Fallon, the distiller's agent, wanted him to sell it to bootleggers.

Thrown Out of Felder's Office

"He offered me a quarter of a million dollars," Goroni went on, "to sell that to bootleggers. I refused. The whiskey was in the White Star warehouse. Heilbronner and Co., exporters, tried to get possession of it. They failed. After that they came to me with Felder and said they would give me $42,000 to ship the liquor back to England.

Then Felder threw him out of his office, Goroni said because he refused to accept the $42,000 to relinquish his claims to 7100 cases of Scotch.

There was litigation and "by order of the attorney general, the whiskey was reshipped to England." Goroni tried to stop that unsuccessfully.

Bootleggers Had Same Brand

"Did you have any information as to what actually became of it?"

"The same kind of whiskey, in bottles and cases, was selling by the bootleggers around New York." He was not positive the bootleggers' whiskey was his own, but "it was the same brand and that kind had never been there before."

"What did you lose?"

"Between $30,000 and $35,000—litigation and all."

The 7100 case shipment was sent to the Alps Drug Co., Goroni explained, and he had a permit to export it.

"I did not pay anything for that permit—it was legitimate transaction," he said.

"Orr came to me," Goroni went on. "I wouldn't give up the shipment. He told me to go to hell. This was in June, 1921."

Plan to Steal Whiskey

"Didn't you know that the goods were never reshipped outside the port of New York?"

"I know the rumor," Goroni said. "There was a plan to steal it from the warehouses—and I got detectives to watch it. Then it was ordered removed to the concentration warehouse—where the bootleggers have everything in their power and I couldn't stop it."

From the concentration warehouse the 7100 cases were ordered to reshipment.

"I changed my attorney—went from Felder to Borness," Goroni said, telling of his fruitless attempts to stop the reshipment.

Means Went to Stop Shipment

His attorney told him, the witness said, that Gaston B. Means would go from Washington to New York, acting for the attorney general and stop return of the whiskey to Scotland. Means got there on Monday, but the whiskey moved out on Saturday.

"There was a plan to 'take the whiskey out with army trucks and replace it with bricks,'" Goroni said, and when the liquor was put aboard an outbound ship he was told that it appeared as if empty cases were being tossed about.

Wheeler got Goroni to identify Nick Cimino as a friend of Orr's, in New York. There were other liquor shipments in the Anchor warehouse, Goroni said.

"Any dope?"

"Not that I know of."

Attorney Howland for the attorney-general, took up the examination.

"Hart, prohibition director, refused you a permit to release 500 cases of whiskey, and then you tried to get some one of influence to get it allowed?"

"Orr sent for me," Goroni said, "and told me if we wanted to do business it would be all right."

The permits were for liquor for "medicinal purposes," Goroni said.

"But the liquor never came into your possession, but was distributed around by your agents to bootleggers?" Howland asked.

"He was supposed to sell it to other druggists."

Delve Into Brokerage Account

A brokerage account in which $75,000 in Sinclair and Mexican oil stocks were traded in was delved into today by the senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty.

William R. A. Hays, manager of Engerleider and Co., brokers, at Columbus, Ohio, told of the account which was carried on his books as "W. R. A. Hays No. 2." He said it was merely a "miscellaneous account" and he had no recollection of the dealings in oil.

Hays told of the accounts of Jess W. Smith, confidant and aid of Attorney General Daugherty, who committed suicide a year ago, and of Roxie Stinson, Smith's divorced wife, who gave the committee sensational testimony in regard to Smith's relations with the attorney general and of "blind accounts" with brokers. Daugherty, Hays said, never had an account with Engerleider and Co., although he had been one of Hays' customers with another firm.

Lawyer's Remark Hissed

Mr. Howland for the attorney general took the witness over his conversations with William J. Flynn, former head of the secret service, who had told him he was in bad company. When Howard asked if Flynn was not a democratic appointee, there was hissing from the crowd in the room.

"Do you know as a fact that Harry M. Daugherty ever sent any telegram telling Judge Hand to order those 7100 cases of liquor sent back to England?" Howland demanded.

"It was on recommendation of the attorney general's office," Goroni insisted. He named George B. Hayes, a New York attorney, as the lawyer he retained.

The witness was excused, and Senator Wheeler proceeded to read the telegrams of Jess Smith and Roxie Stinson. Most of them were purely personal.

After the reading of the telegrams, Goroni was recalled for a few more questions regarding the division of the money he said was paid to Orr.

Goroni said he was told that the whiskey fees 1$15 a case) were divided as follows: $2 to Mannington, $1 to the druggist, $1 to myself, $4 to the prohibition director, 50 cents to a lawyer named L'Esperance, and the balance divided between Orr and Murphy.

Goroni said L'Esperance now was an assistant district attorney in the office of United States District Attorney Hayward at New York and used to have an office at 120 Broadway with Hayward.

"This committee needs the evidence of Howard Mannington," Senator Ashurst said. "I have reason to believe that there is a conspiracy with the attorney general to spirit Howard Mannington away in Europe, where he cannot be reached.

"I have demanded that Secretary Hughes be asked to furnish the original application for Mannington's passport and that he be caused to be returned."

"I understand he is on the Dawes committee in Europe," Senator Wheeler put in.

"I deny every implication of wrong doing on the part of the attorney general in this proceeding," Mr. Howland put in.

"Then I demand you produce Howard Mannington," returned Senator Ashurst.

"Don't worry; Mannington will be here if we want him."

Howland said he would endeavor to produce Mannington.

"We will bring him here if we can," Howland explained, "and we want no implication that we are suppressing evidence."

The committee was suppressing evidence to Mr. Daugherty, he said. Wheeler told him he had "uttered a lie."

"Getting Pretty Low"

"We're getting pretty low," said Howland.

"And you know it is a falsehood," continued Wheeler.

In the ensuing discussion Wheeler told Howland that "framed-up evidence won't go on the witness stand here."

The prohibition commissioner in 1921 was Harold L. Hart.

Attorney Hayes Questioned

George B. Hayes, attorney, New York city, who appeared for Goroni in New York at his trial for conspiracy, was the next witness.

"Do you know about the purchase of 10,000 cases of Scotch by Goroni from David Heilbronner and Son of Glasgow?" asked Senator Wheeler.

Hayes had some knowledge of the transaction.

Part of the whiskey was entered in the name of the Alps Drug Co., of which Goroni was vice president, Hayes said. Thomas B. Felder and other attorneys represented the company.

Asked to Drop Case

"I made a demand for the consignment," Hayes said. "There was an absolute sale of the goods to the Alps Drug Co. There were some allegations of conditions on the sale. The federal district attorney filed a libel on the goods. An assistant in Mr. Hayward's office requested that I discontinue the proceedings. I refused. Mr. Wolf, the assistant, said they had word from Washington that the goods were sold on conditional sales.

He recounted fruitless efforts to get control of the whiskey for Goroni.

Judge Influenced in Decision

Federal Judge Hand told him, Hayes said, that he had received a telegram from Washington which influenced him in giving a decision in the libel suit over the return of the whiskey. Hayes could not recall whether the communication came from the justice or treasury department.

When Hayes was excused the committee went into executive session, and will meet again tomorrow.

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

After a short journey the old hermit stopped in front of a rock-cave and took a trumpet from his pocket. He blew a few loud blasts on it and out of the cave entrance came a little black bear. "Come on, there, Teddy," said the hermit, "I want you to meet a friend of mine.

Little bruin waddled along behind the hermit as the old man started back to where Jack was sleeping. Part way back, once more the hermit stopped and this time he merely clapped his hands and a little gray fox came running out of some nearly bushes. He, too, joined the hermit.

Just before the trio reached Jack they came upon what looked like a big needle-like bush. Suddenly this bush moved. It was a porcupine. "You can come, too," laughed the old man, and in a short time, the hermit, the bear, the fox and the porcupine were standing in front of Jack. (Continued.)

Your Health

by Dr. C. C. Robinson

PHYSICAL FITNESS

Either the human body is not strong enough to withstand the wear and tear of modern industrial life, or else it is abused to such an extent, in other ways, that we are failing in physical fitness.

The operation of great industries has resulted in great wealth, but has clearly upset the normal balance as regards mental and physical work, recreation and rest. There is no doubt that this has a well defined action on health and bodily condition.

The strain and stress of non-emotional, deadening sameness, or continual work at one thing is followed by occupational diseases of overstrain, bad posture, deficient eye sight, discontent and a letdown in mental alertness, causing different spinal, nervous and digestive disorders.

No one thing so interferes with the digestive work of the body and brings about so many conditions of physical inefficiency as discontent and low mentality.

The hurry, or speed-up habit, is also a factor in causing excessive use of modern foods. We not only hurry in our working hours, but through force of habit we hurry at our meals. The appetite is not satisfied with the proper normal amount, through the hasty bolting of food.

As a result of this haste comes a deadening of activity and soon the eliminative organs (the liver and kidneys) are forced to do extra work and lack of physical fitness looms ahead.

The remedy for this condition is not easy to apply. Unscientific attempts to correct nature's normal life, after over-indulgence, by waking ourselves up with caffein, moving our bowels with a cathartic, and putting ourselves to sleep with an opiate, are dangerous enemies of physical fitness.

Don't lose your physical fitness through carelessness or destructive habits. Avoid dope and rapid eating. Take your recreation gradually. Strive at all times to provide for proper co-ordination with work, proper digestion and exercise that will provide symmetrical development and proper health.

PAYS NO RENT NOR TAXES

Harry J. Deal, 72-year old naturalist, doesn't pay rent or taxes. He lives in a cave on the side of Signal mountain, not far from Chattanooga, Tenn., and has for his companions, 16 dogs. "Dogs are only to keep fresh air out," says he, "and this cave life is the only way to live." Deal sleeps on a bed of leaves, covered with blankets, and has no other furniture in his cave.

Fifty years ago Sir Norman Lockyer announced correspondence between sun spot cycles and rainfall in India.

BIG NIGHT AT Y. M. C. I.

Geo. H. Willett Wins Baseball Pass—Henry McGee Awarded Shawl

The drawing for two prizes a season pass to all home games of the Boston Red Sox, and a handsome shawl, featured the exercises in connection with the social and testimonial entertainment under the auspices of the Y.M.C.I. in their hall in Stackpole street last night. The baseall pass, donated by President Bob Quinn of the Red Sox through "Bob" Hart, was won by George H. Willet of 88 Bartlett street and the shawl, donated by William Corbett, was won by Henry McGee of 84 Melrose avenue.

The drawings took place at the conclusion of a lengthy program of entertainment, in which the following contributed: John Broderick, James Corrigan, Jr., Joseph Wedge, Master John Payne, William Morse, Patrick Maguire, John Crowe, Thomas Carkin, Eddie Cawley, Frank McCarlin, Martin O'Connor, Joseph Reilly, Joseph Craven, Charlie Keyes and "Al" Forrest. The two latter captured the audience of about 500 members with their presentation of a new and catchy song by Mr. Forrest, entitled: "Gee, But I'm Glad I Met You," Mr. Keyes singing the words to the excellent piano accompaniment of Mr. Forrest.

A novel feature of the entertainment was a three-round boxing bout by the Clancy brothers, Thomas, aged 6, and John, aged 5. The referee, James Clancy, aged 8, announced that Clancy won.

John Shields, president of the institute, presided at the exercises and introduced the speakers and entertainers. The first speaker was "Bob" Hart, popular big league umpire and one of the institute's most energetic workers. It was principally through Mr. Hart's work that the drawing contest was a success. As he had another engagement to fill in Derry, N. H., last night, his stay with his associates was brief. He took occasion, however, to thank each and every one of the members for their co-operation in making the contest a big success. He announced that a sum approaching $1000 had been realized for the purpose of sending three members of the organization to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre in Canada.

The principal speaker of the evening was John H. McNabb who delivered a scholarly address on the part the Irish played in the Revolutionary and other wars in which the United States participated. At the conclusion of his enlightening talk, Mr. McNabb was given a rising vote of thanks.

Little John Payne was selected to draw the names of the lucky winners from a large container. The drawing was directed by William Walsh, president of the Broadway club and the judges were the following: Frank Ricard, Lowell Ad Club; James O'Dea, South End Club; Vice President McGinnis of the C.Y.M.I.; Joseph M. Reilly, Lowell Typographical union; Wm. H Sullivan, Lowell Sun; Frank E. MacLean, the Sunday Telegram; George H. Keefe, Lowell Courier-Citizen and John Sharkey, Mathew Temperance Institute.

RAIDS IN ADAMS AND THORNDIKE STREETS

As the result of a raid in a rear beer saloon at 13 Adams street about 6 o'clock last night, a clerk who was on the premises at the time will appear in district court tomorrow morning to answer a charge of illegal keeping. Federal Agents Sullivan and Watkins and Officers Maloney and Keegan of the local liquor squad, constituted the raiding party. They found a pint bottle of liquor and several empties.

A second raid was made by the same officers last night in a store in Thorndike street. Evidence in the form of a half-pint of liquor was found, and an arrest is likely to be made today.

DON'T MISS NEAL O'HARA

The Day's Best Humorist to Appear at Liberty Hall Tonight

Doting mothers, wives and sisters will use the thimble, needle and thread tomorrow morning for John Doughboy, civilian, is going to lose a few buttons from his vest tonight. That is to say, he'll lose them if he shows up at Liberty hall where his outfit, the American Legion, is introducing Neal O'Hara, who will provide the evening's fun. Mr. O'Hara, who has such a nifty line of humor that magazine writers are trampling one another in the rush to get the overflow from his humor mill, is going to make a speech.

Not a thumb-in-vest dear people sort of speech that the spellbinders pull when they want to convince you that the city's money won't be safe unless you give them the combination to the safe. No, no, Adelbert, but a real talk—the kind that you start out with by saying, "Well, gang, it's like this." The subject of the talk is "Humorists, or How Do They Get That Way." From that it is hard to tell whether Neal is going to tell us how they do it or whether he expects us to tell him. Either way there'll be more laughs than the average fellow has produced since the gang skipped school and pinned the "kick me" sign on the truant officer's coat.

Neal O'Hara is one of those naturally funny fellows, and it's no effort to keep his auditors half-hysterical from laughter from the greeting to the bon soir. This is his first appearance in Lowell where he has a number of acquaintances of the "I knew him when" days, and Neal will sure strut his stuff to show them how easy it is.

Humor emanates from Neal like cider from an apple press. He dashes off a few columns a day for the newspaper, keeps a dozen humorous weeklies and monthlies supplied and finds time to keep up his golf and whatever other minor eccentricities and diversions success has afflicted him with.

The legionaires all know he'll "knock 'em off their seats" tonight, so they'll be in ranks before the roll call. The tickets have been going good and the former leatherneck, gob or doughboy that hasn't prepared his final statements to square up with the boxoffice for the tickets he has out will see the first sergeant in the orderly room before assembly sounds so the boxoffice can have the pasteboards to offer at the window sale.

Don't forget it's Liberty hall tonight and a few tickets are left. Anybody can go that has got the coupons or the wherewithal to qualify. The legion needs the do-re-mi and the good cheer that will be spread. Let's go!

day afternoon, brandished an automatic pistol in the presence of the 65-year-old proprietor and his wife and rifled the cash drawer of $4. He was arrested in a Lakeview avenue pool room about two hours after the deed had been committed, and was identified at police headquarters as the boy who had robbed Mr. O'Connor on three previous occasions.

To impress on the mind of the victim that he meant business during the enactment of the holdup scene, Kosiba pulled the trigger of his revolver, discharging a bullet through one of the store windows just as Mrs. Thomas P. Hubin, of Bunker Hill avenue, and her young daughter were passing. Luckily the missile went wild.

Police investigation failed to reveal the whereabouts of the gun. Kosiba told officers that he threw it away because "it went off too easy." Under a pillow in his home, a box of cartridges was found.

Liquor Squad Captain Gets Another "Billet Doux" From Club 266

Evidently "Club 266" is persistent, for this morning George B. Palmer, captain of the liquor and vice squad, received a second message from this mysterious organization threatening his life. The first one was received about a month ago and gave the captain two weeks to prepare for death. When he did not die in the allotted time, "266" got busy again and under date of March 19, a postcard enclosed in an envelope was received at the police station. It was addressed "Capt. George B. Palmer, Police Station, Lowell, Mass.," printed in ink. The contents, lacking punctuation, read: "Let Geo. do it but not in this case Club 266 will take care of it this time Geo. if you have a whole skin much longer you are lucky from Club 266."

As in the case of the first missive, the captain does not take the threat seriously.

Favorable Action Taken on Several Petitions at Last Night's Meeting

Several Routine Matters Considered at Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon

The board of public service gave hearings on 26 petitions for sewers, sidewalks and street repairs last night in the council chamber at city hall and took favorable action in each instance in jig time.

Present at the meeting, which was called promptly at 7.30 o'clock, were Chairman Dennis J. Murphy, Fred G. Leary and Frederick F. Meloy.

The first petition heard was that of Frank A. Major and others for a sewer in Boylston street. Proponents said dry wells in the neighborhood are obnoxious and in the absence of a sewer flood conditions obtain in springtime. Water also stagnates in two pools in back of Boylston street, they stated, and people in the vicinity have a fear of disease. Residents involved own homes in Boylston, Rae and Berwick streets and Berkley ave. Councilor Thomas McFaddden spoke in favor of the petition.

A letter from James H. Donahue was in remonstrance.

Chairman Murphy said there is no doubt but what the sewer will be laid this year.

Other hearings held were on the following petitions: Alphonse Noel, for sewer extension in Phoebe avenue; Alphonse Noel, for sidewalk of edgestone and cinders on westerly side of Phoebe avenue; Donat Genest, for sewer in Endicott street from Sixth to Seventh avenues; Abel B. Campbell, for sewer in Glenwood street south of Fairmount street; Louis Cheros, that Birch and Sycamore streets be accepted and sidewalks of edgestones and cinders be laid on portions of said streets and on Wentworth avenue; Vasilios Fotopoulos, that a sidewalk of cinders and edgestones be laid in front of 82 Melrose avenue; George Colopoulos, that a sewer in Park avenue be extended; Joseph E. Richards, for sewer extension in Commonwealth avenue; Peter O'Neil, for sewer in Corbett street east from Stromquist ave.; Albert Boden, for edgestones on west side of Stevens street, south side of Upham street and north side of Bellevenue; Dennis Dilworth, to reset edgestones and lay a concrete sidewalk on south side of Barrington street; Manuel P. Mello, for edgestones on north side of West Forrest street; Elof Erickson, for sewer extension in McKinley avenue; Jacques Bolavert, for sewer in Milton street from Parker street; Thomas Adams, for edgestones and cinders on west side of Smith street 90 feet north from Shaw street; Ferris Rezuke, for edgestones in front of 230 Smith street; Patrick W. Moran, for concrete sidewalk in front of premises at West Ninth street at Bridge street; Frank A. Major, to lay a sewer in Boylston street.

After the hearings the board adjourned to the office of the street department and voted favorably on all the petitions.

Afternoon Meeting of Board

At a meeting of the board held at 4.45 p. m. after the members returned from a viewing tour, several routine matters were taken up.

Frank A. Groves petitioned for a light in Postoffice avenue.

A letter from Engineer A. W. Dean of the state board of public works relative to land damages in Princeton street was referred to the city solicitor.

A request from Councilor Maurice J. Lambert that Rhodora street be repaired was taken under consideration, as was a similar request from Edward T. Coward relative to Butman road. A letter from the Lowell Gas Co. concerning the condition of Rock street was referred to Supt. Doherty.

The Lowell Automobile Dealers' association sent a communication to the board commending the prompt removal of snow from the neighborhood of the Auditorium during the holding of the automobile show there.
